Socialization Of The Chinese Into Malays:

Social Media and Political Communities in Malaysia James Chin, Pauline Pooi Yin Leong, 2024-08-13 By examining the political discourse and social interactions that occur within six different political communities in Malaysia this volume sheds light on how theories of political communication and social media play out on a granular level Malaysia with its interesting amalgam of democratic politics and intractable racial and religious divides is ripe for a study of how online communication within different political and social groups actually works With chapters on Malay Islamic Chinese Indian and Christian online communities along with those of Sabah and Sarawak this volume will be of interest to anyone seeking a deeper understanding of how political interaction and digital discourse function on the ground in this important country in Southeast Asia Janet Steele Professor of Media and Public Affairs and International Affairs George Washington University Social media has emerged as a definitive tool for the production and dissemination of sociopolitical narratives that engender sweeping tides of change and transformation in our world today This expertly and ably curated collection of essays helps us better understand this phenomenon as it has unfolded in Malaysia where politics has undergone a sea change in recent years and it is essential reading for those of us who are interested in the trajectory of Malaysian society and politics Joseph Chinyong Liow Tan Kah Kee Chair in Comparative and International Politics Nanyang Technological University This book is relevant not only for readers interested in Malaysian politics The mid-sized Southeast Asian country offers a compelling case study for anyone thinking about online spaces and political participation in electoral democracies Among regimes with autocratic tendencies the Malaysian state was among the earliest adopters of an open internet which for two decades seemed to do nothing to weaken the hegemony of its ruling party More recently in an age marked by democratic backsliding around the world the country has shown potential to buck the trend The backdrop of these developments is one of the world's most culturally plural environments This welcome volume looks at how various ethnic communities communicating in each of the country's major languages have turned online spaces into the dominant arena for political contestation Cherian George author Contentious Journalism and the Internet Towards Democratic Discourse in Malaysia and Singapore 2006

Pluralism in Malaysia Nagata, 2024-09-02 Malaysian Chinese Lee Hock Guan, Leo Suryadinata, 2012 This collection of papers examines a variety of topics on the Chinese in Malaysia the nature of Malaysian multi-ethnic society and the position of the ethnic Chinese the conflation between ethnicity and religion the 8 March 2008 election and its impact on the community the similarities and dissimilarities of the Chinese positions in East and West Malaysia the new developments in the economy and the media and education in the past few decades under the New Economic Policy which have major bearings on the 8 March 2008 election and the post-election Malaysian Chinese community Chinese Overseas Chee-Beng Tan, 2004-03-01 This book examines issues of cultural change and identity construction of Chinese overseas as well as other important issues such as Chinese and non-Chinese relations and cultural and economic performance It offers a perspective of understanding Chinese overseas in nation states and beyond in a global context which the author describes as the Chinese ethnological field The author s many years of research on cultural change and Chinese ethnicity in Southeast Asia enables him to describe vividly the effects of localization the process of becoming local and identifying with the locals on Chinese ethnicity and cultural identities This informative and theoretically interesting book enables readers to have a deeper understanding of the issue of Chinese and Chinese ness in the diaspora

Ethnic Chinese Business In Asia: History, Culture And Business Enterprise Ching-hwang Yen,2013-09-13 This unique volume provides a broad introduction to the ethnic Chinese business in Asia with focus on the ethnic Chinese in East and Southeast Asia The growing interest in ethnic Chinese business reflects its importance in these two regional economies and its relations with China s economy the world s new economic powerhouse It examines the nature and characteristics of the ethnic Chinese business such as business networks family business and conglomerates concepts of xinyong and guanxi and entrepreneurship and management It also examines the input of history and culture in the formation and operation of ethnic Chinese business The second half of the book is devoted to detailed regional studies covering the Chinese in Thailand Malaysia and Singapore Indonesia the Philippines Hong Kong and Taiwan This book provides an excellent introduction for tertiary students in business schools and for prospective businessmen who wish to do business with the Chinese in East and Southeast Asia

Transnational Chinese Diaspora in Southeast Asia Yos Santasombat,2022-10-13 This book examines contemporary Chinese transnational mobile practices with special focuses on the ethnographic exploration of the lives experiences views and narratives of the Chinese mobile subjects in three ASEAN countries Malaysia Singapore and Thailand and their interactions with the ethnic Chinese communities in these countries This book is based on recent and updated original ethnographic research carried out by leading scholars in China and Southeast Asia The work addresses questions of integration and social embeddedness interrogating the possibility of whether the transnational Chinese diaspora can be simultaneously embedded into two or more nation states and geopolitical spheres It contends that in moving in the transnational space the Chinese diaspora may experience a strong yearning for a cultural home that may not be in one space for bicultural or multicultural diaspora It also asks whether the transnational Chinese diaspora is motivated to negotiate cultural membership and social belonging in a new country Shedding new light on the ways in which the transnational diaspora negotiates cultural membership to adapt to situational requirements this volume is relevant to scholars researching in China studies anthropology international relations and in Asian Southeast and East Asian regional studies

Sinicization and the Rise of China Peter J. Katzenstein, 2013-03-01 China's rise and processes of Sinicization suggest that recombination of new and old elements rather than a total rupture with or return to the past is China's likely future. In both space and time, civilizational politics offers the broadest social context. It is of particular salience in China. Reification of civilizations into simple categories such as East and West is widespread in everyday politics and common in policy and academic writings. This book's emphasis on Sinicization as a specific instance of civilizational processes counters political and intellectual shortcuts and corrects the mistakes to which they often lead. Sinicization illustrates that like other civilizations, China has always been open to variegated social and political processes that have brought together many different kinds of peoples adhering to very different kinds of practices. This book tries to avoid the reifications and celebrations that mark much of the contemporary public debate about China's rise. It highlights instead complex processes and political practices bridging East and West that avoid easy shortcuts. The analytical perspectives of this book are laid out in Katzenstein's opening and concluding chapters. They are explored in six outstanding case studies written by widely known authors which cover questions of security, political economy and culture. Featuring an exceptional line-up and representing a diversity of theoretical views within one integrative perspective, this work will be of interest to all scholars and students of international relations, sociology and political science.
