new perspective on the origins of the love song and human sexuality in an evolutionary context By comparing different human societies and animal species past and present it reveals that love songs romantic love and exclusive pair bonds are not the original evolutionary features of Homo sapiens One of the key findings of the book is that early humans practiced multiple partner sexual relations similar to our closest relatives bonobos and chimpanzees but with the emergence of culture and sexual taboo their behaviour had to adjust It contends that since the exodus from Africa and the rise of culture humans started to distance themselves from the rest of the animal kingdom drastically restraining their innate sexual nature The book will appeal to both scholars and laypeople with an interest in evolutionary theory socio biology anthropology and the origins of culture
