The Power Of Geography How Territory Shapes Social Life:

The Power of Geography Jennifer R. Wolch, Michael J. Dear, 1989 A collection of essays focusing on how territory defined as geographically organized human activity shapes social life and exploring some of the consequences It shows how routine practices of daily living are effective in maintaining and reproducing the social order of capitalist society

The Power of Geography (RLE Social & Cultural Geography) Jennifer Wolch, Michael Dear, 2014-01-23 This book illuminates the profound influence of geography on everyday life Concentrating on the realm of social reproduction gender family education culture and tradition race ethnicity the contributors provide both an articulation of a theory of territory and reproduction and concrete empirical analyses of the evolution of social practices in particular places At the core of the book's contribution is the concept of society as a time space fabric upon which are engraved the processes of political economic and socio cultural life A second distinctive feature of the book is its substantive focus on the relation between territory and social practice Thirdly it represents a significant step in the redefinition of the research agenda in human geography

The Geography of United States Poverty Wendy Shaw, 2015-11-19 Until this book was originally published in 1996 there had been little detailed research concerning the geographic location of the poor in America The book examines the spatial distribution of the poor within the US and discusses the general characteristics of the poverty population It explores the complex web of theory pertaining to poverty presenting different categories no fault theories individual responsibility theories societal responsibility theories governmental and institutional responsibility theories and responsibility of the economic system theories Information on poverty from the 1980s and 90s in the US is provided as well as historical background The problems and complexities associated with defining and measuring poverty are also discussed

Metroburbia, USA Paul L. Knox, 2008 Decades of economic prosperity in the United States have redefined the American dream Paul Knox explores how extreme versions of this dream have changed the American landscape Increased wealth has led America's metropolitan areas to develop into vast sprawling regions of metroburbia fragmented mixtures of employment and residential settings combining urban and suburban characteristics Upper middle class Americans are moving into larger homes in greater numbers which leads Knox to explore the relationship between built form and material culture in contemporary society He covers changes in home design real estate the work of developers and the changing wishes of consumers Knox shows that contemporary suburban landscapes are a product of consumer demand combined with the logic of real estate development mediated by design and policy professionals and institutions of governance Suburban landscapes not only echo the fortunes of successive generations of inhabitants Knox argues they also reflect the country's changing core values Knox addresses key areas of concern and importance to today's urban planners and suburban residents including McMansions traffic disasters house design homeowner's associations exclusionary politics and big box stores Through the inclusion of examples and photos Metroburbia USA creates an accessible portrait of today's suburbs supported by data anecdotes and social theory It is a broad interpretation of the American metropolitan form that looks carefully at the different influences that contribute to where and how we live today

Faith-Based Organisations and Exclusion in European Cities Beaumont, Justin,Cloke, Paul,2012-10-03 At a time of heightened neoliberal globalisation and crisis welfare state retrenchment and desecularisation of society amid uniquely European controversies over immigration integration and religious based radicalism this timely book explores the role played by faith based organisations FBOs which are growing in importance in the provision of social services in the European context Taking a multidisciplinary approach the contributions to the volume present original research examples and a pan

European perspective to assess the role of FBOs in combating poverty and various expressions of exclusion and social distress in cities across Europe This significant and highly topical volume should become a vital reference source for the burgeoning number of studies that are likely follow and will make essential reading for students and academics in social policy sociology geography politics urban studies and theology religious studies Landscapes of Voluntarism Christine Milligan, David Conradson, 2011 The appeal of voluntary action as a solution to growing welfare needs in advanced capitalist countries raises important questions about the social impacts and spatial equity of such provision For the first time these issues are addressed within a single book exploring the complex relationship between voluntary action society and space

Spaces of Colonialism Stephen Legg, 2008-09-15 Examines the residential policed and infrastructural landscapes of New and Old Delhi under British Rule The first book of its kind to present a comparative history of New and Old Delhi Draws on the governmentality theories and methodologies presented in Michel Foucault's lecture courses Looks at problems of social and racial segregation the policing of the cities and biopolitical needs in urban settings Undertakes a critique of colonial governmentality on the basis of the lived spaces of everyday life Race, Place, and the Law, 1836-1948 David Delaney, 1998 Black and white Americans have occupied separate spaces since the days of the big house and the quarters But the segregation and racialization of American society was not a natural phenomenon that just happened The decisions enacted into laws that kept the races apart and restricted blacks to less desirable places sprang from legal reasoning which argued that segregated spaces were right reasonable and preferable to other arrangements In this book David Delaney explores the historical intersections of race place and the law Drawing on court cases spanning more than a century he examines the moves and countermoves of attorneys and judges who participated in the geopolitics of slavery and emancipation in the development of Jim Crow segregation which effectively created apartheid laws in many cities and in debates over the doctrine of changed conditions which challenged the legality of restrictive covenants and private contracts designed to exclude people of color from white neighborhoods This historical investigation yields new insights into the patterns of segregation that persist in American society today Society and Settlement Aharon Kellerman, 2012-03-21 This book scrutinizes the interrelationships between Jewish spatial organization and social structure and change in Palestine Israel Kellerman analyzes the development of nationwide and regional settlements and reasons for spatial and territorial choices such as cooperative villages He uncovers the extreme differences between the old and the new in Jewish settlement patterns and discusses the implications for cultural development economic functions urban spirit and international status in evolving Israeli society Cities and Regions in Crisis Martin Jones, 2019 This book offers a new geographical political economy approach to our understanding of regional and local economic development in Western Europe over the last twenty years It suggests that governance failure is occurring at a variety of spatial scales and an impedimenta state is emerging This is derived from the state responding to state intervention and economic development that has become irrational ambivalent and disoriented The book blends theoretical approaches to crisis and contradiction theory with empirical examples from cities and regions

BodySpace Nancy Duncan, 1996-09-05 BodySpace brings together some of the best known geographers writing on gender and sexuality today Together they explore the role of space and place in the performance of gender and sexuality The book takes a broad perspective on feminism as a theoretical critique and aims to ground and destabilize notions of citizenship work violence race and disability in their geographical contexts The book explores the idea of knowledge as embodied engendered and embedded in place and space Gender and sexuality are explored and destabilized through the methodological and conceptual lenses of cartography fieldwork resistance transgression and the divisions between local global and public private space Contributors Linda Martin Alcoff Kay Anderson Vera Chouinard Nancy Duncan J K Gibson Graham Ali Grant Kathleen Kirby Audrey Kobayashi Doreen Massey Linda McDowell Wayne Myslik Heidi Nast Gillian Rose Joanne Sharp Matthew Sparke Gill Valentine

Space, Gender, Knowledge: Feminist Readings Linda McDowell, Joanne Sharp, 2016-04-29 Space Gender Knowledge is an innovative and comprehensive introduction to the geographies of gender and the gendered nature of spatial relations It examines the major issues raised by women's movements and academic feminism and outlines the main shifts in feminist geographical work from the geography of women to the impact of post structuralism In making their selection the editors have drawn on a wide range of interdisciplinary material ranging across spatial scales from the body to the globe The book presents influential arguments for the importance of the intersection between space and gender Looking both at geography and beyond the discipline it explores the gendered construction of space and the spatial construction of gender Divided into a number of conceptual sections each prefaced by an editorial introduction this reader includes extracts from both landmark texts and less well known works making it an indispensable introduction to this dynamic field of study
