The Dogs Bark Public People And Private Places:

Matisse in Morocco Jeff Koehler, 2025-06-03 The remarkable and little known story of the two groundbreaking winters that Henri Matisse spent painting in Morocco a fertile period that transformed his art and marked his work until the very end In winter of 1912 Henri Matisse forty two nearing mid career and yet to find lasting critical acceptance public admiration or financial security since exploding to the forefront of the avant garde in 1905 with his iconoclastic Fauve paintings was struggling Once the vanguard leader the Parisian avant garde now considered him pass His important early collectors including Gertrude and Leo Stein had stopped buying his work and were fully championing Picasso and he had exhibited little in the last few years In the face of Cubism that was now dominating the art scene Matisse needed to get away from Paris in order to advance his distinctive artistic vision Almost on a whim he went to Tangier Matisse had already been profoundly inspired by Islamic art and was primed for his arrival in the Moroccan city where such art was integrated into everyday life Despite the challenges of rain insomnia depression and finding models the sojourn was such a success he returned the following winter which would lead to even greater artistic triumph Matisse in Morocco tells the story of the artist s groundbreaking time in Tangier and how it altered Matisse s development as a painter and indelibly marked his work for the next four decades Through Koehler s research and travel we experience Matisse s time in Tangier the paintings and their subjects his relationships with his wife Am lie and his two important collectors and then come to understand the impact Morocco its light colors culture and artistic traditions had on his art From Landscape Viewed From a Window to Zorah on the Terrace from Kasbah Gate to the dream like tableau Moroccan Caf these works from Morocco are now recognized as some of the most significant and dazzling of Matisse s illustrious career

Writing Tangier in the Postcolonial Transition Michael K. Walonen, 2016-02-17 In his study of the Tangier expatriate community Michael K Walonen analyzes the representations of French and Spanish Colonial North Africa by Paul Bowles Jane Bowles William Burroughs Brion Gysin and Alfred Chester during the end of the colonial era and the earliest days of post independence The conceptualizations of space in these authors descriptions of Tangier Walonen shows share common components an attention to the transformative potential of the conflict sweeping the region a record of the power relations that divided space along lines of gender and ethnicity including the spatial impact of the widespread sexual commerce between Westerners and natives a vision of the Maghreb as a land that can be dominated or imposed on as a kind of frontier space an expression of anxieties about the specters of Cold War antagonisms and an embrace of the underlying logic of the market to the culture of the Maghreb Counterbalancing the depictions of Tangier by Westerners who sought to reconcile their nostalgia for the colonial order with their support of native demands for independent governance is Walonen's extended analysis of the contrasting sense of place found in the writings of native Moroccan authors such as Mohammed Choukri Tahar Ben Jelloun and Anouar Majid In its focus on Tangier and the larger Maghreb as a lived environment situated at a particular spatial and temporal crossroads Walonen's study makes an important contribution to the fields of urban transatlantic and postcolonial studies

The Southern Haunting of Truman Capote

Marie Rudisill, 2000-10-01 Like many Southern writers of the 1930s and 1940s who as a group created the richest most memorable body of regional literature in the history of American letters Truman Capote eventually journeyed northward As the years passed Capote's moorings to his Southern past grew weaker and weaker and he deliberately cut himself off from the people and places that provided fodder for much of his early fiction The Southern Haunting of Truman Capote is a thoughtful reflection on the literary origins of four of Capote's important early works A Christmas Memory The Grass Harp Children on Their Birthdays and Other Voices Other Rooms in light of the boyhood experiences that inspired them Marie Rudisill a younger sister of Capote's mother was the only one of her nephew's companions to have known him well his entire life Because of this close relationship she gained a unique perspective on her nephew's development as one of America's leading novelists Written at the encouragement of Capote's longtime editor Joe Fox The Southern Haunting of Truman Capote provides a useful point of view for understanding Capote's work On Lightness in World Literature B. Scott, 2013-11-07

Despite the apparent ubiquity of light literature and despite the greater cultural prestige it has been afforded in recent decades very little has been written on the adjective that actually defines this category What precisely does it signify and what are some of the key strategies by which the effect of lightness is achieved within literary discourse In this original and engaging study Bede Scott explores the aesthetic quality of lightness as demonstrated by a diverse range of narratives spanning four different centuries and five different countries In each case he focuses on a specific type of lightness whether it be the refined triviality of Sei Shonagon's Pillow Book the ludic tendencies of Joaquim Maria Machado de Assis Posthumous Memoirs of Br's Cubas or the exhilarating and primitive vitality of Voltaire's Candide By bringing together such disparate sources Scott makes a strong case for the universality of this particular aesthetic value while also subjecting its underlying structural features to close critical scrutiny Tangier Josh Shoemake, 2013-06-26

An edge city poised at the northernmost tip of Africa but just nine miles from Europe Tangier is more than a destination it is an escape The Interzone as William Burroughs called it has attracted spies outlaws outcasts and writers for centuries men and women breaking through artistic borders The results were some of the most incendiary and influential books of our time and the list of outlaw originals is long stretching from Ibn Battuta and Alexandre Dumas to Twain and Wharton and from the darkly brilliant Beats of Bowles Kerouac Gysin and Ginsberg to the great Moroccan novelists Mohamed Choukri Mohammed Mrabet and Tahar Ben Jelloun
