Social Exclusion And The Remaking Of Social Networks:

Social Exclusion and the Remaking of Social Networks Robert Stratthdee, 2017-03-02 How do young people make effective transitions into work This question has occupied the minds of parents and young people and also researchers and policy makers as they face up to challenges presented by globalization and technological change The foremost governmental response to this challenge has been to expand training systems to improve young people s qualifications However it is clear that for many this response has failed to deliver the promised rewards and the legitimization of this strategy has been exhausted This book explores developments in training and in social welfare to show that third way administrations in England and New Zealand are reconnecting young people to the labour market through creating social networks Social Exclusion and the Remaking of Social Networks describes how networks are being remade by the state in commodified forms

Losing Paradise Gail Holst-Warhaft, Tammo S. Steenhuis, 2010 This is a unique interdisciplinary study of potential solutions to the problem of diminished water supplies in the Eastern Mediterranean The work demonstrates the need for integrated legal social and scientific management systems which are appropriate to each country s stage of development The suggested solutions are not only applicable to the Eastern Mediterranean but also serve as a paradigm for the rest of the world as it faces similar issues of water shortage
