Daniel P. Horan

The Divine Image Envisioning The Invisible God:

The Divine Image Ian Alexander McFarland, 2005 Theologian Ian McFarland claims that Christians have mainly misappropriated the image of God language for 2000 years and thereby missed a rich resource for our knowledge of God What then does it mean to say that we are made in God's image or that Christ is the very image or prototype of God Rather than referring to some germinal divine element in humans such as reason McFarland claims that the image of God in us tells us something about God and how we know God It tells us that God though not identical with us communicates Godself to us in creative love in a way that offers precious clues about God's transcendence immanence triune life self disclosure incarnation and intentions for human life Too we learn from Jesus something new about God Gathered as Christ's body the church too images God and sets us on a quest to discern the image of God in Christ's incarnate body McFarland's careful and exacting work builds from this kernel a powerful Christian vision of God's life and our own destiny in Christ A Pentecostal Political Theology for American Renewal Steven M. Studebaker, 2016-10-26 This book argues that Christians have a stake in the sustainability and success of core cultural values of the West in general and America in particular Steven M Studebaker considers Western and American decline from a theological and specifically Pentecostal perspective The volume proposes and develops a Pentecostal political theology that can be used to address and reframe Christian political identity in the United States Studebaker asserts that American Christians are currently not properly engaged in preventing America's decline or halting the shifts in its core values The problem he suggests is that American Christianity not only gives little thought to the state of the nation beyond a handful of moral issues like abortion but its popular political theologies lead Christians to think of themselves more as aliens than as citizens This book posits that the proposed Pentecostal political theology would help American Christians view themselves as citizens and better recognize their stake in the renewal of their nation The foundation of this proposed political theology is a pneumatological narrative of renewal a biblical narrative of the Spirit that begins with creation proceeds through Incarnation and Pentecost and culminates in the new creation and everlasting kingdom of God This narrative provides the foundation for a political theology that speaks to the issues of Christian political identity and encourages Christian political participation Jürgen Moltmann's Ethics of Hope Timothy Harvie, 2016-05-06 This book develops a thorough account of the sphere of human moral action in sustained dialogue with Jürgen Moltmann By examining God's role as promise giver particularly in the Christian understanding of resurrection this work describes the occupancy of both history and space in moral terms This leads to an understanding of Jesus' description of the kingdom of God to feature prominently in describing both the possibility and content of human moral action By offering an account of each of the main doctrines found in Moltmann's corpus the role of the future the Trinity the Holy Spirit and anthropology this book locates how each contributes to the understanding of ethics from a Christian perspective and subsequently applies these findings to the contemporary issue of poverty and global economics Humanity in God's

Image Claudia Welz,2016 A study which suggests human beings are created in the image of an invisible God an idea that can only be conceptualized in the imagination Defining Love Thomas Jay Oord,2010-06 Engages cutting edge scientific research on love and altruism to offer a definition of love that is scientifically theologically and philosophically adequate

The Dome of Eden Stephen H. Webb,2010-01-01 What would biology look like if it took the problem of natural evil seriously This book argues that biological descriptions of evolution are inherently moral just as the biblical story of creation has biological implications A complete account of evolution will therefore require theological input The Dome of Eden does not try to harmonize evolution and creation Harmonizers typically begin with Darwinism and then try to add just enough religion to make evolution more palatable or they begin with Genesis and pry open the creation account just wide enough to let in a little bit of evolution By contrast Stephen Webb provides a theory of how evolution and theology fit together and he argues that this kind of theory is required by the internal demands of both theology and biology The Dome of Eden also develops a theological account of evolution that is distinct from the intelligent design movement Webb shows how intelligent design properly discerns the inescapable dimension of purpose in nature but like Darwinism itself fails to make sense of the problem of natural evil Finally this book draws on the work of Karl Barth to advance a new reading of the Genesis narrative and the theology of Duns Scotus to provide the necessary metaphysical foundation for evolutionary thought The Iconic

Imagination Douglas Hedley,2016-02-25 Is it merely an accident of English etymology that imagination is cognate with image Despite the iconoclasm shared to a greater or lesser extent by all Abrahamic faiths theism tends to assert a link between beauty goodness and truth all of which are viewed as Divine attributes Douglas Hedley argues that religious ideas can be presented in a sensory form especially in aesthetic works Drawing explicitly on a Platonic metaphysics of the image as a bearer of transcendence The Iconic Imagination shows the singular capacity and power of images to represent the transcendent in the traditions of Christianity Judaism Hinduism and Islam In opposition to cold abstraction and narrow asceticism Hedley shows that the image furnishes a vision of the eternal through the visible and temporal The Doctrine of Creation Bruce Riley Ashford,Craig G. Bartholomew,2020-11-10 According to Bruce Ashford and Craig Bartholomew one of the best sources for regaining a robust biblical doctrine of creation is the recovery of Dutch neo Calvinism Tracing historical treatments and exploring theological themes Ashford and Bartholomew develop the Kuyperian tradition s rich resources on creation for systematic theology and the life of the church today All God's Creatures Daniel P.

Horan,2020-07-07 The predominant stewardship model of creation is the result of an intentional effort to correct approaches that reinforce human sovereignty and the resulting environmental degradation However as All God s Creatures argues the stewardship model actually does not offer a correction but rather reinscribes many of the very same pitfalls After close analysis of the stewardship model this book identifies scriptural theological and philosophical sources to support the adoption of a community of creation paradigm Drawing on postcolonial theory this book proposes the concept of planetarity as a framework for conceiving the relationship between human and nonhuman creation and the Creator in a new way This theoretical framework is grounded by a retrieval of the medieval Franciscan theological and philosophical tradition The result is what can be called a postcolonial Franciscan theology of creation imagined in terms of planetarity providing a constructive and nonanthropocentric response to the need for a new conceptualization of the doctrine of creation The Oxford Handbook of Systematic Theology John Webster, Kathryn Tanner, Iain Torrance, 2009-09-10 The Oxford Handbook of Systematic Theology brings together a set of original and authoritative accounts of all the major areas of current research in Christian systematic theology offering a thorough survey of the state of the discipline and of its prospects for those undertaking research and teaching in the field The Handbook engages in a comprehensive examination of themes and approaches guiding the reader through current debates and literatures in the context of the historical development of systematic theological reflection Organized thematically it treats in detail the full array of topics in systematic theology as well as questions of its sources and norms its relation to other theological and non theological fields of enquiry and some major trends in current work Each chapter provides an analysis of research and debate on its topic The focus is on doctrinal rather than historical questions and on major rather than ephemeral debates The aim is to stimulate readers to reach theological judgements on the basis of consideration of the range of opinion Drawn from Europe the UK and North America the authors are all leading practitioners of the discipline Readers will find expert guidance as well as creative suggestions about the future direction of the study of Christian doctrine
