The Art of the English Trade Gun in North America

Nathan E. Bender, 2018-07-06 Symbolic ornamentation inspired by ancient Greek and Roman art is a long standing Western tradition The author explores the designs of 18th century English gunsmiths who engraved classical ornamental patterns on firearms gifted or traded to American Indians A system of allegory is found that symbolized the Americas of the New World in general and that enshrined the American Indian peoples as noble savages. The same allegorical context was drawn upon for symbols of national liberty in the early American republic. Inadvertently many of the symbolic designs used on the trade guns strongly resonated with several Native American spiritual traditions.

Asia in the Making of Europe, Volume II Donald F. Lach, 2010-01-15. This is the second volume in a series that traces century by century the role of Asia in the making of Europe. The rise to world dominance of the Western nations in modern times and the rapid industrial growth of the West which outpaced the East in technical and military achievements have led to a historical eclipse of the ancient and brilliant cultures of Asia. Historian Donald F. Lach in his influential scholarly work Asia in the Making of Europe points out that an eclipse is never permanent; that this one was never total and that there was a period in early modern times when Asia and Europe were close rivals in brilliance and mutual influence.
