The Discourse Of Enclosure:

The Discourse of Enclosure Shari Horner, 2001-05-24 2001 CHOICE Outstanding Academic Title Exploring Old English texts ranging from Beowulf to Ifric's Lives of Saints this book examines ways that women's monastic material and devotional practices in Anglo Saxon England shaped literary representations of women and femininity Horner argues that these representations derive from a discourse of female monastic enclosure based on the increasingly strict rules of cloistered confinement that regulated the female religious body in the early Middle Ages She shows that the female subjects of much Old English literature are enclosed by many layers literal and figurative textual material discursive spatial all of which image and reinforce the powerful institutions imposed by the Church on the female body Though it has long been recognized that medieval religious women were enclosed and that virginity was highly valued this book is the first to consider the interrelationships of these two positions that is how the material practices of female monasticism inform the textual operations of Old English literature

Militarizing the Environment Robert P. Marzec, 2015-12-21 As the seriousness of climate change becomes more and more obvious military institutions are responding by taking a prominent role in the governing of environmental concerns engaging in climate change war games and preparing for the effects of climate change from conflicts due to loss of food water and energy to the mass migration of millions of people displaced by rising sea levels This combat oriented stance stems from a self destructive pattern of thought that Robert P Marzec names environmentalism an attitude that has been affecting human environmental relations since the seventeenth century Militarizing the Environment traces the rise of this influential mindset in America and other nations that threatens to supplant ideas of sustainability with demands for adaptation In this extensive historical study of scientific military political and economic formations across five centuries Marzec reveals how environmentalism has been instrumental in the development of today's security society informing the creation of the military industrial complex during World War II and the National Security Act that established the CIA during the Cold War Now embedded in contemporary Western thought environmentalism has even infiltrated scientific thinking transforming Darwinian insights into a quasi theology that makes security the biological basis of existence Marzec exposes the self destructive nature of this increasingly accepted worldview and offers alternatives that counter the blind alleys of national and global security

The Displacement of the Body in Ælfric's Virgin Martyr Lives Alison Gulley, 2016-03-16 The Displacement of the Body in Ælfric's Virgin Martyr Lives addresses 10th century Old English hagiographical translations from Latin source material by the abbot and grammarian Ælfric The vitae of Agnes Agatha Lucy and Eugenia and the married saints Daria Basilissa and Cecilia included in Ælfric's Old English Lives of Saints recount the lives persecution and martyrdom of young women who renounce sex and in the first four stories marriage to devote their lives to Christian service They purport to be about the primacy of virginity and the role of the body in attaining sanctity However a comparison of the Latin sources with Ælfric's versions suggests that his translation style characterized by simplifying the most important meanings of the text omits certain words or entire episodes that foreground suppressed female sexuality as key to sainthood The Old English Lives de-emphasize the physical nature of faith and highlight the importance of spiritual purity In this volume Alison Gulley explores how the context of the Benedictine Reform in late Anglo Saxon England and Ælfric's commitment to writing for a lay audience resulted in a set of stories depicting a spirituality distinct from physical intactness
