The Politics of Survival Joseph A. Bagnall,1997 Global Political Demography Achim Goerres,Pieter Vanhuysse,2021-08-10 This open access book draws the big picture of how population change interplays with politics across the world from 1990 to 2040 Leading social scientists from a wide range of disciplines discuss for the first time all major political and policy aspects of population change as they play out differently in each major world region North and South America Sub Saharan Africa and the MENA region Western and East Central Europe Russia Belarus and Ukraine East Asia Southeast Asia subcontinental India Pakistan and Bangladesh Australia and New Zealand These macro regional analyses are completed by cross cutting global analyses of migration religion and poverty and age profiles and intra state conflicts From all angles this book shows how strongly contextualized the political management and the political consequences of population change are While long term population ageing and short term migration fluctuations present structural conditions political actors play a key role in mis managing manipulating and under planning population change which in turn determines how citizens in different groups react Books in Print Supplement ,2002 The Kennedy Option Joseph A. Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications, 1991 Selected U.S. Government Publications, 1972 International Capital Flows and the Lucas Paradox Muhammad Akhtaruzzaman, 2019-06-21 This book offers a comprehensive analysis of the debates on international capital flows and presents a new evidence based answer to the long standing question of why capital doesn't tend to flow from rich to poor countries as predicted by standard neoclassical theory a puzzle known as the Lucas paradox Further the book reviews alternative approaches to conventional estimates of the marginal product of capital MPK and considers whether these estimates actually help us understand observed international capital flows A rigorous quantitative approach is subsequently used to provide clear empirical evidence on the determinants of capital flows across borders The findings of this empirical analysis suggest that generous economic policies on capital account convertibility are more influential than differences in institutional quality in terms of determining international capital flows In closing the relative importance of various types of political risk e.g. expropriation and corruption is examined After determining that expropriation risk has one of the greatest effects on foreign direct investment FDI the book proposes an appealingly intuitive explanation for the lack of FDI flows to many capital scarce developing countries
