The Print Connoisseur, 1922 The Connoisseur, 1937 Creative Ventures Paul Weiss, 1992 Paul Weiss systematically maps creativity in its many manifestations creative ventures in the arts in mathematics and the sciences in moral development in social movements and in government A truly creative work arises from a combination of factors Weiss argues that among these factors are two kinds of ultimates one of which he calls the Dunamis an absolute ground of being of sufficient complexity to warrant an appendix of its own The other ultimate is divided into five conditions voluminous rational stratifying affiliating and coordinating each of which is primarily operative upon one of the five kinds of creative ventures Weiss traces the ways these ultimates are combined with the creator's individual being and with the obdurate material at hand as the creator strives toward a creative ideal The result is the rare truly creative venture sustaining human existence

Chaos and Cosmos Karen Ann Lang, 2006 Writing in 1940 the prominent German art historian Erwin Panofsky asked How then is it possible to build up art history as a respectable scholarly discipline if its objects come into being by an irrational and subjective process In Chaos and Cosmos Karen Lang addresses the power of art to resist the pressures of the transcendental vantage point history Uncovering the intellectual and cultural richness of the early years of academic art history in Germany the period from the 1880s to 1940 she explores various attempts within art history to transform aesthetic phenomena chaos into the cosmos of a systematic unified field of inquiry Lang starts by examining Panofsky's approach to aesthetic phenomena in his early theoretical essays alongside Ernst Cassirer's contemporaneous publications on the substance and function of scientific concepts and on Einstein's theory of relativity She then turns to the subject of aesthetic judgment through a rereading of Kantian subjectivity and Kant's uneasy legacy in art history From here Lang considers the different organizing theories of symbolic form proposed by Aby Warburg and Cassirer as well as Goethe's inspiration for both Alois Riegl's notion of age value and Walter Benjamin's conceptions of the aura concluding with an extended examination of objectivity and the figure of the art connoisseur Extensively illustrated with works of art from the Enlightenment to the present day this venturesome book illuminates an intellectual legacy that has profoundly shaped the study of the history of art in ways that have until now been largely unacknowledged Addressing the interplay of chaos and cosmos in terms of history art history philosophy and epistemology Lang traces shifts in point of view in art history and the way these shifts change aesthetic objects into historical objects and even objects of knowledge

Margaret and Frances Macdonald known simply as The Four The Genealogy of Aesthetics Ekbert Faas,2002-08-15 Is it body or spirit that makes us appreciate beauty and create art The distinguished Canadian critic Ekbert Faas argues that with occasional exceptions like Montaigne and Mandeville the mainstream of western thinking about beauty from Plato onwards has overemphasised the spirit or even execrated the body and sexuality as inimical to the aesthetic disposition The Genealogy of Aesthetics redresses this imbalance via a radical re reading of seminal thinkers like Plato Augustine Kant Hegel Marx Heidegger and Derrida Professor Faas attacks both the traditional and postmodern consensus and offers a new pro sensualist aesthetics heavily influenced by Nietzsche that draws on contemporary neo Darwinian cognitive science A work of both polemic and considerable learning The Genealogy of Aesthetics marks a radical new departure in thinking about art of interest to all serious students of the humanities and cognitive sciences which no future work in this field can afford to ignore

The Forest and the City Cecil C. Konijnendijk,2008-05-20 Amsterdamse Bos Bois de Boulogne Epping Forest Grunewald Zoni nwood throughout history cities in Europe and elsewhere have developed close relationships with nearby woodland areas In some cases cities have even developed and in some cases are promoting a distinct forest identity This book introduces the rich heritage of these city forests as cultural landscapes and shows that cities and forests can be mutually beneficial Essential reading for students and researchers interested in urban sustainability and urban forestry this book also has much wider appeal For with city forests playing an increasingly important role in local government sustainability programs it provides an important reference for those involved in urban planning and decision making public affairs and administration and even public health From providers of livelihoods to healthy recreational environments and from places of inspiration and learning to a source of conflict the book presents examples of city forests from around the world These cases clearly illustrate how the social and cultural development of towns and forests has often gone hand in hand They also reveal how better understanding of city forests as distinct cultural and social phenomena can help to strengthen synergies both between cities and forests and between urban society and nature

The Temple of Fame and Friendship Annette Richards,2022-09-20 This book examines the renowned portrait collection assembled by C P E Bach J S Bach s second son One of the most celebrated German composers of the eighteenth century C P E Bach spent decades assembling an extensive portrait collection of some four hundred music related items from oil paintings to engraved prints

The collection was dispersed after Bach's death in 1788 but with Annette Richards's painstaking reconstruction the portraits once again present a vivid panorama of music history and culture reanimating the sensibility and humor of Bach's time. Far more than a mere multitude of faces, Richards argues the collection was a major part of the composer's work that sought to establish music as an object of aesthetic, philosophical, and historical study. The Temple of Fame and Friendship brings C. P. E. Bach's collection to life, giving readers a sense of what it was like for visitors to tour the portrait gallery and experience music in rooms thick with the faces of friends, colleagues, and forebears. She uses the collection to analyze the portraiture aspect of Bach's music, engaging with the influential theories of Swiss physiognomist Johann Caspar Lavater. She also explores the collection as a mode of cultivating and preserving friendship, connecting this to the culture of remembrance that resonates in Bach's domestic music. Richards shows how the new music historiography of the late eighteenth century, rich in anecdote, memoir, and verbal portrait, was deeply indebted to portrait collecting and its negotiation between presence and detachment, fact and feeling.

The Culture of Craft Peter Dormer, 1997-06-15 Dormer presents a series of lively, clearly argued discussions about the relevance of handicraft in a world whose aesthetics and design are largely determined by technology. The question of computer-aided design in craft is also addressed.

Life Like Dolls A. F. Robertson, 2004 Provides a unique window into the lives of the women who collect and love these dolls. P. 4 of cover.

Topics discussed include the travel writer as pilgrim, Impressionism, and cultural authority, art hostesses, and women's high cultural authority and career authority, and the public in high culture. Evaluating Second Language Education J. Charles Alderson, Alan Beretta, 1992-02-27 Counter Responsibility for planning language teaching programs now carries with it a strong element of accountability. Evaluation of the whole process of course design, development, and implementation is therefore a necessary area of activity for course designers, language planners, and researchers. This book brings together accounts of recent work in this increasingly important field and will be a valuable resource both for those already engaged in evaluation and for those in training. Part One presents a review of the literature covering past developments in the wider field of educational evaluation as well as specifically in second language education. Part Two contains a series of eight original case studies written by scholars involved in evaluations in widely divergent settings. The focus in each case is on how the evaluator addresses the difficulties central to each study, and the findings are also included. The final Part Three provides practical guidance for evaluators, offering suggestions about how to set up and carry out evaluations in any given setting. Publisher's website.
