Eisenstadt, 2011-03-21 Drawing on an original survey of more than 5 000 respondents this book argues that contrary to claims by the 1994 Zapatista insurgency indigenous and non indigenous respondents in southern Mexico have been united by socioeconomic conditions and land tenure institutions as well as by ethnic identity It concludes that contrary to many analyses of Chiapas s 1994 indigenous rebellion external influences can trump ideology in framing social movements Rural Chiapas s prevalent communitarian attitudes resulted partly from external land tenure institutions rather than from indigenous identities alone The book further points to recent indigenous rights movements in neighboring Oaxaca Mexico as examples of bottom up multicultural institutions that might be emulated in Mexico and elsewhere in Latin America Decolonization, Self-Determination, and the Rise of Global Human Rights Politics A. Dirk Moses, Marco Duranti, Roland Burke, 2020-07-16 This volume presents the first global history of human rights politics in the age of decolonization The conflict between independence movements and colonial powers shaped the global human rights order that emerged after the Second World War It was also critical to the genesis of contemporary human rights organizations and humanitarian movements Anti colonial forces mobilized human rights and other rights language in their campaigns for self determination In response European empires harnessed the new international politics of human rights for their own ends claiming that their rule with its promise of development was the authentic vehicle for realizing them Ranging from the postwar partitions and the wars of independence to Indigenous rights activism and post colonial memory this volume offers new insights into the history and legacies of human rights self determination and empire to the present day #HumanRights Ronald Niezen, 2020-07-28 Social justice and human rights movements are entering a new phase Social media artificial intelligence and digital forensics are reshaping advocacy and compliance Technicians lawmakers and advocates sometimes in collaboration with the private sector have increasingly gravitated toward the possibilities and dangers inherent in the nonhuman HumanRights examines how new technologies interact with older models of rights claiming and communication influencing and reshaping the modern day pursuit of justice Ronald Niezen argues that the impacts of information technologies on human rights are not found through an exclusive focus on sophisticated expert driven forms of data management but in considering how these technologies are interacting with other traditional forms of media to produce new avenues of expression public sympathy redress of grievances and sources of the self Niezen considers various ways that the pursuit of justice is happening via new technologies including crowdsourcing social media facilitated mobilizations and enclosures WhatsApp activist networks and the selective attention of Google s search engine algorithm He uncovers how emerging technologies of data management and social media influence the ways that human rights claimants and their allies pursue justice and the new victimology that prioritizes and represents strategic lives and types of violence over others HumanRights paints a striking and important panoramic picture of the contest between authoritarianism and the new tools by which people attempt to leverage human rights and bring the powerful to account The Oxford Handbook on the United Nations Thomas G. Weiss, Sam Daws, 2018-06-28 This Handbook provides in one volume an authoritative and independent treatment of the UN's seventy year history written by an international cast of more than 50 distinguished scholars analysts and practitioners It provides a clear and penetrating examination of the UN's development since 1945 and the challenges and opportunities now facing the organization It assesses the implications for the UN of rapid changes in the world from technological innovation to shifting foreign policy priorities and the UN's future place in a changing multilateral landscape Citations and additional readings contain a wealth of primary and secondary references to the history politics and law of the world organization This key reference also contains appendices of the UN Charter the Statute of the International Court of Justice and the Universal Declaration of Human Rights Indigenous Peoples Svein Jentoft, Henry Minde, Ragnar Nilsen, 2003 Since the Rio Earth Summit in 1992 a legal process within the auspices of the UN has been underway that may help indigenous peoples to sustain their natural environment industries and cultures This book addresses some of the legal political and institutional implications of those processes Back cover Anthropology and the New Cosmopolitanism Pnina Werbner, 2020-05-21 Anthropology and the New Cosmopolitanism inaugurates a new situated cosmopolitan anthropology It examines the rise of postcolonial movements responsive to global rights movements which espouse a politics of dignity cultural difference democracy dissent and tolerance The book starts from the premise that cosmopolitanism is not and never has been a western elitist ideal exclusively The book's major innovation is to show the way cosmopolitans beyond the North in Papua New Guinea Indonesia and Malaysia India Africa the Middle East and Mexico juggle universalist commitments with roots in local cultural milieus and particular communities Anthropology and the New Cosmopolitanism breaks new ground in theorizing the role of social anthropology as a discipline that engages with the moral economic legal and political transformations and dislocations of a globalizing world It introduces the reader to key debates surrounding cosmopolitanism in the social sciences and is written clearly and accessibly for undergraduates in anthropology and related subjects

Handbook of Indigenous Peoples' Rights Corinne Lennox, Damien Short, 2016-02-05 This handbook will be a comprehensive interdisciplinary overview of indigenous peoples rights Chapters by experts in the field will examine legal philosophical sociological and political issues addressing a wide range of themes at the heart of debates on the rights of indigenous peoples The book will address not only the major questions such as who are indigenous peoples What is distinctive about their rights How are their rights constructed and protected What is the relationship between national indigenous rights regimes and international norms but also themes such as culture identity genocide globalization and development rights institutionalization and the environment Indigenous Peoples of North America Robert James Muckle, 2012-01-01 In this thoughtful book Robert J Muckle provides a brief thematic overview of the key issues facing Indigenous peoples in North America from prehistory to the present Transcontinental Dialogues R. Aída Hernández Castillo, Suzi Hutchings, Brian Noble, 2019-04-09 Transcontinental Dialogues brings together Indigenous and non Indigenous anthropologists from Mexico Canada and Australia who work at the intersections of Indigenous rights advocacy and action research These engaged anthropologists explore how obligations manifest in differently situated alliances how they respond to such obligations and the consequences for anthropological practice and action This volume presents a set of pieces that do not take the usual political or geographic paradigms as their starting point instead the particular dialogues from the margins presented in this book arise from a rejection of the geographic hierarchization of knowledge in which the Global South continues to be the space for fieldwork while the Global North is the place for its systematization and theorization Instead contributors in Transcontinental Dialogues delve into the interactions between anthropologists and the people they work with in Canada Australia and Mexico This framework allows the contributors to explore the often unintended but sometimes devastating impacts of government policies such as land rights legislation or justice initiatives for women on Indigenous people s lives Each chapter s author reflects critically on their own work as activist scholars They offer examples of the efforts and challenges that anthropologists Indigenous and non Indigenous confront when producing knowledge in alliances with Indigenous peoples Mi kmaq land rights pan Maya social movements and Aboriginal title claims in rural and urban areas are just some of the cases that provide useful ground for reflection on and critique of challenges and opportunities for scholars policy makers activists allies and community members This volume is timely and innovative for using the disparate anthropological traditions of three regions to explore how the interactions between anthropologists and Indigenous peoples in supporting Indigenous activism have the potential to transform the production of knowledge within the historical colonial traditions of anthropology Re-envisioning Sovereignty Trudy Jacobsen, 2016-04-08 Sovereignty as a concept is in a state of flux In the course of the last century traditional meanings have been worn away while the limitations of sovereignty have been altered as transnational issues compete with domestic concerns for precedence This volume presents an interdisciplinary analysis of conceptions of sovereignty Divided into six overarching elements it explores a wide range of issues that have altered the theory and practice of state sovereignty such as human rights and the use of force for human protection purposes norms relating to governance the war on terror economic globalization the natural environment and changes in strategic thinking The authors are acknowledged experts in their respective areas and discuss the contemporary meaning and relevance of sovereignty and how it relates to the constitution of international order The Globalization of Environmental Crisis Jan Oosthoek, Barry K. Gills, 2013-10-31 Previously published as a special issue of Globalizations this collection of essays addresses what is arguably the most pressing and urgent issue of our day the continuing development of global environmental crises and the need for new and urgent responses to them by the world community The contributors include social scientists environmental historians anthropologists and science policy researchers and together they give an overview of the history of the globalization of environmental crisis over the past several decades both in terms of the science of measurement and the types of policy and public responses that have emerged to date The specific issue areas addressed in the book cover a wide range of topics including international environmental governance North South inequalities climate change global warming tropical forests air pollution economic and paradigm shifts sustainability indigenous peoples and eco conservation EU environmental policy the United States and politicized climate science and more The Globalization of Environmental Crisis will be of particular interest to all those concerned with the on going debate over the state of the global environment and what to do about it Indigeneity In India Bengt T. Karlsson,T.B. Subba,2013-10-28 First published in 2006 Who and what are the indigenous people The question has become highly contentious in India today where eighty million peoples belonging to the state category of scheduled tribes are attempting to gain international recognition as indigenous people as a part of struggle for recognition and rights in land and resources This volume interrogates the politics surrounding the category of peoples in India known as tribals or adivasis and more recently indigenous peoples

Indigenous Experience Today Marisol de la Cadena,Orin Starn,2020-05-18 A century ago the idea of indigenous people as an active force in the contemporary world was unthinkable It was assumed that native societies everywhere would be swept away by the forward march of the West and its own peculiar brand of progress and civilization Nothing could be further from the truth Indigenous social movements wield new power and groups as diverse as Australian Aborigines Ecuadorian Quichuas and New Zealand Maoris have found their own distinctive and assertive ways of living in the present world Indigenous Experience Today draws together essays by prominent scholars in anthropology and other fields examining the varied face of indigenous politics in Bolivia Botswana Canada Chile China Indonesia and the United States amongst others The book challenges accepted notions of indigeneity as it examines the transnational dynamics of contemporary native culture and politics around the world Public Justice and the Anthropology of Law Ronald Niezen,2010-10-21 In this powerful timely study Ronald Niezen examines the processes by which cultural concepts are conceived and collective rights are defended in international law Niezen argues that cultivating support on behalf of those experiencing human rights violations often calls for strategic representations of injustice and suffering to distant audiences The positive impulse behind public responses to political abuse can be found in the satisfaction of justice done But the fact that oppressed peoples and their supporters from around the world are competing for public attention is actually a profound source of global difference stemming from differential capacities to appeal to a remote unknown public Niezen s discussion of the impact of public opinion on law provides fresh insights into the importance of legally constructed identity and the changing pathways through which it is being shaped crucial issues for all those with an interest in anthropology politics and human rights law

Reforging a Forgotten History Sargon Donabed,2015-02-27 Traces the dynamic history of Iraq in the 20th century and reinserts the modern remnants of these peoples into its day to day concerns Re-writing Culture in Taiwan Fang-Long

Shih, Stuart Thompson, Paul Tremlett, 2008-11-05 Examining issues such as trauma memory history tradition modernity post modernity and with chapters on nationalism anthropology cultural studies media studies religion and museum studies this book offers a comprehensive and critical analysis of contemporary Taiwan First World, First Nations Gunter Minnerup, Pia Solberg, 2010-10-21 Collects essays on the Indigenous peoples of Australia and Northern Europe exploring the similarities and differences between the Indigenous experiences in the Nordic countries and Australia The Oxford Handbook of Law and Anthropology Marie-Claire Foblets, Mark Goodale, Maria Sapignoli, Olaf Zenker, 2022-04-01 The Oxford Handbook of Law and Anthropology is a ground breaking collection of essays that provides an original and internationally framed conception of the historical theoretical and ethnographic interconnections of law and anthropology Each of the chapters in the Handbook provides a survey of the current state of scholarly debate and an argument about the future direction of research in this dynamic and interdisciplinary field The structure of the Handbook is animated by an overarching collective narrative about how law and anthropology have and should relate to each other as intersecting domains of inquiry that address such fundamental questions as dispute resolution normative ordering social organization and legal political and social identity The need for such a comprehensive project has become even more pressing as lawyers and anthropologists work together in an ever increasing number of areas including immigration and asylum processes international justice forums cultural heritage certification and monitoring and the writing of new national constitutions among many others The Handbook takes critical stock of these various points of intersection in order to identify and conceptualize the most promising areas of innovation and sociolegal relevance as well as to acknowledge the points of tension open questions and areas for future development Handbook of Indigenous Religion(s) Greg Johnson, Siv Ellen Kraft, 2017-06-06 Extremely distant and distinct indigenous communities have over recent decades become more like themselves and more like each other a paradox prevalent globally but inadequately explained by established analytical frames particularly with regard to religion Addressing this rich and unfolding context the Handbook of Indigenous Religion s engages a wide variety of locations and perspectives Drawing upon the efforts of a diverse group of scholars working at the intersection of indigenous studies and religious studies this volume includes a programmatic introduction that argues for new ways of conceptualizing the field of indigenous religion s numerous case study based examples and an Afterword by Thomas Tweed
