The Official Point Of View:

The Concept of Law from a Transnational Perspective Detlef von Daniels, 2016-03-23 This book brings together the fruits of different traditions in legal philosophy and draws on them to develop a systematic thesis on the concept of law The work uses a legal model to explore the underlying question of how the current phenomena of transnational law are best understood in combination with an examination of the traditions of Jürgen Habermas's critical theory and H L A Hart's analytic jurisprudence This leads the author to conclude that the key to a fruitful dialogue and comprehensive understanding is to appreciate that the concept of law is not state centered and must reflect relationships to other legal systems

Electronic Government and the Information Systems Perspective Kim Normann Andersen, Enrico Francesconi, Åke Grönlund, Tom M van Engers, 2010-08-18 In front of you are the proceedings of the First International Conference on Electronic Government and Information Systems Perspective EGOVIS This conference builds on the tradition of its predecessors the Electronic Government Conferences EGOV under the DEXA umbrella which have been ongoing for nine years but it also included some innovations In view of the large number of electronic government conferences we found it important to focus the scope of the conference a little and to increase the quality requirements Hence this year's conference featured a tougher review process and a smaller set of accepted papers As a result these proceedings contain the very best papers of 2010 covering various important aspects of electronic government and information systems used in the public sector With an acceptance rate of less than 20% EGOVIS belongs to the top ten conferences in the world The Program Committee accepted 13 full papers and 11 short papers covering the most recent research trends in electronic government implementations such as ICT for eGovernment services and monitoring knowledge and content management systems for temporal and geo spatial applications interoperability for electronic government integrated architectures decision and support tools for eDemocracy and direct participation of citizens in the policy making strategies and Web 2.0 and 3.0 approaches for collaborative and transparent public sector services

Jurisprudence in the Mirror Luka Burazin, 2024-08-30 There is something quite puzzling about the global conversation on jurisprudence On the one hand jurisprudence is supposed to deal with abstract questions concerning the nature structure and distinctive features of the law These questions are not tightly associated with or dependent on the particular legal practices in one jurisdiction or another But on the other hand it seems that jurists are tacitly affected by their background institutional context there is an evident divide between theorizing about the law in the civil law world and in the common law world Jurisprudence in the Mirror The Common Law World Meets the Civil Law World systematically presents the major achievements of contemporary civil law jurisprudence to the common law world and bridges the gap in analytic jurisprudence as it is currently practiced in the two traditions The volume seeks to bring different voices to the table and overcome the cultural and linguistic divides that have created barriers in philosophical exchanges The book's structure is dialogical it includes twelve essays written by prominent and influential jurists from the civil law world each followed by a response by a jurist from the common law world This approach highlights what the two worlds share where they part ways and why The varied contributions reveal how their respective legal traditions shape fundamental legal concepts and jurisprudential debates and will be invaluable to readers from both the civil and common law worlds

Committee on the Judiciary,1968 Contemporary History in the Soviet Mirror John

Keep,2024-11-26 Contemporary History in the Soviet Mirror 1964 is devoted to a critical examination of Soviet writings on contemporary history The demands of the Communist Party striving following the death of Stalin to replace the old myths with new ones encountered the opposition of individual historians The needs of the ideological front clashed with their professional conscience about historical facts Yet the Party's claim to be the infallible interpreter of historical truth would be undermined if its authority about the past could be challenged now as before he who controls the past controls the present In Khrushchev's Russia however it was not only the image of the past but the degree of control over it which was modified

The Long Arc of Legality David Dyzenhaus,2022-01-27 The Long Arc of Legality breaks the current deadlock in philosophy of law between legal positivism and natural law by showing that any understanding of law as a matter of authority must account for the interaction of enacted law with fundamental principles of legality This interaction conditions law's content so that officials have the moral resources to answer the legal subject's question But how can that be law for me David Dyzenhaus brings Thomas Hobbes and Hans Kelsen into a dialogue with H L A Hart showing that philosophy of law must work with the idea of legitimate authority and its basis in the social contract He argues that the legality of international law and constitutional law are integral to the main tasks of philosophy of law and that legal theory must attend both to the politics of legal space and to the way in which law provides us with a public conscience The Parliamentary Debates

Kohen,2025-08-22 Winner of the Christopher Award From the Place of the Dead is the definitive account of one of the worst human rights tragedies in contemporary history East Timor's struggle for independence under Indonesian occupation has dominated international headlines Now as UN troops uphold the August 1999 referendum calling for the island nation's self rule From the Place of the Dead offers the only up to date comprehensive analysis of the confrontation through the eyes of one of the most extraordinary leaders to emerge from the crisis Bishop Carlos Ximenes Belo Winner of the Nobel Prize for Peace in 1996 has been a fearless guardian of the basic human rights of the East Timorese people Arnold Kohen's intimate knowledge of the political religious and social history of the region paints a penetrating portrait of this beleaguered nation and reveals the extent of international complicity in the violence The Complex Reality of Religious Peacebuilding Katrien

Hertog,2010-08-20 This insightful book focuses on the multifaceted subject of sustainable religious peacebuilding Katrien Hertog discusses the ways in which religious actors can utilize resources to prevent violent conflict from occurring reduce conflict when it does happen and rebuild bridges between sides in after conflict has ceased She examines the emergence of the field of religious peacebuilding developing a conceptual framework that outlines how aspects of religious organizations can contribute to effectual peacebuilding and creating a screening model that allows readers to analyze the resources and obstacles to peacebuilding in depth Using the Russia and the Orthodox Church as a major case study Hertog clearly shows what the concrete resources for peace are how they are applied what obstacles are hindering their realization and how these resources can be better utilized and supported This book tackles the controversial issue of the place of religion and religious organizations in the peace process While recognizing that no simple answer exists in solving ethnic religious and tribal conflict Hertog presents the ways religion can be used to create lasting sustainable peace Housing Market Renewal and Social Class Chris Allen,2008-04-24 Housing Market Renewal and Social Class critically examines the rationale for housing market renewal to develop high value housing markets in place of so called failing markets of low cost housing

The French-Canadian Idea of Confederation, 1864-1900 A.I. Silver, 1997-12-15 At Confederation most French Canadians felt their homeland was Quebec they supported the new arrangement because it separated Quebec from Ontario creating an autonomous French Canadian province loosely associated with the others Unaware of other French Canadian groups in British North America Quebecers were not concerned with minority rights but only with the French character and autonomy of their own province However political and economic circumstances necessitated the granting of wide linguistic and educational rights to Quebec's Anglo Protestant minority Growing bitterness over the prominence of this minority in what was expected to be a French province was amplified by the discovery that French Catholic minorities were losing their rights in other parts of Canada Resentment at the fact that Quebec had to grant minority rights while other provinces did not intensified French Quebec nationalism At the same time French Quebecers felt sympathy for their co religionists and co nationalists in other provinces and tried to defend them against assimilating pressures Fighting for the rights of Acadians Franco Ontarians or western M'tis eventually led Quebecers to a new concern for the French fact in other provinces Professor Silver concludes that by 1900 Quebecers had become thoroughly committed to French Canadian rights not just in Quebec but throughout Canada and had become convinced that the very existence of Confederation was based on such rights Originally published in 1982 this new edition includes a new preface and conclusion that reflect upon Quebec's continuing struggle to define its place within Canada and the world

The Invisible Origins of Legal Positivism W.E. Conklin, 2001-11-30 Conklin's thesis is that the tradition of modern legal positivism beginning with Thomas Hobbes postulated different senses of the invisible as the authorising origin of humanly posited laws Conklin re-reads the tradition by privileging how the canons share a particular understanding of legal language as written Leading philosophers who have espoused the tenets of the tradition have assumed that legal language is written and that the authorising origin of humanly posited rules norms is inaccessible to the written legal language Conklin's re-reading of the tradition teases out how each of these leading philosophers has postulated that the authorising origin of humanly posited laws is an unanalysable externality to the written language of the legal structure As such the authorising origin of posited rules norms is inaccessible or invisible to their written language What is this authorising origin Different forms include an originary author an a priori concept and an immediacy of bonding between person and laws In each case the origin is unwritten in the sense of being inaccessible to the authoritative texts written by the officials of civil institutions of the sovereign state Conklin sets his thesis in the context of the legal theory of the polis and the pre polis of Greek tribes The author claims that the problem is that the tradition of legal positivism of a modern sovereign state excises the experiential or bodily meanings from the written language of the posited rules norms thereby forgetting the very pre legal authorising origin of the posited norms that each philosopher admits as offering the finality that legal reasoning demands if it is to be authoritative
