Social Gerontology An Introduction To The Dynamics Of Aging:

Social Gerontology David L. Decker, 1980 Aging in Society Matilda White Riley, Beth B. Hess, Kathleen Bond, 2025-07-01 Originally published in 1983 Aging in Society consists of a selection of papers that were prepared by various authors as background papers for the 1981 White House Conference on Aging The papers provided an overview of knowledge on various aspects of aging in the United States at the time Topics covered include aging and the family economic aspects of an aging population recent trends in the geographical distribution of the elderly population and mortality and health differentials by sex Today it can be read in its historical context Communication and Aging Jon F. Nussbaum, Loretta L. Pecchioni, James D. Robinson, Teresa L. Thompson, 2013-05-13 This text employs a communication perspective to examine the aging process and the ability of individuals to adapt successfully to aging It continues the groundbreaking work of the first edition emphasizing a life span approach toward understanding the social interaction that occurs during later life The edition provides a comprehensive update on the existing and emerging research within communication and aging studies and considers such topics as notions of successful aging positive and negative stereotypes toward older adults and health communication issues It raises awareness of the barriers facing elderly people in conversation and the importance such conversations have in elderly people's lives The impact of nonrelational processes such as hearing loss are considered as they impact relationships with others and affect the ability to age successfully The book is organized into 14 chapters Each chapter is written so that the reader is presented with an exhaustive review of the pertinent and recent literature from the social sciences As in the first edition when the literature is empirically based the communicative ramifications are then discussed Readers of this volume will gain greater understanding of the importance of their communicative relationships and how significant they remain across the life span Developed for students in communication psychology nursing social gerontology sociology and related areas Communication and Aging provides important insights on communication to all who are affected by the aging process Activities With Developmentally Disabled Elderly and Older Adults M Jean Keller, 2013-01-11 Learn how to effectively plan and deliver activities for the growing number of older people with developmental disabilities Activities With Developmentally Disabled Elderly and Older Adults is an innovative new book that aims to stimulate interest and continued support for recreation program development and implementation among developmental disability and aging service systems Particularly useful for human service professionals working in the areas of developmental disabilities and aging this practical volume will also be of interest to researchers educators and students interested in recreation services with older adults who are developmentally disabled The older adult population with developmental disabilities DD continues to grow rapidly yet little is known about their needs and interests In this book a wide variety of authors share innovative and creative strategies for programming activities with older adults with DD They focus on diverse issues services and programs from researchers educators and practitioners represented varied disciplines Each chapter demonstrates the diversity that makes serving a growing number of older individuals with DD both challenging and rewarding Among the wealth of information you will find in Activities With Developmentally Disabled Elderly and Older Adults are discussions on the characteristics of this population and challenge activity professionals to seek innovative program strategies to appropriately serve individuals with DD companionship friendship physical functioning and retirement adjustment issues that confront older adults who have lived with lifelong disabling conditions how a continuum of recreational activities is needed to provide meaningful experiences to elders with developmental disabilities how to design therapeutic recreation programs survey instruments that can be used to gain information about the needs of elderly persons with DD how to find specific programs and services that are age appropriate and foster creative expression and positive self esteem a rationale for the development of integrated recreation programs DHHS Publication No. (OHDS). ,1983

Cognitive and Behavioral Performance Factors in Atypical Aging Mark L. Howe,Michael J. Stones,Charles J.

Brainerd,2012-12-06 It is a truism that as we age there are a number of underlying physiological changes conspiring to alter our level of behavioral and cognitive function ing Despite the inherent interrelatedness of these behavioral and cognitive changes all too often the papers we read confine themselves to specific isolated components of the developing process Although exceptions nat urally exist we believe that these exceptions should become rule Although an integrated approach is important in all areas of adult devel opment it is perhaps particularly germane in the study of atypical aging Here changes in overall functioning can occur in rapid succession with the synchrony of decline between different subprocesses making it difficult to factor changes in one process from changes in another For example because changes in cognitive functioning co occur with other dramatic changes in motoric response capacities it is unclear how one can effec tively study changes in the ability to cognize independent of changes in the very mechanisms ability to execute motor sequences so often used to index cognitive performance Active Ageing in Europe Dragana Avramov,Miroslava Maskova,Council of Europe,2003-01-01 Los cambios demogr ficos en Europa con el aumento de la poblaci n anciana y la disminuci n de la poblaci n joven y trabajadora suponen un cambio en las pol ticas sociales fomentando un uso del tiempo libre en las personas mayores m s participativo
