Social Science And Government Policies And Problems:

Social Science and Government A. B. Cherns, W. I. Jenkins, R. Sinclair, 2013-10-11 Tavistock Press was established as a co-operative venture between the Tavistock Institute and Routledge Kegan Paul RKP in the 1950s to produce a series of major contributions across the social sciences. This volume is part of a 2001 reissue of a selection of those important works which have since gone out of print or are difficult to locate. Published by Routledge 112 volumes in total are being brought together under the name The International Behavioural and Social Sciences Library Classics from the Tavistock Press. Reproduced here in facsimile, this volume was originally published in 1972 and is available individually. The collection is also available in a number of themed mini-sets of between 5 and 13 volumes or as a complete collection. Whitehall and the Labour Problem in late-Victorian and Edwardian Britain Roger Davidson, 2024-09-18 Most interpretations of late Victorian and Edwardian social and economic trends have relied heavily upon the industrial labour statistics published by Whitehall. This book, originally published in 1985, incorporates a critical examination of the human resources, motivation, and statistical techniques which generate that data base. It focuses on the production structure and output of the official statistics relating to a range of imperfections in the labour market and industrial relations characterised by contemporary social observers, administrators, and policy makers as the labour problem. This study makes a significant contribution to the recent debate over the nature and motivation of late Victorian and Edwardian social policy. It provides a case study with which to assess the hypotheses put forward by social scientists as to the relationship between social statistics and policy. Thirdly, in examining the motivation of official statisticians, the book will illuminate the changing role of the expert in British government growth since 1800. This book, with its wide range of primary sources, will be valuable to students of the history of late Victorian and Edwardian Britain and to the development of British industrial relations and the welfare state. A

Anyone who believes in the power of social science to inform better policy making should take his criticisms seriously. Sue Duncan, Former Chief Government Social Researcher and Head of the Government Social Research Service. David Walker has written an unofficial summary of ESRC's achievements and struggles. He brings to the task long experience of the organisation and of the key players, a great familiarity with the literature, and a sceptical nature The result is stimulating instructive contentious and sometimes even infuriating David Rhind Chair of the Nuffield Foundation What is the role of the state in distributing research money How do arm s length funding agencies relate to public policy and business This original study looks at the main social science funding agency in the UK which was established 50 years ago It examines how funding decisions are related to power The critical and policy aspects of successful research bids are discussed Walker asks the tricky question why has social science research not achieved a more salient role in state policy formation and management strategy is the funding agency responsible Insightful engrossing and highly original the book will be required reading for anyone who has written or will write a Social Science research bid and more widely for students of power knowledge and culture Social Studies for Secondary Schools Alan J.
