Duchesse de Dino,2015-01-28 Dorothea von Biron Princess of Courland Duchess of Dino Talleyrand and Sagan known as Doroth e de Courlande or Doroth de Dino 21 August 1793 19 September 1862 was a Baltic German noblewoman Princess Catherine Radziwi 30 March 1858 12 May 1941 was a Polish princess from the Polish Lithuanian aristocratic Radziwi family

Napoleon's Master David Lawday,2007-11-13 Born into the high aristocracy where rank meant more than wealth Charles Maurice de Talleyrand Perigord was to become one of the great politicians of all time His early career in politics was marked with turmoil a liberal who saw the need to curb the powers of the monarchy Talleyrand fled from France when the violence of the revolution turned extreme in 1792 first to England and then to the United States It was not until his return to France after the dust had settled in 1796 that his star would begin to rise in earnest First he was appointed Foreign Minister In this position he aligned himself with the charismatic general who would become Emperor of France Napoleon Bonaparte In the course of the next three decades Talleyrand would prove himself perhaps the most adept politician of all time his political pliability allowed him to survive the fall of Bonaparte and the consequent second Bourbon restoration. He was in the shadow of power in Europe through more upheaval than perhaps any other person of his generation. Napoleon's Master is a riveting portrait of an eternally fascinating man. By Influence & Desire Rosalynn Pflaum, 2014-04-24

Out of the pages of European history comes a story as colorful and torrid as any modern fiction the never been told before told account of the lives of the grand duchess of Courland and her daughters Wilhelmina and Dorothea. By Influence and Desire is the story of how these independent intelligent women helped shape the course of history in the only way open to them in the boudoirs of Paris Vienna Saint Petersburg and Berlin. Catherine the Great was in power when in 1779 the beautiful eighteen year old Anna Dorothea von Medem daughter of one of the richest and most cosmopolitan families of Courland now Latvia was chosen to be the wife Courland's Grand Duke Peter. When Anna proved more popular and politically astute than her husband Peter took her abroad where the grand duchess's influence and her list of male admirers grew. In Paris the grand duchess whose romantic escapades had long titillated Central European court circles became the mistress of Talleyrand Napoleon's foreign minister whom she aided in an undercover campaign to unseat Napoleon. Love affairs entangling the duchess and her daughters seemed to be the way of the Courland women. For like their mother the Courland daughters were liberated bright beautiful and adept at handling men. Metternich the Austrian chancellor who shared with Talleyrand the distinction of being one of the greatest statesmen of the day took Wilhelmina as his mistress. And while the Congress of Vienna struggled to bring order to a Europe in chaos Talleyrand and Metternich sought solace and advice in the bedrooms of the Courland women. A few years later Dorothea was to steal the affections of Talleyrand who was thirty nine years his senior supplanting her mother as Talleyrand's mistress and maintaining that role until his death in 1838. Rosalynn Pflaum was inspired to write this fascinating history when she was given a volume of letters between Metternich and Wilhelmina. These letters discovered by Dr Maria Ullrichova behind an artificial wall in a Cistercian Abbey proved invaluable. Drawing on this newly uncovered correspondence on the extensive Talleyrand correspondence already available and on numerous private archives Pflaum has recreated these women's extraordinary lives.

The Shadow of the Second Mother Prophecy Coles, 2015-02-20

The Shadow of the Second Mother explores why has there been such little interest in psychology social history and biography in the important contribution that second mothers such as wet nurses and nannies have had upon the emotional life of the children they have nursed. For the last three thousand years and throughout most civilisations they have nurtured the children of the privileged and kept alive the abandoned and unwanted child and yet there has been a profound silence surrounding the influence they may have had. The author explores the lives of several well known people who have been wet nursed such as Michelangelo Rousseau Jack London Nabokov and Klein. She speculates that they all were affected emotionally by their second mother and concludes that a universal feature of such delegated mothering seems to be that the bond between mother and child is broken and the child may be left with a life long distrust of close relationships. In The Shadow of the Second Mother Coles combines an exploration of attachment theory with neurology making it possible to give an explanation as to why these important figures have lain unnamed and ignored in our social and psychological consciousness This intriguing new approach to an ancient practice will be fascinating reading for psychotherapists psychoanalysts sociologist and students of social history
