Narrative Theory: Special topics Mieke Bal, 2004 Towards a 'Natural' Narratology Monika Fludernik, 2002-11-01 In this ground breaking work of synthesis Monika Fludernik combines insights from literary theory and linguistics to provide a challenging new theory of narrative This book is both an historical survey and theoretical study with the author drawing on an enormous range of examples from the earliest oral study to contemporary experimental fiction She uses these examples to prove that recent literature far from heralding the final collapse of narrative represents the epitome of a centuries long developmental process The Fictions of Language and the Languages of Fiction Monika Fludernik, 2003-12-16

Monika Fludernik presents a detailed analysis of free indirect discourse as it relates to narrative theory and the crucial problematic of how speech and thought are represented in fiction Building on the insights of Ann Banfield s Unspeakable Sentences Fludernik radically extends Banfield s model to accommodate evidence from conversational narrative non fictional prose and literary works from Chaucer to the present Fludernik s model subsumes earlier insights into the forms and functions of quotation and aligns them with discourse strategies observable in the oral language Drawing on a vast range of literature she provides an invaluable resource for researchers in the field and introduces English readers to extensive work on the subject in German as well as comparing the free indirect discourse features of German French and English This study effectively repositions the whole area between literature and linguistics opening up a new set of questions in narrative theory
