Men Beyond Desire David Greven, 2025-01-10 This book explores the construction of male sexuality in nineteenth century American literature and overturns longstanding views Far from desiring heterosexual sex and wishing to bond with other men through fraternity the male protagonists of classic American literature mainly want to be left alone Greven makes the claim that American men eschewing both marriage and male friendship strive to remain emotionally and sexually inviolate Examining the work of traditional authors Hawthorne Poe Melville Cooper Irving Stowe Greven discovers consistently resistant portrayals of male characters who defend their individuality through a lockdown on sexuality Objects of desire from both women and other men the inviolate males discussed in this study disrupt established gendered and sexual categories inspiring fresh analysis of the era and its literary depiction of American manhood This second edition of Men Beyond Desire 2005 expands the analysis of male sexuality to include discussions of developments in the field of masculinity studies It includes a new introduction that introduces the complementary figure of the victim monster and revisits the work of Leslie Fiedler and a new chapter that focuses on Melville's tale Bartleby the Scrivener 1856 Chapter 4 expands the analysis of the intersections among free love health reform and male sexuality in The Blithedale Romance 1852 and chapter 9 expands the discussion of Billy Budd Sailor to address questions of race and the role of the Handsome Sailor Actions

and Objects from Hobbes to Richardson Jonathan Kramnick, 2010-08-30 How do minds cause events in the world How does wanting to write a letter cause a person's hands to move across the page or believing something to be true cause a person to make a promise In Actions and Objects Jonathan Kramnick examines the literature and philosophy of action during the late seventeenth and early eighteenth centuries when philosophers and novelists poets and scientists were all concerned with the place of the mind in the world These writers asked whether belief desire and emotion were part of nature and thus subject to laws of cause and effect or in a special place outside the natural order Kramnick puts particular emphasis on those who tried to make actions compatible with external determination and to blur the boundary between mind and matter He follows a long tradition of examining the close relation between literary and philosophical writing during the period but fundamentally revises the terrain Rather than emphasizing psychological depth and interiority or asking how literary works were understood as true or fictional he situates literature alongside philosophy as jointly interested in discovering how minds work

Writing Desire Bertram Cohler, 2007-05-15 Exploring nearly sixty years of memoir and autobiography Writing Desire examines the changing identity of gay men writing within a historical context Distinguished scholar and psychoanalyst Bertram J Cohler has carefully selected a diverse group of ten men including historians activists journalists poets performance artists and bloggers whose life writing evokes the evolution of gay life in twentieth century America By contrasting the personal experience of these disparate writers Cohler illustrates the social transformations that these men helped shape Among Cohler's diverse subjects is Alan Helms whose journey from Indiana to New York's gay society represents the passage of men who came of age in the 1950s and 1960s when homosexuality was considered a hidden disease The liberating effects of Stonewall s aftermath are chronicled in the life of Arnie Kantrowitz the prototypical activist for gay rights in the 1970s and the founder the Gay and Lesbian Alliance against Defamation The artistic works of Tim Miller and Mark Doty evoke loss and shock during of the early stages of the AIDS epidemic in the 1980s Cohler rounds out this collective group portrait by looking at the newest generation of writers in the Internet age via the blog of BrYaN who did the previously unthinkable he outed himself to millions of people A compelling mix of social history and personal biography Writing Desire distills the experience of three generations of gay America Finalist LGBT Studies Lambda Literary Foundation
