Northern Lights Byron Rempel-Burkholder, Dora Dueck, 2010-03-18. Canada is known for its wild and diverse physical geography. But do Canadians have a spiritual geography, an identity uniquely shaped by their land, their history, their people? This first of its kind collection brings together writings from within the Christian heritage to help Canadians explore that question. The forty-six contributors include award-winning literary figures, religious and political leaders, and social activists from one end of Canada to the other. Their traditions range from evangelical to Catholic, mainline Protestant to Orthodox, Pentecostal to Mennonite. Some still have family connections beyond Canada's borders; others have ancestors who were here long before Europeans came. These writers do not analyze, define, or argue about Christianity in Canada. They simply showcase it through their memoir, poetry, fiction, or meditation, mapping into words something of what it means to be Christian in this country. The spiritual landscape they paint is diverse, inspiring, and provocative. It's a colourful dance of words, a wonderful Canadian celebration.

The Cambridge Companion to Canadian Literature Eva-Marie Kröller, 2004-02-05. This book offers a comprehensive and engaging introduction to major writers, genres, and topics in Canadian literature. Contributors pay attention to the social, political, and economic developments that have informed literary events. Broad surveys of fiction, drama, and poetry are complemented by chapters on Aboriginal writing, francophone writing, autobiography, literary criticism, writing by women, and the emergence of urban writing in a country traditionally defined by its regions. Also discussed are genres that have a special place in Canadian literature, such as nature writing, exploration and travel writing, and short fiction.

Reading the 21st Century Stan Persky, 2011. The first decade of the twenty-first century was noteworthy for war, terror, religious revival, economic collapse, and a technological revolution that prompted countless critical responses and gave rise to a paradox: writing flourished but reading declined. Reading the 21st Century investigates the urgent themes, major works, and crisis of reading in an era of instant communication. In wide-ranging and innovative criticism, Stan Persky examines international non-fiction and fiction to engage with both the triumphs and tensions of reading and writing today Evaluating works by established authors Philip Roth Orhan Pamuk J M Coetzee and Jos Saramago as well as emerging writers like Naomi Klein Javier Cercas and Chimamanda Adichie Persky also showcases a remarkable group of reporters Steve Coll Dexter Filkins and Rajiv Chandrasekaran who have written essential books about global issues An illuminating and accessible work about the present age Reading the 21st Century introduces new ways of thinking about the world s most significant cultural political and moral problems Sparrow Road Sheila
