

The Power of Images in the Age of Augustus (Thomas Spencer Jerome Lectures)

Art and architecture are mirrors of a society. They reflect the state of its values, especially in times of crisis or transition. Upon this premise Paul Zanker builds an interpretation of Augustan art as a visual language that both expressed and furthered the transformation of Roman society during the rule of Augustus Caesar. The Power of Images in the Age of Augustus illustrates how the establishment of monarchy under Augustus Caesar led to the creation of a new system of visual imagery that reflects the consciousness of this transitional age.

2 Corinthians Antoinette Clark Wire, 2019-05-13 Looking at Paul's writing through a feminist lens this volume asks questions focused around science and philosophy Antoinette Clark Wire specifically explores the reality of all bodies and beings in the ecosystem not excluding whatever these beings produce including the speed of light the webs of spiders and the culture of humans so the broadest focus includes the specific This focus could be too broad for Paul's letters blind as he seems to be about where food comes from why families nurture children or how water sustains life Yet Wire shows the reader how he grapples again and again with the limits of his body and the threat of death and finds in Jesus's dying and rising a way out of fear toward what he calls a new creation

The Oxford History of Western Art Martin Kemp, 2000 The Oxford History of Western Art is the new authority on the development of visual culture in the West over the last 2700 years from the classical period to the end of the twentieth century OHWA is an innovative and challenging reappraisal of how the history of art can be presented and understood None of the currently available general histories of art offers the wealth of perspectives and cross media references of this book Through a carefully devised modular structure readers are given insights not only into how and why works of art were created but also how works in different media relate to each other across time Here uniquely is not the simple linear story of art but a rich series of stories told from varying viewpoints The founding principle of the book has been to use carefully selected groupings of pictures to give readers a sense of the visual texture of the various periods and episodes covered The 167 illustration groups supported by explanatory text and picture captions create a sequence of visual tours not merely a procession of individually great works viewed in isolation but juxtapositions of significant images that powerfully convey a sense of the visual environments in which works of art need to be viewed in order to be understood and appreciated The aim throughout has been to make the shape and nature of these visual presentations a stimulating and rewarding experience allowing readers to become active participants in the process of interpretation and synthesis Another key feature of the narrative is the re definition of traditional period boundaries Rather than relying on conventional labels such as Medieval Renaissance Baroque etc five major phases of significant historical change are established that unlock longer and more meaningful continuities The art of classical antiquity from c 600 BC to the fall of Rome in AD 410 The establishment of visual culture in Europe from 410 to 1527 the sack of papal Rome European visual regimes from 1527 to 1770 The era of revolutions 1770 to 1914 Modernism and after 1914 to 2000 This new framework shows how the major religious and secular functions of art have been forged sustained transformed revived and revolutionized over the ages how the institutions of Church and State have consistently aspired to make art in their own image and how the rise of art history itself has come to provide the dominant conceptual framework within which artists create patrons patronize collectors collect galleries exhibit dealers deal and art historians write The text has been written by a team of 50 specialist authors working under the direction of Professor Martin Kemp one of the UK's most distinguished art historians Whilst bringing their own expertise and vision to their sections each author was also asked to relate their text to a number of unifying themes and issues including written evidence physical contexts patronage viewing and reception techniques gender and racial issues centres and peripheries media and condition the notion of art and current presentations Though the coverage of topics focuses on European notions of art and their transplantation and transformation in North America space is also given to cross fertilizations with other traditions including the art of Latin America the Soviet Union India Africa and Afro Caribbean Australia and Canada Professor Kemp and his team similarly deal generously with the applied arts and reproductive media such as photography and prints The result is a vibrant vigorous and revolutionary account of Western art serving both as an inspirational introduction for the general reader and an authoritative source of reference and guidance for students

Reading the Bible in an Age of Crisis Bruce Worthington, 2015 We live in an age in which economic ecological and political crises are not the exception but the rule The Cold War polarities that shaped an earlier political exegesis have been replaced Bruce Worthington argues that increasingly crisis is the engine of a global turbo capitalism In this volume edited by Worthington biblical scholars and activists describe and exemplify the shape of a biblical interpretation that takes contemporary crisis seriously as its most important context Succinct opening essays summarize the salient aspects of our critical situation especially in relation to the dominance of capitalism and its pervasive values in later parts contributions address themes of economic political and environmental crisis in dialogue with texts from the First and Second Testaments Throughout the volume the authors are careful to describe the basis for making interpretive analogies across historical cultural and socioeconomic distances between the world of the Hebrew Bible the New Testament and our own Richard A Horsley writes a postscript pointing to next steps in political interpretation

i A Brief History of an English Literature: An Augustan Age Rakesh Rathod (MA English),2019-01-01 The eighteenth century in English literature has been called the Augustan Age the Neoclassical Age and the Age of Reason The term the Augustan Age comes from the self conscious imitation of the original Augustan writers Virgil and Horace by many of the writers of the period Specifically the Augustan Age was the period after the Restoration era to the death of Alexander Pope 1690 1744 The major writers of the age were Pope and John Dryden in poetry and Jonathan Swift and Joseph Addison in prose Dryden forms the link between Restoration and Augustan literature although he wrote ribald comedies in the Restoration vein his verse satires were highly admired by the generation of poets who followed him and his writings on literature were very much in a neoclassical spirit I particularly aimed at interpretation of sociopolitical milieu of Augustan Age of social change of literary tendencies of the age and of prose novel poetry and drama of the Augustan Age

Resisting Injustice and the Feminist Ethics of Care in the Age of Obama David A.J. Richards,2014-02-05 David A J Richards s Resisting Injustice and The Feminist Ethics of Care in The Age of Obama Suddenly All The Truth Was Coming Out builds on his and Carol Gilligan s The Deepening Darkness to examine the roots of the resistance movements of the 1960s the political psychology behind contemporary conservatism and President Obama s present day appeal as well as the reasons for the reactionary politics against him Richards begins by laying out the basics of the ethics of care and proposing an alternative basis for ethics relationality which is based in convergent findings in infant research neuroscience and evolutionary psychology He critically analyzes patriarchal politics and states that they are rooted in a reactionary psychology that attacks human relationality and ethics. From there the book examines the 1960s resistance movements and argues that they were fundamentally oriented around challenging patriarchy. Richards asserts that the reactionary politics in America from the 1960s to the present are in service of an American patriarchy threatened by the resistance movements ranging from the 1960s civil rights movements to the present gay rights movement. Reactionary politics intend to marginalize and even reverse the ethical achievements accomplished by resistance movements creating in effect a system of patriarchy hiding in democracy. Richards consequently argues that Obama's appeal is connected to his challenge to this system of patriarchy and will examine both Obama's appeal and the reactions against him in light of the 2012 presidential election. This book positions recent American political development in a broad analysis of the role of patriarchy in human oppression throughout history and argues that a feminist based ethics of care is necessary to form a more humane and inclusive democratic politics.

Constantine, Divine Emperor of the Christian Golden Age Jonathan Bardill, 2012. Constantine was the first Roman emperor to convert to Christianity. The book explores the emperor's image as conveyed through literature, art, and architecture and shows how Constantine reconciled the tradition of imperial divinity with his monotheistic faith. It demonstrates how the traditional themes and imagery of kingship were exploited to portray the emperor as the saviour of his people and to assimilate him to Christ. This is the first book to study simultaneously both archaeological and historical information to build a picture of the emperor's image and propaganda. It is extensively illustrated. The Solitary Sphere in the Age of Virgil Aaron J. Kachuck, 2021. Overturning centuries of scholarship that imagined life in the Roman world as happening only in society, Aaron J. Kachuck delivers a revelatory new perspective: ancient Rome not only possessed a vibrant sense of solitude but its solitary sphere also lies behind its greatest masterpieces. From Cicero's philosophy to the life's works of Virgil, Horace, and Propertius.

The Age of the Parthians Vesta Sarkhosh Curtis, Sarah Stewart, 2010-03-24. The Parthians are a fascinating but little known ancient civilization. In the mid third century BCE a bold and ambitious leader called Arsak challenged Hellenic rule and led his armies to victory. The dynasty which he founded ruled over what became a mighty empire and restored the glory of Iran following the region's conquest by Alexander the Great. This imperial eastern superpower which lasted for 400 years and stretched from the Hindu Kush to Mesopotamia withstand the might of Rome for centuries. The Parthians were nomadic horse warriors who left few written records concentrating rather on a rich oral and storytelling tradition. What knowledge we have of this remarkable people derives primarily from their coinage which mixed Hellenism with Persian influences. In this book distinguished scholars examine from a variety of perspectives the origins of the Parthians, their history, religion, and culture as well as perceptions of their empire through the lens of both imperial Rome and China.

Common Property, the Golden Age, and Empire in Acts 2:42-47 and 4:32-35 Joshua Noble, 2020-10-15. Joshua Noble focuses on the rapid appearance and disappearance in Acts 2 and 4 of the motif that early believers hold all their property in common and argues that these descriptions function as allusions to the Golden Age myth Noble suggests Luke's claims that the believers had all things in common and that no one claimed private ownership of any possessions a motif that does not appear in any biblical source rather calls to mind Greek and Roman traditions that the earliest humans lived in utopian conditions when no one possessed any private property but all things were common By analyzing sources from Greek Latin Jewish and Christian traditions and reading Acts 2 42-47 and 4 32-35 as Golden Age allusions Noble illustrates how Luke's use of the motif of common property is significant for understanding his attitude toward the Roman Empire Noble suggests that Luke's appeal to this myth accomplishes two things it characterizes the coming of the Spirit as marking the beginning of a new age the start of a universal restoration that will find its completion at the Second Coming of Christ and it creates a contrast between Christ who has actually brought about this restoration and the emperors of Rome who were serially credited with inaugurating a new Golden Age

Contested Ethnicities and Images David L. Balch, 2015-04-28 Ethnic values changed as Imperial Rome expanded challenging ethnocentric values in Rome itself as well as in Greece and Judea Rhetorically Roman Greek and Judean writers who eulogized their cities all claimed they would receive foreigners Further Greco-Roman narratives of urban tensions between rich and poor proud and humble promoted reconciliation and fellowship between social classes Luke wrote Acts in this ethnic economic political context narrating Jesus as a founder who changed laws to encourage receiving foreigners which promoted civic missionary growth and legitimated interests of the poor and humble David L Balch relates Roman art to early Christianity and introduces famous pre Roman Corinthian artists He shows women visually represented as priests compares Dionysian and Corinthian charismatic speech and argues that larger assemblies of the earliest Pauline believers sat 1 Cor 14 30 in taverns Also the author demonstrates that the image of a pregnant woman in Revelation 12 subverts imperial claims to the divine origin of the emperor before finally suggesting that visual representations by Roman domestic artists of a category of women who upset expected forms of conduct Bergmann encouraged early Christian women like Thecla Perpetua and Felicitas to move beyond gender stereotypes of being victims Balch concludes with two book reviews one of Nicolas Wiater s book on the Greek biographer and historian Dionysius who was a model for both Josephus and Luke Acts the second of a book by Frederick Brenk on Hellenistic philosophy and mystery religion in relation to earliest Christianity
