Dandaneau, 2001-01-24 For use as a primary or supplemental text for Introductory Sociology Social Theory and senior capstone courses An unabashedly critical text for those who want to connect their students personal experiences with what is happening at the societal global level today The emphasis is on teaching the sociological imagination i e to instill in students a unique and radical form of consciousness that will allow them to conceptualize today s chief global and individual problems and the relations between them Dandaneau adopts a perspective like that of C Wright Mills and argues that the sociological imagination is the most needed type of consciousness in the world today The author encourages students to think through a wide variety of topics from ecological crises to panic disorder from hyperreality to the sociology of disability from Generation X to Generation Next As Dandaneau says The point is not so much to learn the truth but to learn how to think about essential issues and troubles as sociologists themselves try to do to become a participant with others in facing down the challenges of our present epoch It is an elegant and profound meditation on thinking sociologically Written with a rare panache one seldom finds in sociology it s the product of a view of contemporary social life that is profoundly troubling What this adds up to is a distinctive sociological and moral voice Peter Kivisto Augustana College Rock Island Illinois The EPIC Generation: Experiential, Participative, Image-Driven, Connected Jose A. Brettell, 2016-04-04 Most recently Americans have become familiar with the term second generation as it's applied to children of immigrants who now find themselves citizens of a nation built on the notion of assimilation This common worldwide experience is the topic of study in Identity and the Second Generation These children test and explore the definition of citizenship and their cultural identity through the outlets provided by the Internet social media and local community support groups All these factors complicate the ideas of boundaries and borders of citizenship and even of home Indeed the second generation is a global community and endeavors to make itself a home regardless of state or citizenship This book explores the social worlds of the children of immigrants Based on rich ethnographic research the contributors illustrate how these young people the so-called second generation construct and negotiate their lives Ultimately the driving question is profoundly important on a universal level How do these young people construct an identity and a sense of belonging for themselves and how do they deal with processes of inclusion and exclusion
