Schmitt,2006-11-22 Knowledge from Plato

onwards has been considered in relation to justified belief Current debate has centred around the nature of the justification and whether justified belief can be considered an internal or extenal matter Epistemological internalists argue that the subject must be able to reflect upon a belief to complete the process of justification The externalists on the other hand claim that it is only necessary to consider whether the belief is reliably formed and argue that the ability to know by reflection is not required for a justified belief In the historical section of this book the three most important epistemologists Plato Descartes and Hume as well as the ancient epistemologies of the stoics Academics and Pyrrhonians are considered In reconsidering the history of epistemology the author is led to argue against the view that internalism is historically dominant His critique of internalism is then developed into a sustained argument against many of its forms and he goes on to defend an externalist reliabilist epistemology

Learning Leadership from Dogs Aditya Simha,2025-02-04 The book provides a succinct and enjoyable experience of learning about leadership to multiple groups of readers by using the world of dogs as an aid to understanding leadership concepts The book will be interesting for multiple sets of readers e g undergraduates casual dog lovers etc They will find it to be a practical and interesting book There is no other book on the market that approaches leadership by using the context of dogs as an explanatory canvas This familiar canine context will help in making these leadership concepts easy to comprehend The reader will also learn a lot about several breeds of dogs across the world including breeds such as the Bulldog Dachshund German Shepherd Mastiff and Otterhound among others
