The Dong People Of China A Hidden Civilization:

The Dong People of China Gail Rossi,1991 A photographic introduction to one of China's least known ethnic groups

The Kam People of China D. Norman Geary,2003 The Kam are still essentially a hidden people very little has been published in English about them This book aims to fill a gap in the English literature by providing a comprehensive introduction to Kam culture The conclusion looks to the future for the Kam people and their culture Life in a Kam Village in Southwest China, 1930-1949 Chaoquan Ou,2007-10-31 Although this unique insider's account of minority life in China is clearly a book in itself it is also the sequel to the much acclaimed The Kam People of China Geary Ou and others 2003 It describes the hitherto scarcely researched culture of people from Xiangye village in an untravelled corner of Guizhou province Southwest China in the 20 years leading up to Liberation in 1949 Xiangye is a Kam Dong nationality village so the book highlights Kam culture of the 1930s and 1940s It is a fascinating and unparalleled study also offering exceptionally clear details of many aspects of material culture and social customs for example the work of rice farming cotton production and cooking beautifully illustrated with line drawings and photographs that should appeal to anyone interested in the Kam people China or in ethnology generally The author grew up in Xiangye and later became Professor of Anthropology at a university in Qinghai province The manuscript was first written in Chinese with the intention of having it translated into English for an outside readership Architecture, Ritual and Cosmology in China Xuemei Li,2023-05-31 Drawing on the author's extensive fieldwork in the Dong areas in southwest China this book presents a detailed picture of the Dong's buildings and techniques with new insights into the Dong's cosmology and rituals of everyday life meshed with the architecture and the symbolic meanings It examines how the buildings and techniques of the Dong are ordered and influenced by the local culture and context The timber bridges and drum towers are the Dong's most prominent architectural monuments Usually built elaborately with multiple roofs these bridges and drum towers were designed and maintained by the local carpenters who also built the village suspended houses in an oral tradition carried down from father to son or to apprentice They were funded entirely by the local people and the bridges tend to be built in places without great pressure of traffic or another bridge already existing close by Why does such great expense go into the Dong's buildings with elaboration How were they built And what do they mean to their users and builders This book is an anthropological study on the Dong's architecture and technique and it aims to contribute a discourse on the interdisciplinary research area It is suitable for graduate and postgraduate readers Ethnic Groups of North, East, and Central Asia James B.
