Social Work Practice With Asian Americans:

Social Work Practice with Asian Americans Sharlene Maeda Furuto, Renuka Biswas, Douglas Chung, Kenji Murase, Fariyal Ross-Sheriff, 1992-04-30 Insight into the profound differences between the value systems of Asian American and mainstream American culture is provided by this volume by means of a comprehensive treatment of social work theory and practice with an ethnic minority. The contributors discuss both historical and contemporary experiences Asian Americans have had in adapting to and integrating into American society and explore intervention issues with specific client populations such as Vietnamese refugee women and Korean American elderly.

Social Work Practice with the Asian American Elderly Namkee G Choi, 2018-10-24 This fascinating book addresses the cultures and concerns of five major ethnic groups: Chinese, Japanese, Korean, Asian Indian, and Vietnamese. Social Work Practice with the Asian American Elderly examines the diverse needs of this rapidly growing population. It suggests interventions and service delivery models that are culturally sensitive and appropriate for these clients, many of whom are first generation immigrants still closely linked with their cultures of origin. This comprehensive book serves as a timely resource for both researchers and practitioners concerned with this neglected yet rapidly growing segment of the elderly population. Social Work Practice with the Asian American Elderly offers both quantitative and qualitative research on essential topics including migratory grief, assimilation, depression, elderly nutrition, programs, social support.

Social Work Practice with Immigrants and Refugees Pallassana R. Balgopal, 2000-11-01 The United States has always been a land of immigrants and a destination for refugees. With the increase in immigration in the late 1980s when the number of refugees entering the United States nearly doubled as well the number of clients needing social work services rose dramatically. Social Work Practice with Immigrants and Refugees takes an ecological systems perspective on working with these two distinct groups, paying special attention to the relationship between individuals and their social environment. Focusing on the major immigrant groups who have come to the United States since the 1965 Immigration Act, the book contains chapters on immigrants and refugees from Asia, Latin America, Europe, and Africa. Pallassana R. Balgopal and contributors explore ideas, concepts, and skills that will help human service workers, social workers, helping professionals, and policymakers deepen their understanding of cultural attitudes toward newly arrived immigrants and refugees, thus strengthening their ability to better serve an ethnically diverse clientele.

Radical Social Work and Asian Americans Lauren Kiyo Higa, 2021 This study investigates the practices that radical Asian American social workers undertake in response to the dilemmas that arise between their political beliefs and the social work profession. Based on interviews with ten activist social workers selected through snowball and criterion sampling, this project asks: How are radical Asian American social workers shaping their practice based on a reimagining of the field? This study responds to the paucity of social work literature on Asian American practitioners, especially as related to the social work profession's heightened contradictions in the time of neoliberalism. It remains clear that there is much for social work to learn from Asian Americans.

who have more radical agendas for change Heeding Robert Mullaly and Eric Keating s 1991 call that radical social workers work both inside and outside the welfare state p 69 I argue that radical Asian American social work encompasses three modes of practice infrapolitics and insurgency healing work as political practice and political and community organizing Within the welfare state interviewees engage in subversive practices or infrapolitics and insurgency to help protect and empower themselves and the people with whom they work Interviewees also take part in healing work as political practice by invoking family history and radical imaginations in a typically ahistorical space Their organizing work takes place outside traditional service organizations and involves organizing social work colleagues as well as addressing social and political forces that affect their communities lives Ultimately the work of radical Asian American social workers lead us to identify the ways white supremacy have shaped the contemporary field s lens and refuse to comply with practices we know harm communities our own or otherwise Instead we will offer critiques of the current structures and begin building alternate modes of practice to empower and survive pending revolution
