Special Educational Needs,

Inclusion and Diversity Norah Frederickson, Tony Cline, 2015 Special Educational Needs Inclusion and Diversity 3E has established itself as the textbook on special educational needs SEN. The new edition of this popular textbook retains its comprehensive insightful and accessible approach and reflects the latest changes in policy and legislation. It provides a stimulating balance between theory, research and practice as well as a unique analysis of the implications for SEN of linguistic, cultural and ethnic diversity. Recognizing the complex and difficult nature of many special educational needs, the authors place a firm emphasis on inclusion and suggest practical strategies enabling professionals to maximise inclusion while at the same time recognizing and supporting diversity. Key features of the third edition include: The increasingly diverse SEN approaches and legislation across England, Wales, Scotland and Ireland within an international context; Provision and arrangements for 16-25 year olds; Identification, assessment and intervention strategies for SEN from the early years; Responding to the diversity of social, emotional and mental health needs within the context of behaviour and discipline in schools. Special Educational Needs Inclusion and Diversity 3E is the definitive handbook that supports teachers, educational psychologists, SENCOs, SEN specialist teachers and other professionals in working with children who have SEN in an increasingly diverse society.

Special Educational Needs and Inclusive Practices Fabio Dovigo, 2017-01-28 Today school is becoming a rapidly changing learning environment. Thinking about students as a homogeneous population is no longer allowed as diversity in terms of culture, language, gender, family organisation, learning styles and so on has emerged as a key challenge for education today. The debate on Special Educational Needs largely reflects this challenge as working in school implies careful reconsideration of what we mean by normal and special. Current educational intervention is generally based on a deficit and within child model of facing SEN, whereas very little attention is given to the role of learning environments. The focus is on the child more than on the whole class and on cognition and technical provisions more than on affective, sociocultural and community dimensions of learning. Conversely regarding students and their needs as hidden voices allows us to adopt a transformative approach which sees diversity as a stimulus for the development of educational practices that might benefit all children and help school to become an inclusive and moving organisation. The aim of the book is twofold: on the one hand it offers a systematic overview of the inclusive education state of the art in six countries: Germany, Italy, Norway, Sweden, UK and USA, based on the contributions by well-known scholars such as Christy Ashby, Barbara Brokamp, Fabio Dovigo, Kari Nes Mara, Westling Allodi, Tony Booth and Beth Ferri; on the other hand the book analyses five cases of good practices of inclusion related to different subjects and school levels.

Special Educational Needs Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Education and Skills Committee, 2006-07-06 This publication contains a range of oral and written evidence taken by the Committee in relation to its inquiry into special educational needs SEN provision, including contributions from Baroness Warnock, DfES officials and local authorities, Ofsted, the Audit Commission, the Disability Rights Commission, SEN advisors and organisations, charities and trade unions.

Equity and Inclusion in Education Finding Strength through Diversity OECD, 2023-01-31 Governments and education policy makers are increasingly concerned with equity and inclusion in education due to several major global trends such as demographic shifts migration and refugee crises rising inequalities and climate change These developments have contributed to increasing diversity within national populations and flagged some concerns around the ability of education systems to be equitable and inclusive of all students

Education, Law and Diversity Neville Harris, 2020-01-09 This new edition of Education Law and Diversity provides extensive updated analysis from a legal perspective of how the education system responds to social diversity and how the relevant social and cultural rights of individuals and groups are affected It spans wide ranging areas of school provision including types of school including faith schools the school curriculum choice of school out of school settings and duties towards children with special needs and disabilities It gives extensive coverage to children s rights in the context of education and includes considerable new material on issues including relationships and sex education exclusion from school home education equal access counter extremism and academisation The new edition also retains and updates areas of debate in the book such as those concerned with multiculturalism and the position of religion in schools It continues to focus on England but also makes reference to other jurisdictions within the UK and internationally It is essential reading for anyone interested in the legal and related policy issues surrounding children s education today
