Sleep, Aging and Related Disorders W. Emser,D. Kurtz,W. B. Webb,1987-03-17 Aging and Age-Related Disorders Stephen Bondy,Kenneth Maiese,2010-09-02 Features that characterize the aging process include the gradual accumulation of cell damage after prolonged exposure to oxidative and inflammatory events over a lifetime In addition to the accretion of lesions the intrinsic levels of pro oxidant and aberrant immune responses are elevated with age These adverse events are often further enhanced by the chronic and slow progressing diseases that characterize the senescent brain and cardiovascular system The incidence of some disorders such as Alzheimer s disease and vascular diseases are sufficiently prevalent in the extreme elderly that these disorders can arguably be considered normal Aging and Aging Related Disorders examines the interface between normal and pathological aging and illustrates how this border can sometimes be diffuse It explores and illustrates the processes underlying the means by which aging becomes increasingly associated with inappropriate levels of free radical activity and how this can serve as a platform for the progression of age related diseases The book provides chapters that examine the interactive relationship between systems in the body that can enhance or sometimes even limit cellular longevity In addition specific redox mechanisms in cells are discussed Another important aspect for aging discussed here is the close relationship between the systems of the body and exposure to environmental influences of oxidative stress that can affect both cellular senescence and a cell s nuclear DNA What may be even more interesting to note is that these external stressors are not simply confined to illnesses usually associated with aging but can be evident in maturing and young individuals A broad range of internationally recognized experts have contributed to this book Their aim is to successfully highlight emerging knowledge and therapy for the understanding of the basis and development of aging related disorders Aging and Age-Related Disorders From Molecular Mechanisms to Therapies Vladimir Titorenko,2019-08-19 Aging of unicellular and multicellular eukaryotic organisms is a convoluted biological phenomenon which is manifested as an age related functional decline caused by progressive dysregulation of certain cellular and organismal processes Many chronic diseases are associated with human aging These aging associated diseases include cardiovascular diseases chronic obstructive pulmonary disease chronic kidney disease diabetes osteoarthritis osteoporosis sarcopenia stroke neurodegenerative diseases including Parkinson s Alzheimer s and Huntington s diseases and many forms of cancer Studies in yeast roundworms fruit flies fishes mice primates and humans have provided evidence that the major aspects and basic mechanisms of aging and aging associated pathology are conserved across phyla The focus of this International Journal of Molecular Sciences Special Issue is on molecular and cellular mechanisms diagnostics and therapies and diseases of aging Fifteen original research and review articles in this Special Issue provide important insights into how various genetic dietary and pharmacological interventions can affect certain longevity defining cellular and organismal processes to delay aging and postpone the onset of age related pathologies in evolutionarily diverse organisms These articles
