Bonner, Estill Curtis Pennington, Charles Reagan Wilson, 2013-01-14 From the Potomac to the Gulf artists were creating in the South even before it was recognized as a region The South has contributed to America s cultural heritage with works as diverse as Benjamin Henry Latrobe s architectural plans for the nation s Capitol the wares of the Newcomb Pottery and Richard Clague s tonalist Louisiana bayou scenes This comprehensive volume shows how through the decades and centuries the art of the South expanded from mimetic portraiture to sophisticated responses to national and international movements The essays treat historic and current trends in the visual arts and architecture major collections and institutions and biographies of artists themselves As leading experts on the region s artists and their work editors Judith H Bonner and Estill Curtis Pennington frame the volume s contributions with insightful overview essays on the visual arts and architecture in the American South Morgan County, Georgia Lynn Robinson Camp, 2004 The small town of Madison in Morgan County Georgia was once considered the South's most cultured and aristocratic town. Since the end of slavery, Morgan County's African American community has worked hard to carve out its own history and culture on the other side of Madison's tracks. The engaging vintage images within these pages are sure to evoke treasured memories for longtime county residents and spark an interest in history and heritage among the younger generations. For America Jeremiah William McCarthy, Diana Thompson, 2019-01-01. Featuring paintings by American icons like Winslow Homer and Thomas Eakins, this book illustrates the ways American artists have viewed themselves, their peers, and their painted worlds over 200 years.

American Icons J. Richard Gruber, 1997. An illustrated biography of the famous Georgia-born New York artist.

Subalternity and Difference Gyanendra Pandey, 2013-03. Focusing on concepts that have been central to investigation of the history and politics of marginalized and disenfranchised populations, this book asks how discourses of subalternity and difference simultaneously constitute and interrupt each other. The authors explore the historical production of conditions of marginality and minority and challenge simplistic notions of difference as emanating from culture rather than politics. They return thereby to a question that feminist and other oppositional movements have raised of how modern societies and states take account of and manage social, economic, and cultural difference. The different contributions investigate this question in a variety of historical and political contexts from India and Ecuador to Britain and the USA. The resulting study is of invaluable interest to students and scholars in a wide range of disciplines including History, Anthropology, Gender, and Queer and Colonial and Postcolonial Studies. Humanities, 1996.
