The Dusun Albert Rhys Williams, 1965 The Dusun Thomas Rhys Williams, 1965 The Dusun Russell S. Drago, 1965 Borneo Studies in History, Society and Culture Victor T. King, Zawawi Ibrahim, Noor Hasharina Hassan, 2016-08-12 This edited book is the first major review of what has been achieved in Borneo Studies to date Chapters in this book situate research on Borneo within the general disciplinary fields of the social sciences with the weight of attention devoted to anthropological research and related fields such as development studies gender studies environmental studies social policy studies and cultural studies Some of the chapters in this book are extended versions of presentations at the Borneo Research Council's international conference hosted by Universiti Brunei Darussalam in June 2012 and a Borneo Studies workshop organised in Brunei in 2012 The volume examines some of the major debates and controversies in Borneo Studies including those which have served to connect post war research on Borneo to wider scholarship It also assesses some of the more recent contributions and interests of locally based researchers in universities and other institutions in Borneo itself The major strength of the book is the inclusion of a substantial amount of research undertaken by scholars working and teaching within the Southeast Asian region In particular there is an examination of research materials published in the vernacular notably the outpouring of work published in Indonesian by the Institut Dayakologi in Pontianak In doing so the book also addresses the urgent matters which have not received the attention they deserve specifically subjects themes and issues that have already been covered but require further contemplation elaboration and research and the scope for disciplinary and multidisciplinary collaboration in Borneo Studies The book is a valuable resource and reference work for students and researchers interested in social science scholarship on Borneo and for those with wider interests in Indonesia and Malaysia and in the Southeast Asian region Brunei - History, Islam, Society and Contemporary Issues Ooi Keat Gin, 2015-12-14 Brunei although a relatively small state is disproportionately important on account of its rich resource base In addition in recent years the country has endeavoured to play a greater role in regional affairs especially through ASEAN holding the chair of the organisation in 2013 and also beyond the region fostering diplomatic political economic and educational ties with many nations This book presents much new research and new thinking on a wide range of issues concerning Brunei largely drawn from Bruneian academics Subjects covered include Brunei's rich history the sultanate formerly had much more extensive territories and was a key player in regional affairs the country's economy politics society and ethnicities and resource issues and international relations The Malay World of Southeast Asia Patricia Lim Pui Huen, 1986 Over 5 000 entries arranged in four parts Part I comprises reference and general works to provide a guide to information on Southeast Asia Part II provides the setting of space and time Part III features the people and Part IV the many facets of culture and society language ideas beliefs values institutions creative expression and social and cultural change Within each section the arrangement is geographical beginning with Southeast Asia as a whole followed by the various countries in alphabetical order Property and Politics in Sabah, Malaysia Amity A. Doolittle, 2011-11-15 In 1990 shortly after a Malaysian politician announced that the boundaries of Kinabalu Park a primary tourist destination were to be expanded to include the species rich tropical forest known locally as Bukit Hempuen most of the area was burned to the ground allegedly by local people What would motivate the people who had for generations hunted and gathered forest products there to act so destructively In this volume Amity Doolittle illuminates this and other contemporary land use issues by examining how resources were used historically in Sabah from 1881 to 1996 and what customary rights of access to land and resources were enjoyed by local people Drawing upon anthropology political science environmental history and political ecology she looks at how control over and access to resources have been defined negotiated and contested by colonial state agents the postcolonial Malaysian state and local people The study is grounded in methodological and theoretical advances in the field of political ecology merging the traditions of human ecology and political economy and looking at environmental conflicts in terms of the particulars of place culture and history Doolittle assumes that environmental problems have causes that are complex and changing and that solutions must be specific to time and place Using a political ecology perspective allows her to focus on the root causes of environmental degradation exposing the underlying political economic and social forces at work The challenge in the twenty first century she writes is to move beyond blaming local people for resource degradation and to find ways to achieve equitable access to natural resources and more sustainable land use practices Property and Politics in Sabah Malaysia has great relevance to development studies political ecology environmental planning anthropology and legal studies in natural resource management Journal - Sabah Society Sabah Society, 1982

Introducing Anthropology of Religion Jack David Eller, 2014-11-13 This clear and engaging guide introduces students to key areas of the field and shows how to apply an anthropological approach to the study of religion in the contemporary world Written by an experienced teacher it covers major traditional topics including definitions theories and beliefs as well as symbols myth and ritual The book also explores important but often overlooked issues such as morality violence fundamentalism secularization and new religious movements The chapters all contain lively case studies of religions practiced around the world The second edition of Introducing Anthropology of Religion contains updated theoretical discussion plus fresh ethnographic examples throughout In addition to a brand new chapter on vernacular religion Eller provides a significantly revised chapter on the emerging anthropologies of Christianity and Islam The book features more material on contemporary societies as well as new coverage of topics such as pilgrimage and paganism Images a glossary and questions for discussion are now included and additional resources are provided via a companion website Malaysia R.S. Milne, K.J. Ratnam, 2014-01-14 First Published in 1974 Throughout this title two interweaving and interacting themes are apparent One is the changes resulting from the increasingly important role of politics and politicians in states which until 1963 had been colonies Politics is as it were superimposed on administration The other is the impact of the Federal Government From 1963 onwards Sarawak and Sabah were changing because they were new states A short bibliography includes a section on Malaya Malaysia which is necessary because this book studies a rather unusual form of the problem of political development as Sarawak and Sabah are not independent countries
