Socio Historicocultural Psychology Lev Semenovich Vygotsky Bibliographical Notes:

Critical Perspectives on Activity Peter Sawchuk, Newton Duarte, Mohamed Elhammoumi, 2006-01-16 The last two decades have seen an international explosion of interest in theories of mind culture and activity This unique collection is the first to explicitly reach back to the tradition s original critical impulse within which the writings of Karl Marx played such a central role Each author pushes this impulse further to address leading contemporary questions It includes a diverse array of international scholars working from the fields of education psychology philosophy sociology anthropology communications industrial relations and business studies Broken into three main sections education work and everyday life each chapter builds from an analysis of practice and learning as social cultural participation and historical change in relation to the concept of activity contradiction and struggle This book offers insight into an important complex of overlapping practices and institutions to shed light on broader debates over such matters as the knowledge economy and lifelong learning

Psychologies in Revolution Hannah Proctor, 2020-01-13 This book situates the work of the Soviet psychologist and neurologist Alexander Luria 1902 1977 in its historical context and explores the romantic approach to scientific writing developed in his case histories Luria consistently asserted that human consciousness was formed by cultural and historical experience He described psychology as the science of social history and his ideas about subjectivity cognition and mental health have a history of their own Lines of mutual influence existed between Luria and his colleagues on the other side of the iron curtain but Psychologies in Revolution also discusses Luria s research in relation to Soviet history from the October Revolution of 1917 through the collectivisation of agriculture and Stalinist purges of the 1930s to the Second World War and finally the relative stability of the Brezhnev era foregrounding the often marginalised people with whom Luria s clinical work brought him into contact By historicising science and by focusing on a theoretical approach which itself emphasised the centrality of social and political factors for understanding human subjectivity the book also seeks to contribute to current debates in the medical humanities

The Best for Our Children Maria de la Luz Reyes, John J. Halcon, 2001 This watershed volume brings together the foremost leading authorities and scholars lending their individual voices to a single urgent issue literacy for Latino students In a departure from traditional paradigms Latinos examine their own lived experiences in U S schools and offer sound theories born from positions of expertise and first hand knowledge as researchers and educators Their discussions and critical perspectives on literacy for Latino students in grades K 12 touch on the important topics of Encouraging biliteracy in the classroom Constructing theories of possibility Promoting critically literate youth Organizing teaching and learning to students potential Linking literacy to lived experiences As insiders in Spanish speaking communities that are often maligned for their children s alleged failure in schools these authors offer hope for children s academic potential as well as evidence showing that integration of native language and culture in supportive learning environments can lead to success in literacy in two languages Contributors Alma Flor Ada Hector H Alvarez Mar a V
