The Soviet Past in the Post-Socialist Present Melanie Ilic, Dalia Leinarte, 2015-07-03 This collection examines practical and ethical issues inherent in the application of oral history and memory studies to research about the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe since the collapse of the Soviet bloc Case studies highlight the importance of ethical good practice including the reflexive interrogation of the interviewer and researcher and aspects of gender and national identity Researchers use oral history to analyze present day recollections of the Soviet past thereby extending our understanding beyond archival records official rhetoric and popular mythology Oral history explores individual life stories but this has sometimes resulted in rather incomplete incoherent inconsistent or illogical narratives Oral history therefore presents the researcher with a number of methodological and ethical dilemmas including the interpretation of silence in biographical accounts This collection links the discussion of oral history ethics with that of memory studies Memories are shaped by factors that may be simultaneously both consecutive and disrupted In written accounts and responses to interview questions respondents sometimes display nostalgia for the Soviet past or conversely may seek to de mythologize the realities of Soviet rule Case studies explore what to do when interview subjects and memoirists consciously sub consciously or unconsciously forget aspects of their own past or themselves seek to take control of the research process Post-Colonial English Drama Bruce King, 1993-02-12 Post Colonial English Drama is the first critical survey of contemporary Commonwealth drama Besides essays on such individual dramatists as Wole Soyinka Derek Walcott David Williamson Louis Nowra Athol Fugard George Walker Sharon Pollock and Judith Thompson there are surveys of the dramatic literature and developments in the theatre in Australia Canada India New Zealand South Africa Papua New Guinea Ghana Nigeria Jamaica and Trinidad Canadian woman dramatists and the new radical South African theatre are also among the topics The German Perfect R. Musan, 2002-07-31 This book provides an extensive account of perfect constructions in German of its numerous meaning effects and of its interaction with temporal adverbials and temporal subclauses By doing this it takes the semantics of the whole German tense system into account provides analyses of several temporal adverbials and their intricate behavior and offers new ideas concerning the semantics of temporal subclauses Although one of the main goals of the book is to integrate the results of the study into a formal semantic framework it also considers many pragmatic factors as well as aspects concerning German syntax The book will be of interest to scholars and advanced students interested in issues regarding tense aspect temporal adverbials and temporal subclauses The Post-Racial Limits of Memorialization Alfred Frankowski, 2015-11-09 The Post Racial Limits of Memorialization Toward a Political Sense of Mourning attempts to show how post racial discourse in general and post racial memory specifically operates as a context through which the memorialization of anti black violence and the production of new forms of this violence are connected Alfred Frankowski argues that aside from being symbolically meaningful the post racial context requires that memorialization of anti black violence in the past produces memory as a type of forgetting By challenging many of tenants of the critical turn in political philosophy and aesthetics he argues against a politics of reconciliation and for a political sense of mourning that amplifies the universality of violence embedded in our contemporary sensibility He argues for a sense of mourning that requires that we deepen our understanding of how remembrance and resistance to oppression remain linked and necessitates a fluid and active reconfiguration relative to the context in which this oppression exists Domestic Commerce ,1943 Transitions from Nazism to Socialism Dr Julie Deering-Kraft,2013-12-10 This study examines transitions from Nazism to socialism in Brandenburg between 1945 and 1952 It explores the grassroots responses and their relative implications within the context of both punitive and rehabilitative measures implemented by the Soviet Military Administration SMAD and the communist Socialist Unity Party of Germany SED The doctoral study is based on archival and oral history sources and addresses two main research questions First in what ways did people at the grassroots attempt to challenge the imposition of punitive measures and did their responses have any effect on the manner in which these policies were implemented at a grassroots level These punitive measures were designed to remove remnants of Nazism and included punitive Soviet practices Soviet NKVD camps and denazification and sequestering Second to what extent did grassroots Brandenburgers participate in political organisations which were designed to integrate East Germans during the rehabilitative stage and what impact did these responses have on the post war transition This study focuses on the National Democratic Party and the Society for German Soviet Friendship as well as examining wider factors which may have impeded and facilitated the processes of post war transitions Two main arguments are proposed First the imposition of wide ranging punitive measures often posed an existential threat at a grassroots level and therefore at times elicited grassroots actions albeit severely restricted by practical and political constraints In turn these grassroots responses could occasionally have some local impact and somewhat affect the manner in which policies were implemented at a grassroots level in Brandenburg Second it is argued that the rehabilitative stage despite some challenges generally provided a favourable system for grassroots integration in which the needs of the policy makers and a significant proportion of grassroots individuals somewhat converged eventually contributing to the partial stabilisation of the emerging East German socialist state Copyright remains with the author Dr Julie Deering Kraft Citations Deering Kraft JN 2013 Transitions from Nazism to Socialism Grassroots Responses to Punitive and Rehabilitative Measures in Brandenburg 1945 1952 Doctoral thesis PhD UCL University College London Available at <http://discovery.ucl.ac.uk/1416290> The Power of the Story Vincent Joos,Martin Munro,John Ribó,2023-04-14 A cross

Cameroon stands as a remarkable example of nation building in the aftermath of European domination Split between the French and British empires after World War I it experienced a unique drive for self determination at the turn of the 1960s culminating in both independence from European power and the reunification of two of its divided territories This book investigates the influence of foreign policy on nation building in West Africa in the context of both the Cold War and European integration Shedding fresh light on the challenges of bridging the political economic and linguistic divide that France and Britain had left Melanie Torrent explores the evolution of a nation charting both Cameroon s importance in Franco British relations and Cameroon s use of bilateral and multilateral diplomacy in asserting its independence This work should be essential reading for students of African studies International Relations and the post colonial world The Encyclopedia of Confucianism Xinzhong Yao, 2015-05-11 The Encyclopedia the first of its kind introduces Confucianism as a whole with 1 235 entries giving full information on its history doctrines schools rituals sacred places and terminology and on the adaptation transformation and new thinking taking place in China and other Eastern Asian countries An indispensable source for further study and research for students and scholars      Performing Memories Gabriele Biotti, 2021-04-26 What is memory today How can it be approached Why does the contemporary world seem to be more and more haunted by different types of memories still asking for elaboration Which artistic experiences have explored and defined memory in meaningful ways How do technologies and the media have changed it These are just some of the questions developed in this collection of essays analysing memory and memory shapes which explores the different ways in which past time and its elaboration have been and still are elaborated discussed written or filmed and contested but also shared By gathering together scholars from different fields of investigation this book explores the cultural social and artistic tensions in representing the past and the present in understanding our legacies and in approaching historical time and experience Through the analysis of different representations of memory and the investigation of literature anthropology myth and storytelling a space of theories and discourses about the symbolic and cultural spaces of memory representation is developed      Cattle and People Catarina Ginja, Elizabeth Wright, 2022-05-01 This volume originates in a conference session that took place at the 2018 International Council of Archaeozoology conference in Ankara Turkey entitled Humans and Cattle Interdisciplinary Perspectives to an Ancient Relationship The aim of the session was to bring together zooarchaeologists and their colleagues from various other research fields working on human cattle interactions over time The contributions in this volume reflect well the breadth of work being undertaken on the ancient relationship between humans and cattle across the continents of Europe Africa and Asia and from the late Pleistocene to postmedieval period Almost all involve the study of archaeological cattle remains and use different zooarchaeological methods but the combination of these approaches with that of ethnography isotopes and genetics is also featured Author Interview      The Routledge Research Companion to Shakespeare and Classical Literature Sean Keilen, Nick Moschovakis, 2017-03-31 In this wide ranging and ambitiously conceived Research Companion contributors explore Shakespeare's relationship to the classic in two broad senses The essays analyze Shakespeare's specific debts to classical works and weigh his classicism's likeness and unlikeness to that of others in his time they also evaluate the effects of that classical influence to assess the extent to which it is connected with whatever qualities still make Shakespeare himself a classic arguably the classic of modern world literature and drama The first sense of the classic which the volume addresses is the classical culture of Latin and Greek reading translation and imitation Education in the canon of pagan classics bound Shakespeare together with other writers in what was the dominant tradition of English and European poetry and drama up through the nineteenth and even well into the twentieth century Second and no less central is the idea of classics as such that of books whose perceived value exceeding that of most in their era justifies their protection against historical and cultural change The volume's organizing insight is that as Shakespeare was made a classic in this second antiquarian sense his work's reception has more and more come to resemble that of classics in the first sense of ancient texts subject to labored critical study by masses of professional interpreters who are needed to mediate their meaning simply because of the texts growing remoteness from ordinary life language and consciousness The volume presents overviews and argumentative essays about the presence of Latin and Greek literature in Shakespeare's writing They coexist in the volume with thought pieces on the uses of the classical as a historical and pedagogical category and with practical essays on the place of ancient classics in today's Shakespearean classrooms Drawn with the Sword James M. McPherson, 1996 An issue oriented discussion of the Civil War by one of the leading living historians on the subject Explores questions such as who freed the slaves and why the North won Concludes with a final essay What's the Matter with History Remembering Paul Benjamin L. White, 2014-08-15 Who was Paul of Tarsus Radical visionary of a new age Gender liberating progressive Great defender of orthodoxy In Remembering Paul Benjamin L White offers a critique of early Christian claims about the real Paul in the second century C E a period in which apostolic memory was highly contested and sets these ancient contests alongside their modern counterpart attempts to rescue the historical Paul from his canonical entrapments White charts the rise and fall of various narratives about Paul and argues that Christians of the second century had no access to the real Paul Through the selection combination and interpretation of pieces of a diverse earlier layer of the Pauline tradition Christians defended images of the Apostle that were important for forming collective identity The Archaeological and Forensic Applications of Microfossils: A Deeper Understanding of Human History The Archaeological and Forensic Applications of Microfossils M. Williams, T. Hill, I. Boomer, I.P. Wilkinson, 2017-06-16 Microfossils are an abundant component of the sedimentary rock record Their analysis can reveal not only the environments in which the rocks were deposited but also their age When combined the spatial and temporal distribution patterns of microfossils offer enormous utility for archaeological and forensic investigations Their presence can act as a geological fingerprint and the tiniest fragment of material such as a broken Iron Age potsherd can contain a microfossil signature that reveals the geographical source of the materials under investigation This book explores how microfossils are employed as tools to interpret human society and habitation throughout history Examples include microfossil evidence associated with Palaeolithic human occupation at Boxgrove in Sussex alongside investigations into human induced landscape change during the Holocene Further examples include the use of microfossils to provenance the source materials of Iron Age ceramics Roman mosaics and Minoan pottery in addition to their application to help solve modern murder cases highlighting the diverse applications of microfossils to improving our understanding of human history Export Product Quality, Renewable Energy, and Sustainable Production Umer Shahzad, Gagan Deep Sharma, Lianbiao Cui, John Mendy, 2023-09-12 Economic development has long been acknowledged for its beneficial effects on human well being In the context of economic globalization and vertical specialization increasing the quality of export products is more critical and necessary to export success and sustainable development The product's quality is inextricably linked to its manufacture and production which need various types of energy and raw materials Meanwhile the adoption of more environmentally friendly and cleaner energy sources contributes to the achievement of sustainable production Therefore product quality may provide a new perspective from which to investigate the systematic relationship between greener and renewable energy sources sustainable production and environmental regulations as well as the nature of export competitiveness Generally export product quality has referred to the quality of manufactured products within the product lines Quality refers to the relative price of a country's varieties within their respective product lines Product sophistication assesses the composition of the aggregate exports Different varieties of same product as per quality level are being produced by several developing and emerging economies Within any given product line quality converges both conditionally and unconditionally to the world's benchmark increases in institutional quality and human capital are associated with faster quality upgrading In turn faster growth in quality is associated with more rapid output growth Scandinavian

Colonialism and the Rise of Modernity Magdalena Naum, Jonas M. Nordin, 2013-02-20 In Scandinavian Colonialism and the Rise of Modernity Small Time Agents in a Global Arena archaeologists anthropologists and historians present case studies that focus on the scope and impact of Scandinavian colonial expansion in the North Africa Asia and America as well as within Scandinavia itself They discuss early modern thinking and theories made valid and developed in early modern Scandinavia that justified and propagated participation in colonial expansion The volume demonstrates a broad and comprehensive spectrum of archaeological anthropological and historical research which engages with a variation of themes relevant for the understanding of Danish and Swedish colonial history from the early 17th century until today The aim is to add to the on going global debates on the context of the rise of the modern society and to revitalize the field of early modern studies in Scandinavia where methodological nationalism still determines many archaeological and historical studies Through their theoretical commitment critical outlook and application of postcolonial theories the contributors to this book shed a new light on the processes of establishing and maintaining colonial rule hybridization and creolization in the sphere of material culture politics of resistance and responses to the colonial claims This volume is a fantastic resource for graduate students and researchers in historical archaeology Scandinavia early modern history and anthropology of colonialism
