The Origins Of The Lms In South Wales:

Lms in South Wales Gwyn Briwnant-Jones, Denis Dunstone, 1998-12-01 The World's First Railway System Mark Casson, 2009-09-10 This is the first history of the British railway system written from a modern economic perspective It uses counterfactual analysis to construct an alternative network to represent the most efficient alternative rail network that could have been constructed given what was known at the time the first time this has been done The Merthyr, Tredegar & Abergavenny Railway Chris Barber, 2017-11-15 To commemorate the sixtieth anniversary of its closure Chris Barber offers a fascinating insight into the history behind this picturesque railway line David Griffiths and the Missionary "History of Madagascar" Gwyn Campbell, 2012-04-03 This book reveals the hitherto hidden history of inter missionary dispute that split the first LMS mission to Madagascar Focussing on David Griffiths whose pivotal role was concealed by the LMS it suggests that Welsh English rivalry moulded the mission's destiny The Origins of an Experimental Society Erik Olssen, 2025-04-10 In this major work one of our leading historians offers a new account of the origins of New Zealand how Pakeha settlers a Better Britain While both experiments were first conceived by savants and philosophers they gained ongoing support by lodging in the hearts and minds of the settlers whalers and missionaries mothers and farmers In turn Maori adapted these new ideas to their own ends giving up slavery and inter tribal warfare and adapting the institutions of the colonisers in ways that would re define the experiments This then is an ethnography of tangata Pakeha a people of European descent changed by their encounters with tangata Maori and their land just as Maori were themselves changed and the story of the society they built together Ranging across intellectual and cultural history from the beach at Paihia to the coffee houses of Paris Olssen enables us to understand the origins of New Zealand anew Colonization and the Origins of Humanitarian Governance Alan Lester, Fae Dussart, 2014-04-17 How did those responsible for creating Britain's nineteenth century settler empire render colonization compatible with humanitarianism Avoiding a cynical or celebratory response this book takes seriously the humane disposition of colonial officials examining the relationship between humanitarian governance and empire The story of humane colonial governance connects projects of emancipation amelioration conciliation protection and development in sites ranging from British Honduras through Van Diemen's Land and New South Wales New Zealand and Canada to India It is seen in the lives of governors like George Arthur and George Grey whose careers saw the violent and destructive colonization of indigenous peoples at the hands of British emigrants The story challenges the exclusion of officials humanitarian sensibilities from colonial history and places the settler colonies within the larger historical context of Western humanitarianism To Live Among the Stars John Garrett, 1982 History of Congregationalism in Cardiff and District John Williamson, 1920 Sydney's Aboriginal Past Val Attenbrow, 2010 This second edition of Sydney's Aboriginal Past draws on the latest historical archaeological geological environmental and linguistic research as well as oral evidence of present day Aboriginal people to reveal the diversity of Aboriginal life in the Sydney region before during and for the first thirty years of British settlement Representing the South Pacific Rod Edmond, 1997-11-20 This book examines how the South Pacific was represented by explorers missionaries travellers writers and artists between 1767 and 1914 by drawing on history literature art history and anthropology Edmond engages with colonial texts and postcolonial theory criticising both for their failure to acknowledge the historical specificity of colonial discourses and cultural encounters and for continuing to see indigenous cultures in essentially passive or reactive terms The book offers a detailed and grounded reading back of these colonial discourses into the metropolitan centres which gave rise to them while resisting the idea that all representations of other cultures are merely self representations Among its themes are the persistent myth making around the figure of Cook the western obsession with Polynesian sexuality tattooing cannibalism and leprosy and the Pacific as a theatre for adventure and as a setting for Europe's displaced fears of its own cultural extinction A Bibliography of British History, 1914-1989 Keith Robbins, American Historical Association, Royal Historical Society (Great Britain), 1996 Containing over 25 000 entries this unique volume will be absolutely indispensable for all those with an interest in Britain in the twentieth century Accessibly arranged by theme with helpful introductions to each chapter a huge range of topics is covered There is a comprehensive index The Development of Isambard Kingdom Brunel's Great Western Railway André Gren, 2003 A History of Early Childhood Education in Canada, Australia, and New Zealand Larry Prochner, 2010-01-01 In the early nineteenth century governments developed kindergartens and infant schools to give children a head start in life These programs hinged on new visions of childhood that originated in England and Europe but what happened when they were transported to the colonies This book unwinds the tangled threads of this history by tracing how Enlightenment thought and Romantic ideas translated into early infant schools in England kindergartens in Germany and the United States and free kindergarten systems in the Commonwealth countries The systems that emerged in Canada Australia and New Zealand maintained the integrity of the ideas and models that inspired them but adapted them to suit local ideas politics and populations This unique account of early childhood education in comparative perspective provides fresh insight into how to reconcile educational theory and practice in an increasingly global world Missionary Magazine and Chronicle London Missionary Society, 1900 Missionary Writing and Empire, 1800-1860 Anna Johnston, 2003-08-07 Anna Johnston analyses missionary writing under the aegis of the British Empire Johnston argues that missionaries occupied ambiguous positions in colonial cultures caught between imperial and religious interests She maps out this position through an examination of texts published by missionaries of the largest most influential nineteenth century evangelical institution the London Missionary Society Texts from Indian Polynesian and Australian missions are examined to highlight their representation of nineteenth century evangelical activity in relation to gender colonialism and race From Woolloomooloo to 'Eternity': A History of Australian Baptists Ken R. Manley, 2006-06-01 This pioneering study describes the quest of Baptists in the different colonies later states to develop their identity as Australians and Baptists The first comprehensive history of Baptists in Australia with a national focus the Baptist story is traced from their beginnings in 1831 with the first baptisms in Woolloomooloo Bay Sydney in 1832 down to modern times Changes and continuities achievements and failures are carefully analyzed and related to the wider social political and cultural context The first volume covers the period from 1831 until the outbreak of the First World War in 1914 and shows how a strong sense of becoming an Australian Church shaped much of their development from the various types of British Baptists who began the movement in the new nation What it meant to be an Australian Baptist is described using denominational newspapers church records and personal memoirs

Subverting Empire Will Jackson, Emily Manktelow, 2015-07-15 Across their empire the British spoke ceaselessly of deviants of undesirables ne'er-do-wells petit tyrants and rogues With obvious literary appeal these soon became stock figures This is the first study to take deviance seriously bringing together histories that reveal the complexity of a phenomenon that remains only dimly understood

The Railway Magazine, 1929

Who's who in Christian History James Dixon Douglas, 1992 Describes the men and women who made a lasting impact on Christian faith and experience With over 1 500 biographical entries this book is the most comprehensive resource available It spans the first through the twentieth centuries from Jesus and the apostles to Billy Graham and Mother Teresa A great reference book for pastors Bible students and teachers or anyone desiring a one volume biographical dictionary of who's who in Christian history

Constructing Mission History Stanley H. Skreslet, 2023-01-17 Three master narratives currently dominate the analysis of modern mission history One puts foreign missionaries at the heart of the story A second emphasizes the colonial aspect of modern missions Here missionaries are not heroes but villains who are implicated in hegemonic schemes of imperial domination Thirdly mission history is subordinated to one of its outcomes the advent of World Christianity In this master narrative the concept of contextualization looms large bolstered by Sanneh's notion of translatability and emphasis on the agency of non Westerners who participate in and subtly shape the complex social processes of evangelization While all three of these master narratives are insightful none of them adequately balances concern for missionary initiative and indigenous agency Borrowing from speech act theory Skreslet offers a new analytical approach to the modern roots of World Christianity that differentiates between what a speaker might intend to communicate and the effects of what has been said or actions taken both in the moment and over time Corresponding to the concepts of illocution and perlocution as these technical terms are used in speech act theory the book is structured in two main sections Initially the focus is on expressed missionary motives Part two engages a representative set of modern era mission performances involving many more actors than just the foreign evangelizers whose stated or implied intentions are emphasized in part one
