Emergent Architectural Territories in East Asian Cities Peter G. Rowe, 2012-12-12 This book presents current developments in city planning and architecture in East Asia It describes the many neighborhoods in which the region's large cities are modernizing or expanding with innovative structures and advanced construction projects It combines a typology of public structures with an analysis of the compositional principles of urban environments Thus it finally connects new developments in city planning with new developments in architecture and considers examples such as CCTV Lujiazui Kansai Airport Xinyi Taipei 101 Chek Lap Kok Cheonggyecheon Roppongi Hills Da Shanzi Shahe Omotesando and Marina Bay from a new perspective And the new perspectives presented here are not just theoretical some forty full page bird's eye views prepared especially for this volume show these future urban settings in highly detailed images of breathtaking beauty The result is a rich portrait of the coming together of global and local influences in non Western countries With its systematic approach this presentation by one of the leading international experts in the field is a reference work on a topic of central importance to the world of construction today Mountainous Human Settlements in Guizhou Zhou Zhengxu,2018 The research presented in this book examines Guizhou ethnic minority settlements located in the eastern part of Yunnan Guizhou Plateau in the southwest of China The specificity and the relevance of these settlements therefore refers to a combination of anthropological architectural environmental issues Guizhou is a province of ethnic groups since thousands of years engaged in farming or semi nomadic production These ethnic minority settlements were self contained and balanced communities which gradually developed their own specific and unique culture of farming settling and inhabiting As many precious and valuable historical human settlements still standing around the world whose architecture and urban features are not easily replicable for culture skills social and economic conditions the Guizhou ethnic minority settlements are tangible architectural heritage including intangible values experiencing high risks due to their unavoidable physical decay demography urban development pressure The Forbidden City Geremie R. Barmé, Geremie Barmé,2011-06-01 The Forbidden City Zijin Cheng lying at the heart of Beijing formed the hub of the Celestial Empire for five centuries Over the past century it has led a reduced life as the refuge for a deposed emperor as well as a heritage museum for monarchist republican and socialist citizens and it has been celebrated and excoriated as a symbol of all that was magnificent and terrible in dynastic China s legacy Beijing Lillian M. Li, Alison Dray-Novey, Haili Kong,2008-04-29 Chronicles the history of Beijing from its earliest days to the twenty first century discussing how economic growth as well as preparations for the 2008 Olympics have affected the city Changing Urban Renewal Policies in China Giulia C. Romano,2020-01-03 This is a very rich monograph based on impressive fieldwork in China which demonstrates excellent qualitative and ethnographic research skills research integrity and cultural perceptiveness in the analysis This book will make a great contribution to the literature on policy transfer and and policy mobilities and on urban politics in contemporary China as it offers a rich understanding of the nitty gritty practices of transferring and learning from abroad Claire Colomb Professor of Urban Studies and Planning at the University College London UK This book explores the concept of Careful Urban Renewal a concept of urban renewal that originated in Berlin in the 1980s and that was proposed to Yangzhou a Chinese city of the wealthy province of Jiangsu in the early 2000s It sets out to understand whether knowledge and ideas originating in a specific setting can be transferred to another locality thousands of miles away from the point of origin and have the chance to change the policies and the practices of the destination city The book shows that foreign ideas can inspire ambitious reforms of the policies of a single city but that there also exist multiple challenges to policy learning and to the rooting of new ideas in local practices To explore these challenges this book develops an analysis of the micro dynamics of policy transfer showing that there exist multiple hierarchies to which a Chinese city can be subjected intermittently opening or closing windows for policy learning China's Literary and Cultural Scenes at the Turn of the 21st Century Jie

Lu,2013-10-18 China's literary and cultural production at the turn of the twenty first century is marked by heterogeneity plurality and diversity Given its complexity the literary cultural production of this period perhaps can be understood most productively as a response to a global modernity that has touched and transformed all aspects of contemporary Chinese reality The eleven essays in this book offer an introduction to some of the most important works published at the turn of the twenty first century In combining textual analysis of specific works with theoretical insights and in locating the texts in their sociocultural and socioeconomic contexts the essays explore key theoretical issues and intellectual concerns of the time They collectively draw a broad contour of new developments major trends and radical changes capturing the intellectual and cultural Zeitgeist of the age All in all these essays offer new theoretical approaches to and critical perspectives on contemporary Chinese literature and culture National Spatial Planning in China Kai Wang,2024-10-26 This open access book conducts systematic and comprehensive research on urban spatial development problems in China from territorial perspectives based on the scientific theory on human settlements environment By integrating the theories of globalization spatial planning state intervention and beyond the author systematically sorts out both domestic and foreign urban spatial planning theories at national levels Moreover population industries natural resources ecological environments and management mechanisms involved during the urbanization and urban development process were analyzed in order to propose the theory and methods of national spatial planning This book is recommended for researchers and practitioners in the fields of human settlement environment urban and regional planning graduate students as well as teachers of urban planning geography architecture regional science and other related majors in universities and public officials Seeking a Future for the Past Philipp Demgenski,2024-02-19 Seeking a Future for the Past Space Power and Heritage in a Chinese City examines the complexities and changing sociopolitical dynamics of urban renewal in contemporary China Drawing on ten years of ethnographic fieldwork in the northeastern Chinese city of Qingdao the book tells the story of the slow fragmented and contentious transformation of Dabaodao an area in the city's former colonial center from a place of common homes occupied by the urban poor into a showcase of architectural heritage and site for tourism and consumption The ethnography provides a nuanced account of the diverse experiences and views of a range of groups involved in shaping and being shaped by the urban renewal process local residents migrant workers preservationists planners and government officials foregrounding the voices and experiences of marginal groups such as migrants in the city Unpacking structural reasons for urban developmental impasses it paints a nuanced local picture of urban governance and political practice in contemporary urban China Seeking a Future for the Past also weighs the positives and negatives of heritage preservation and scrutinizes the meanings and effects of preservation on diverse social actors By zeroing in on the seemingly contradictory yet coexisting processes of urban stagnation and urban destruction the book reveals the multifaceted challenges that China faces in reforming its urbanization practices and ultimately in managing its urban future Asian
