Introduction to Sociology (Chapter 1)

What is sociology?

- Social groups
A social group is simply a certain amount people who interact with each other on a regular basis. It establishes social relationships among social beings. Groups are units of society, having all characteristics of the society, except for the fact that.
Ex: Families, companies, friend groups, clubs etc.
- Sociological Imagination (C.W.Mills) and how we use it
Sociological imagination is the ability to understand the dynamics between larger social forces and people's personal lives. We use it every day to solve problems.
Ex: Students raising their hands in class, tipping waiters, etc.

Sociology as a Science

- Scientific Method

The scientific method involves developing and testing theories about the social world based on factual evidence. It is also a systematic, organized, series of steps that ensures maximum objectivity and consistency in researching a problem. Objective approach at studying and researching a subject. It must be testable!

- Empirical Evidence

Empirical evidence is information collected by observation or experimentation. Scientists record and analyze this data. The process is a central part of the scientific method, leading to the proving or disproving of a hypothesis and our better understanding of the world as a result.

- What is theory?
 - Durkheim's theory of suicide
 - 1. Functionalism
