The Politics of Knowledge David L. Szanton, 2004-09-20 The usefulness and political implications of Area Studies programs are currently debated within the Academy and the Administration where they are often treated as one homogenous and stagnant domain of scholarship The essays in this volume document the various fields distinctive character and internal heterogeneity as well as the dynamism resulting from their evolving engagements with funders US and international politics and domestic constituencies The authors were chosen for their long standing interest in the intellectual evolution of their fields They describe the origins and histories of US based Area Studies programs highlighting their complex generative and sometimes contentious relationships with the social science and humanities disciplines and their diverse contributions to the regions of the world with which they are concerned

The Politics of East European Area Studies Gareth Dale, Katalin Miklossy, Dieter Segert, 2017-09-13 Following the end of the Cold War and European Union enlargement in what sense does Eastern Europe continue to exist as a meaningful geo political concept In addressing this question contributors to this volume Alex Cistelean Robert Bideleux Katalin Mikl ssy and Dieter Segert tease out the implications for an Area Studies approach to the region They examine its contradictory situation within discourses of orientalisation on one hand posited as the underdeveloped pendant to its western neighbours on the other largely Christian by religion and an integral part of a continent that dominated the world They uncover the roots of area studies in the colonial paradigm by which great powers promote the creation of predictive problem solving knowledge that is immediately apprehendable for decision makers helping them to take advantage of a region s resources and strategic position but which tends to homogenise the region s geography and history For critical inquiry they argue the challenge is to delineate transparently the reasons underlying Eastern Europe s construction as an area of study to identify the epistemological interests of motivated organisations such as funding agencies and political bodies and to counter the ongoing orientalism of Western perspectives toward the East This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Contemporary Central and Eastern Europe

The Rebirth of Area Studies Zoran Milutinovic, 2019-12-12 Area Studies became increasingly common after World War II as a means of responding to perceived external threats from the Soviet Union and China After the Cold War and in the face of increasingly rapid globalisation it seemed inevitable that Area Studies institutionally and intellectually would slowly degenerate But this has not been the case and there has recently been a resurgence of interest in it as an effective and positive research paradigm Responding to this renewed interest this book brings together an esteemed group of contributors at the cutting edge of the field to consider the state of Area Studies today and its prospects for the future The Rebirth of Area Studies demonstrates that numerous aspects of the research paradigm in fact recommend it as well suited for the present moment and the challenges posed by globalisation both as a means to overcome disciplinary limitations and to increase self reflexivity Area Studies research is grounded in place specific knowledge yet by definition it transcends nation as the basic unit of analysis and thus empowers comparative and trans national approaches This book outlines a new critical Area Studies for the 21st century self reflexive aware of its limitations and conscious of its origins in geopolitical strategic or ideological considerations and is essential reading for historians geographers and political scientists

Racializing Humankind: Interdisciplinary Perspectives on Practices of 'Race' and Racism Julian T. D. Gärtner, Malin Wilckens, 2022-02-14 Debates on historical and contemporary racism have recently become the subject of increasing public interest The Black Lives Matter movement as well as the Covid 19 pandemic have underlined the importance and urgent necessity of examining racism in society from a multidisciplinary angle The many facets of racism in the past and present also challenge the way we deal with history historical culture in a globalized world Rather than focusing on the history of ideas and its discursive development this volume will focus on the practices of actors It examines how and which practices especially practices of comparing are constitutive in the construction of race and manifestations of racism This edited volume brings together interdisciplinary contributions from history sociology political science American studies literary studies and media studies An important focus lies on the social asymmetries created by racialization including inequalities and violence The chapters foreground historical and contemporary practices of racism and discuss their appearance in different epochs and locations

Middle East Studies for the New Millennium Seteney Shami, Cynthia Miller-Idriss, 2016-11-15 Few world regions today are of more pressing social and political interest than the Middle East hardly a day has passed in the last decade without events there making global news Understanding the region has never been more important yet the field of Middle East studies in the United States is in flux enmeshed in ongoing controversies about the relationship between knowledge and power the role of the federal government at universities and ways of knowing other cultures and places Assembling a wide range of scholars immersed in the transformations of their disciplines and the study of this world region Middle East Studies for the New Millennium explores the big picture issues affecting the field from the geopolitics of knowledge production to structural changes in the university to broader political and public contexts Tracing the development of the field from the early days of the American university to the Islamophobia of the present day this book explores Middle East studies as a discipline and more generally its impact on the social sciences and academia Topics include how different disciplines engage with Middle East scholars how American universities teach Middle East studies and related fields and the relationship between scholarship and U S Arab relations among others Middle East Studies for the New Millennium presents a comprehensive authoritative overview of how this crucial field of academic inquiry came to be and where it is going next

Observing the Observer Zahid Bukhari, Sulayman Nyang, 2012-01-01 THE collection of papers in this volume documents the study of Islam in American Universities Over the last few decades the United States has seen significant growth in the study of Islam and Islamic societies in institutions of higher learning fueled primarily by events including economic relations of the U S with Muslim countries migration of Muslims into the country conversion of Americans to Islam U S interests in Arab oil resources involvement of Muslims in the American public square and the tragic events of 9 11 Although there is increasing recognition that the study of Islam and the role of Muslims is strategically essential in a climate of global integration multiculturalism and political turmoil nevertheless the state of Islamic Studies in America is far from satisfactory The issue needs to be addressed particularly as the need for intelligent debate and understanding is continuously stifled by what some have termed an Islam industry run primarily by fly by journalists think tank pundits and cut and paste experts      Methodology and Research Practice in Southeast Asian Studies M. Huotari,J. Rüländ,J. Schlehe,2014-07-29 This book addresses the question of how to ground research practice in area specific yet globally entangled contexts such as Global Southeast Asia It offers a fruitful debate between various approaches to Southeast Asia Studies while taking into consideration the area specific contexts of research practice cross cutting methodological issues      Scholars and Prophets Roland Lardinois,2017-07-14 The book deals with the long and rich scholarship on India in France since the beginning of 19th Century with particular reference to the work of Louis Dumont It considers the works of scholars and the essayists poets or esotericists who published on India and shows that Dumont has been influenced by both groups The book draws on archives and empirical material      Becoming a Social Science Researcher Bruce Parrott,2023-03-28 Becoming a Social Science Researcher is designed to help aspiring social scientists including credentialed scholars understand the formidable complexities of the research process Instead of explaining specific research techniques it concentrates on the philosophical sociological and psychological dimensions of social research These dimensions have received little coverage in guides written for social science researchers but they are arguably even more important than particular analytical techniques Truly sophisticated social science scholarship requires that the researcher understand the intellectual and social contexts in which they collect and interpret information While social science training in US graduate schools has become more systematic over the past two decades with numerous publications aimed at instruction training and guidance still fall short in addressing the fundamental needs of this field      Decentring and Diversifying Southeast Asian Studies Goh Beng Lan,2011 This admirable book contains fascinating autobiographical accounts by some of Southeast Asia s most eminent scholars concerning their struggle to find their own voices in interpreting the region to which they belong The book should be indispensable to anyone interested in thinking about knowledge production and its politics in a postcolonial world In the views of these scholarly Southeast Asians we are made to see in very personal terms the link between the global crisis in the social sciences and the need to find remedies for it that are neither Eurocentric nor parochially anti Western Professor Alexander Woodside Professor of Chinese and Southeast Asian History University of British Columbia Vancouver Canada This book marks the shift of the centre of Southeast Asian Studies from the West to Southeast Asia The insights provided by the authors are not simply explanations of colonial and postcolonial experiences of major Southeast Asian scholars Rather the book provides a unique set of intellectual genealogies that show that distinctions between humanities and social sciences are less important than the development of distinctive local and regional traditions and practices of scholarship Goh Beng Lans introduction frames the collection through her subtle deconstruction of international discourses on Southeast Asia This introduction then allows the reader to view the different generations of Southeast Asian scholars in their social political and academic contexts The end result is a combined view of the state of the art of Southeast Asian Studies a view that is greater than the sum of its national parts Professor Adrian Vickers Chair of Southeast Asian Studies University of Sydney and Director Australian Centre for Asian Art and Archaeology The collection represents a coming of age of scholars from Southeast Asia What we hear is not bluster that comes from a wounded pride or doctrinal certainties but a quiet confidence that acknowledges the multiple currents in which their scholarship has been formed and a willingness to engage the perspective of the other both within and without The reflexivity in this volume sets the stage for scholars from the region to develop perspectives and concepts to address the challenges of the new configuration of the Asia being ushered in by ASEAN Professor Prasenjit Duara Raffles Professor of Humanities and Director of Research Humanities and Social Sciences National University of Singapore     Reorienting the Middle East Dale Hudson, Alia Yunis, 2024-01-16 Stories of desert landscapes cutting edge production facilities and lavish festivals often dominate narratives about film and digital media on the Arabian Peninsula However there is a more complicated history that reflects long standing interconnections between the Persian Gulf Arabian Sea and Indian Ocean Just as these waters are fluid spaces so too is the flow of film and digital media between cultures in East Africa Europe North Africa South Asia Southwest Asia and Southeast Asia Reorienting the Middle East examines past and contemporary aspects of film and digital media in the Gulf that might not otherwise be apparent in dominant frameworks Contributors consider oil companies that brought film exhibition to this area in the 1930s the first Indian film produced on the Arabian Peninsula in the late 1970s blackness in Iranian films the role of Western funding in reshaping stories Dubai s emergence in global film production uses of online platforms for performance art the development of film festivals and cinemas and short films made by citizens and migrants that turn a lens on racism sexism national identity and other rarely discussed social issues Reorienting the Middle East offers new methods to analyze the often neglected littoral spaces between nation states and regions and to understand the role of film and digital media in shaping dialogue between area studies and film and media studies Readers will find new pathways to rethink the limitations of dominant categories and frameworks in both fields     Commitment and Complicity in Cultural Theory and Practice B. Firat, S. De Mul, S. Van Wichelen, Sarah De Mul, Sonja Van Wichelen, 2009-05-21 An international line up of scholars examines the role of the intellectual in the twenty first century looking at the gap between contemporary cultural theory and cultural practice and asking whether knowledge and methodologies in the humanities can intervene in everyday politics and vice versa     Language, Capitalism, Colonialism Monica Heller, Bonnie McElhinny, 2017-10-25 Providing an original approach to the study of language by linking it to the political and economic contexts of colonialism and capitalism Heller and McElhinny reinterpret sociolinguistics for a twenty first century audience They map out a critical history of how language serves as a terrain for producing and reproducing social inequalities The book organized chronologically and beginning in the period of colonial expansion in the sixteenth century covers the development of the modern nation state and then the fascist communist and universalist responses to the inequities such nations created It then moves through the two World Wars and the Cold War that followed as well as the shift to liberal democracy the welfare state and decolonization in the 1960s ending with the contemporary period characterized by a globalized economy and neoliberal politics since the 1980s Throughout the authors ask how ideas about language get shaped and by whom unevenly across sites and periods offering new perspectives on how to think about language that will both excite and incite further research for years to come

Working Knowledge Joel Isaac, 2012-06-11 The human sciences in the English speaking world have been in a state of crisis since the Second World War The battle between champions of hard core scientific standards and supporters of a more humanistic interpretive approach has been fought to a stalemate Joel Isaac seeks to throw these contemporary disputes into much needed historical relief In Working Knowledge he explores how influential thinkers in the twentieth century's middle decades understood the relations among science knowledge and the empirical study of human affairs For a number of these thinkers questions about what kinds of knowledge the human sciences could produce did not rest on grand ideological gestures toward science and objectivity but were linked to the ways in which knowledge was created and taught in laboratories and seminar rooms Isaac places special emphasis on the practical local manifestations of their complex theoretical ideas In the case of Percy Williams Bridgman Talcott Parsons B F Skinner W V O Quine and Thomas Kuhn the institutional milieu in which they constructed their models of scientific practice was Harvard University Isaac delineates the role the Harvard complex played in fostering connections between epistemological discourse and the practice of science Operating alongside but apart from traditional departments were special seminars interfaculty discussion groups and non professionalized societies and teaching programs that shaped thinking in sociology psychology anthropology philosophy science studies and management science In tracing this culture of inquiry in the human sciences Isaac offers intellectual history at its most expansive
