Westerns Victoria Lamont, 2016-08 At every turn in the development of what we now know as the western women writers have been instrumental in its formation Yet the myth that the western is male authored persists Westerns A Women s History debunks this myth once and for all by recovering the women writers of popular westerns who were active during the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries when the western genre as we now know it emerged Victoria Lamont offers detailed studies of some of the many women who helped shape the western Their novels bear the classic hallmarks of the western cowboys schoolmarm gun violence lynchings cattle branding while also placing female characters at the center of their western adventures and improvising with western conventions in surprising and ingenious ways In Emma Ghent Curtis s The Administratrix a widow disguises herself as a cowboy and infiltrates the cowboy gang responsible for lynching her husband Muriel Newhall s pulp serial character Sheriff Minnie comes to the rescue of a steady stream of defenseless female victims B M Bower Katharine Newlin Burt and Frances McElrath use cattle branding as a metaphor for their feminist critiques of patriarchy In addition to recovering the work of these and other women authors of popular westerns Lamont uses original archival analysis of the western fiction publishing scene to overturn the long standing myth of the western as a male dominated genre

Knowing Victims Rebecca Stringer, 2014-06-20

Knowing Victims explores the theme of victimhood in contemporary feminism and politics. It focuses on popular and scholarly constructions of feminism as victim feminism, an ideology of passive victimhood that denies women's agency and provides the first comprehensive analysis of the debate about this ideology which has unfolded among feminists since the 1980s. The book critically examines a movement away from the language of victimhood across a wide array of discourses and the neoliberal replacement of the concept of structural oppression with the concept of personal responsibility. In derogating the notion of victim, neoliberalism promotes a conception of victimization as subjective rather than social, a state of mind rather than a worldly situation. Drawing upon Nietzsche, Lyotard, rape crisis feminism, and feminist philosophy, Stringer situates feminist politicizations of rape, interpersonal violence, economic inequality, and welfare reform as key sites of resistance to the victim-blaming logic of neoliberalism. She suggests that although recent feminist critiques of victim feminism have critically diagnosed the anti-victim movement, they have not positively defended victim politics. Stringer argues that a conception of the victim as an agentic bearer of knowledge and an understanding of resentment as a generative force for social change provides a potent counter to the negative construction of victimhood characteristic of the neoliberal era. This accessible and insightful analysis of feminism, neoliberalism, and the social construction of victimhood will be of great interest to researchers and students in the disciplines of gender and women's studies, psychology, sociology, politics, and philosophy.

A Song for Europe Robert Deam Tobin, 2017-07-05. The world's largest and longest running song competition, the Eurovision Song Contest, is a significant and extremely popular media event throughout the continent and abroad. The Contest is broadcast live in over 30 countries with over 100 million viewers annually. Established in 1956 as a televised spectacle to unify postwar Western Europe through music, the Contest features singers who represent a participating nation with a new popular song. Viewers vote by phone for their favourite performance, though they cannot vote for their own country's entry. This process alone reveals much about national identities and identifications, as voting patterns expose deep-seated alliances and animosities among participating countries. Here, an international group of scholars from a variety of disciplines, including musicology, communications, history, sociology, English, and German studies, explore how the contest sheds light on issues of European politics, national and European identity, race, gender, and sexuality, and the aesthetics of camp. For some countries, participation in Eurovision has been simultaneously an assertion of modernity and a claim to membership in Europe, and the West. Eurovision is sometimes regarded as a low-brow, camp spectacle of little aesthetic or intellectual value. The essays in this collection often contradict this assumption, demonstrating that the contest has actually been a significant force and forecaster for social, cultural, and political transformations in postwar Europe.

Custer's Last Stand Brian W. Dippie, 1994-01-01. Defeat and death at the Little Bighorn gave General George Custer and his Seventh Cavalry a kind of immortality. In Custer's Last Stand, Brian W. Dippie investigates the body of legend surrounding that battle on a bloody Sunday in 1876. His survey of the event in poems, novels, paintings, movies, jokes, and other ephemera amounts to a unique reflection on the national character

The A to Z of Westerns in Cinema Paul Varner, 2009-09-28 When the earliest filmgoers watched The Great Train Robbery in 1903 many of them shrieked in terror at the very last clip when one of the outlaws turns directly toward the camera and fires a gun seemingly directly at the audience The puff of smoke was sudden and it was hand colored so that it looked real Today we can look back at that primitive movie and see all the elements of what would evolve into the Western genre Perhaps it is the Western s early origins The Great Train Robbery was the first narrative commercial movie or its formulaic yet entertaining structure that has made the Western so popular Whatever the case may be with the recent success of films like 3 10 to Yuma and The Assassination of Jesse James by the Coward Robert Ford the Western appears to be in no danger of disappearing The story of the western is told in The A to Z of Westerns in Cinema through a chronology a bibliography and an introductory essay However it is the hundreds of cross referenced dictionary entries on cinematographers composers producers films like Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid Dances With Wolves The Good The Bad and the Ugly High Noon The Magnificent Seven The Searchers Tombstone and Unforgiven such actors as Gene Autry Kirk Douglas Clint Eastwood Henry Fonda James Stewart and John Wayne and directors like John Ford and Sergio Leone that will have you reaching for this book again and again U.S. Army Area Handbook for Thailand American University (Washington, D.C.). Westerns Alvin H. Marill,2011-06-01 Westerns have featured prominently in films almost since motion pictures were first produced at the end of the nineteenth century and when televisions invaded American homes in the late 1940s and early 50s Western programs filled the small screen landscape Throughout the 1950s and well into the 1960s these shows dominated television with such long running successes as Bonanza Wagon Train and Maverick And though the genre has fallen on hard times over the years it has never died as Hollywood continues to produce films mini series and shows that keep the west alive In Television Westerns Six Decades of Sagebrush Sheriffs Scalawags and Sidewinders Alvin H Marill looks at the genre as it was represented from the beginning of television from the twenty year run of Gunsmoke to the brutal revisionist take of Deadwood This volume encompasses all manifestations of the Western including such series as Rawhide The Virginian and The Wild Wild West as well as movies of the week mini series failed pilots animated programs documentaries and even Western themed episodes of non Western series that provided their own spin on the genre The Twenty-First-Century Western Douglas Brode,Shea T. Brode,2019-12-12 Focusing on twenty first century Western films including all major releases since the turn of the century the essays in this volume cover a broad range of aesthetic and thematic aspects explored in these films including gender and race As diverse contributors focus on the individual subgenres of the traditional Western the gunfighter the Cavalry vs Native American conflict the role of women in Westerns etc they share an understanding of the twenty first century Western may be understood as a genre in itself They argue that the films discussed here reimagine certain aspects of the more conventional Western and often reverse the ideology contained within them while employing certain forms and clichés that have become synonymous internationally with Westerns The result is a contemporary sensibility that might be referred to as the postmodern Western American Film in the Crisis of

The Popular and the Sacred in Music Antti-Ville Kärjä, 2021-11-28 Music as the form of art whose name derives from ancient myths is often thought of as pure symbolic expression and associated with transcendence Music is also a universal phenomenon and thus a profound marker of humanity These features make music a sphere of activity where sacred and popular qualities intersect and amalgamate In an era characterised by postsecular and postcolonial processes of religious change re enchantment and alternative spiritualities the intersections of the popular and the sacred in music have become increasingly multifarious In the book the cultural dynamics at stake are approached by stressing the extended and multiple dimensions of the sacred and the popular hence challenging conventional taken for granted and rigid conceptualisations of both popular music and sacred music At issue are the cultural politics of labelling music as either popular or sacred and the disciplinary and theoretical implications of such labelling Instead of focussing on specific genres of popular music or types of religious music consideration centres on interrogating musical situations where a distinction between the popular and the sacred is misleading futile and even impossible The topic is discussed in relation to a diversity of belief systems and different repertoires of music including classical folk and jazz by considering such themes as origin myths autonomy ingenuity and stardom authenticity moral ambiguity subcultural sensibilities and political ideologies
