Some Old Portraits Booth Tarkington, 1939      Lessons in Likeness Estill Curtis Pennington, 2011 Between 1802 when the young Kentucky artist William Edward West began to paint portraits while on a downriver journey and 1920 when the last of Frank Duveneck's students worked in Louisville a large number of notable portrait artists were active in Kentucky and the Ohio River Valley In Lessons in Likeness Portrait Painters in Kentucky and the Ohio River Valley 1802-1920 Estill Curtis Pennington charts the course of those artists as they painted a variety of sitters drawn from both urban and rural society The work is illustrated when possible from The Filson Historical Society collection of some four hundred portraits representing one of the most extensive holdings available for study in the region Portraiture involves artists and subjects known as sitters and is an art that combines elements of biography aesthetics and cultural history Private portraits often attract an oral history that enlivens the more colorful aspects of local tradition and culture Public portraits of towering figures such as George Washington Henry Clay and Abraham Lincoln were often reproduced in printed format to satisfy popular demand and subsequently attained an iconic timeless status Lessons in Likeness is organized in two parts Part One the cultural chronology serves as a backdrop to the biographies of the portrait artists This section identifies stylistic sources and significant historical moments that influenced the artists and their milieus Rather than working in isolation portrait artists were connected to the world around them and influenced by prevailing trends in their trade Early in the nineteenth century for instance Matthew Jouett journeyed to Boston for study with Gilbert Stuart and upon his return to Kentucky painted in a style that subsequently influenced an entire generation Later artists notably Oliver Frazer and William Edward West studied the lessons of Thomas Sully in Philadelphia Sully popularized the lush warmly colored and highly flattering style of portraiture practiced by many of the itinerant artists whose careers were facilitated by the introduction of steam and rail travel The Civil War provoked a dramatic shift in the cultural terrain further augmented by the rise of photography and the emergence of academic art centers Painters who had previously worked with a master painter or learned on their own were now able to study at established schools especially in Cincinnati which became one of the leading centers for the teaching of art in late nineteenth century America Several of the teachers there Frank Duveneck and Thomas Satterwhite Noble in particular had firsthand experience with avant garde European styles notably the realism and naturalism practiced in Munich and Paris in the last quarter of the nineteenth century and then taught in the art schools of New York and Philadelphia Part Two profiles the artists from this area and period who have appeared in previous art historical literature and have an identifiable body of work represented in public and private collections Individual biographies provide details of the artists' lives sources for further study and locations of works in public collections      English Literature, Volume 2 Louis A. of her book She recalls that as a small child before she was aware of her uncle's fame as a writer he emerged as the one figure whose outline was clear among the blur of forms that made up her large family No one who met Booth Tarkington ever forgot him says his great niece So she introduces the reader to this multifaceted individual the young man about town the prankster the writer of humorous letters who drew caricatures in the margins the bereaved father the inspiration of the affection of three women simultaneously and the lover and collector of art objects and portraits The author of this volume draws primarily upon her own personal experiences family lore and letters some never published before to portray her amiable uncle She tells of the pleasure it gave him to entertain his young nephews and nieces at his Tudor style winter home in Indianapolis where they played a spirited form of charades She recalls vacations which she as a college student spent at his light filled summer home in Kennebunkport Maine where she met his famous neighbors During all of those times Uncle Booth was a keen observer of youth who created Penrod and friends from his observations and the teacher of youth who transmitted his own love of art to his young relations While recapturing memories of the unforgettable Tarkington Mayberry recreates an era of elegant and leisurely living when on the dining table in the fingerbowls were nosegays of sweet peas and lemon verbena or geranium leaves Susanah Mayberry shares with the reader a treasure of family photographs including Tarkington at various ages interiors and exteriors of his homes her father and uncles as children the models of Penrod the writer's indomitable sister who championed his early work and his devoted second wife a gentle dragon who kept his day to day life running smoothly Indiana residents will feel at home with the frequent references to the state and its people Indianapolis of the late nineteenth through the mid twentieth centuries influenced Tarkington and his work The city was his birthplace and his death place He spent a year at Purdue University where he met such brilliancies as George Ade and John McCutcheon Other famous and not so famous Hoosiers became a part of Tarkington's life and they along with international literary theatrical and political luminaries reappear in Susanah Mayberry's recollections of her amiable uncle     A
