The Origin Of Variation Of Races Of Mankind And The Cause Of Evolution:

The Origin of Variation of Races of Mankind and the Cause of Evolution Betty Yu-Lin Ho, 1979* Race and Human Evolution Milford H. Wolpoff, Rachel Caspari, 1997 Race and Human Evolution shows how the debate over the Eve theory reflects a long history of theories about human origins and race that has been fraught with social and political implications

National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1965 Southern Asia, Australia, and the Search for Human Origins Robin Dennell, Martin Porr, 2014-02-24 This is the first book to focus on the role of Southern Asia and Australia in our understanding of modern human origins and the expansion of Homo sapiens between East Africa and Australia before 30 000 years ago With contributions from leading experts that take into account the latest archaeological evidence from India and Southeast Asia this volume critically reviews current models of the timing and character of the spread of modern humans out of Africa It also demonstrates that the evidence from Australasia should receive much wider and more serious consideration in its own right if we want to understand how our species achieved its global distribution Critically examining the Out of Africa model this book emphasises the context and variability of the global evidence in the search for human origins Human Evolution Source Book Russell L. Ciochon, John G.

Fleagle, 2016-12-05 For Junior Senior and Graduate courses in Human Evolution taught in anthropology and biology departments This book is the most comprehensive collection of cutting edge articles on human evolution Designed for use by students in anthropology paleontology and evolutionary biology this edited volume brings together the major ideas and publications on human evolution of the past three decades The book spans the entire scope of human evolution with particular emphasis on the fossil record including archaeological studies Historicism and the Human Sciences in Victorian Britain Mark Bevir, 2017-03-10 Historicism and the Human Sciences in Victorian Britain explores the rise and nature of historicist thinking about such varied topics as life race character literature language economics empire and law The contributors show that the Victorians typically understood life and society as developing historically in a way that made history central to their intellectual inquiries and their public culture Although their historicist ideas drew on some Enlightenment themes they drew at least as much on organic ideas and metaphors in ways that lent them a developmental character This developmental historicism flourished alongside evolutionary motifs and romantic ideas of the self The human sciences were approached through narratives and often narratives of reason and progress Life individuals society government and literature all unfolded gradually in accord with underlying principles such as those of rationality nationhood and liberty This book will appeal to those interested in Victorian Britain historiography and intellectual history The History and Geography of Human Genes L L Cavalli-sforza, Paolo Menozzi, Alberto Piazza, 2018-06-05 Hailed as a breakthrough in the understanding of human evolution The History and Geography of Human Genes offers the first full scale reconstruction of where human populations originated and the paths by which they spread throughout the world By mapping the worldwide geographic distribution of genes for over 110 traits in over 1800 primarily aboriginal populations the authors charted migrations and devised a clock by which to date evolutionary history This monumental work is now available in a more affordable paperback edition without the myriad illustrations and maps but containing the full text and partial appendices of the authors pathbreaking endeavor

Current Catalog ,1965 First multi year cumulation covers six years 1965 70 Dissent with Modification: Human Origins, Palaeolithic Archaeology and Evolutionary Anthropology in Britain 1859-1901 John McNabb,2012-04-21 The major themes of this study include the development of Palaeolithic archaeology its relationship with the study of human physical anthropology in Britain and to a lesser extent on the Continent links between these and the study of race and racial origins links with geological developments in climate and glacial studies The Emperor's New Clothes Joseph L. Graves,2001 Graves answers could revise the ways in which humans interact with one another Choice A fine start for thinking about race at the dawn of the millennium American Scientist Modern Humans John F. Hoffecker,2017-10-31 Modern Humans is a vivid account of the most recent and perhaps the most important phase of human evolution the appearance of anatomically modern people Homo sapiens in Africa less than half a million years ago and their later spread throughout the world Leaving no stone unturned John F Hoffecker demonstrates that Homo sapiens represents a major transition in the evolution of living systems in terms of fundamental changes in the role of non genetic information Modern Humans synthesizes recent findings from genetics including the rapidly growing body of ancient DNA the human fossil record and archaeology relating to the African origin and global dispersal of anatomically modern people Hoffecker places humans in the broad context of the evolution of life emphasizing the critical role of genetic and non genetic forms of information in living systems as well as how changes in the storage transmission and translation of information underlie major transitions in evolution He also draws on information and complexity theory to explain the emergence of Homo sapiens in Africa several hundred thousand years ago and the rapid and unprecedented spread of our species into a variety of environments in Australia and Eurasia including the Arctic and Beringia beginning between 75 000 and 60 000 years ago This magisterial work will appeal to all with an interest in the ever fascinating field of human evolution

Encyclopedia of Evolution Stanley A. Rice, 2009 Evolutionary science is not only one of the greatest breakthroughs of modern science but also one of the most controversial Perhaps more than any other scientific area evolutionary science has caused us all to question what we are where we came from and how we relate to the rest of the universe Encyclopedia of Evolution contains more than 200 entries that span modern evolutionary science and the history of its development This comprehensive volume clarifies many common misconceptions about evolution For example many people have grown up being told that the fossil record does not demonstrate an evolutionary pattern and that there are many missing links In fact most of these missing links have been found and their modern representatives are often still alive today The biographical entries represent evolutionary scientists within the United States who have had and continue to have a major impact on the broad outline of evolutionary science The biographies chosen reflect the viewpoints of scientists working within the United States Five essays that explore interesting questions resulting from studies in evolutionary science are included as well The appendix consists of a summary of Charles Darwin s Origin of Species which is widely considered to be the foundational work of evolutionary science and one of the most important books in human history The five essays include How much do genes control human behavior What are the ghosts of evolution Can an evolutionary scientist be religious Why do humans die Are humans alone in the universe
