For the Children? Erica R. Meiners, 2016-10-15 Childhood has never been available to all. In her opening chapter of For the Children Erica R. Meiners stakes the claim that childhood is a racial category often unavailable to communities of color. According to Meiners this is glaringly evident in the U.S. criminal justice system where the differentiation between child and adult often equates to access to stark disparities. And what is constructed as child protection often does not benefit many young people or their communities. Placing the child at the heart of the targeted criminalization debate For the Children considers how perceptions of innocence, the safe child and the future operate in service of the prison industrial complex. The United States has the largest prison population in the world with incarceration and policing being key economic tools to maintain white supremacist ideologies. Meiners examines the school to prison pipeline and the broader prison industrial complex in the United States arguing that unpacking child protection is vital to reducing the nation's reliance on its criminal justice system as well as building authentic modes of public safety. Rethinking the meanings and beliefs attached to the child represent a significant and intimate thread of the work to dismantle facets of the U.S. carceral state. Taking an interdisciplinary approach and building from a scholarly and activist platform For the Children engages fresh questions in the struggle to build sustainable and flourishing worlds without prisons.

Racializing Justice, Disenfranchising Lives M. Marable, K. Middlemass, I. Steinberg, 2007-09-03 African Americans today face a systemic crisis of mass underemployment, mass imprisonment and mass disfranchisement. This comprehensive reader makes clear to students the mutual constitution of these three crises.

Prison Nation Paul Wright, Tara Herivel, 2013-10-23 Prison Nation is a distant dispatch from a foreign and forbidden place: the world of America's prisons. Written by prisoners, social critics and luminaries of investigative reporting Prison Nation testifies to the current state of America's prisoners, living conditions and political concerns. These concerns are not normally the concerns of most Americans but they should be. From substandard medical care, the inadequacy of resources for public defenders to the death penalty, the issues covered in this volume grow more urgent every day. Articles by outstanding writers such as Mumia Abu Jamal, Noam Chomsky, Mark Dow, Judy Green, Tracy Huling and Christian Parenti chronicle the injustices of prison privatization, class and race in the justice system, our quixotic drug war, the rarely discussed prison AIDS crisis and a judicial system that rewards mostly those with significant resources or the desire to name names. Correctional facilities have become a profitable growth industry for companies like Wackenhut that run them and companies like Boeing that use cheap prison labor. With fascinating narratives, shocking tales and small stories of hope Prison Nation paints a picture of a world many Americans know little or nothing about
