Patrick R. O'Malley, 2017-03-01 Focusing on literary and cultural texts from the late eighteenth century to the early twentieth Patrick R O Malley argues that in order to understand both the literature and the varieties of nationalist politics in nineteenth century Ireland we must understand the various modes in which the very notion of the historical past was articulated He proposes that nineteenth century Irish literature and culture present two competing modes of political historiography one that eludes the unresolved wounds of Ireland's violent history through the strategic representation of a unified past that could be the model for a liberal future and one that locates its roots not in a culturally triumphant past but rather in an account of colonial and specifically sectarian bloodshed and insists upon the moral necessity of naming that history From myths of pre Christian Celtic glories to medieval Catholic scholarship to the rise of the Protestant Ascendancy to narratives of colonial violence against Irish people by British power Irish historiography strove to be the basis of a new nationalism following the 1801 Union with Great Britain and yet it was itself riven with contention Irish Writing Stephen Regan, 2004 Can we not build up a national tradition a national literature which shall be none the less Irish in spirit from being English in language W B Yeats This anthology traces the history of modern Irish literature from the revolutionary era of the late eighteenth century to the early years of political independence From Charlotte Brooke and Edmund Burke to Elizabeth Bowen and Louis MacNeice the anthology shows how in forging a tradition of their own Irish writers have continually challenged and renewed the ways in which Ireland is imagined and defined The anthology includes a wide ranging and generous selection of fiction poetry and drama Three plays by W B Yeats Augusta Gregory and J M Synge are printed in their entirety along with the opening episode of James Joyce's Ulysses The volume also includes letters speeches songs memoirs essays and travel writings many of which are difficult to obtain elsewhere Stephen Regan's anthology vividly and valiantly presents a nation and a national literature coming into being Paul Muldoon Robert Emmet's Last Speech from the Dock in Verse for Recitation Seán MacEntee, 1917 Anonymous verse adaptation of Robert Emmet's speech attributed to Seán MacEntee Speech from the Dock F.
