Introduction

Le mouvement des Lumières est une période importante de l'histoire européenne qui a vu une renaissance de la raison et de la pensée critique. Ce mouvement a suscité des réflexions politiques et philosophiques, en mettant en avant des valeurs fondamentales telles que la liberté d'opinion, de culte, d'expression, l'égalité et la fraternité. Bougainville écrit un livre sur son voyage de la découverte de Tahiti au XVIIIe siècle qui a mené à la colonisation, a inspiré Diderot à écrire le Supplément au voyage de Bougainville en 1796. Dans cet ouvrage, Diderot a choisi de faire parler un vieux tahitien pour critiquer vivement l'attitude des Européens envers le peuple tahitien.

Dans cette analyse, nous nous pencherons sur comment Diderot utilise le discours argumentatif du vieux tahitien pour porter une critique violente de la civilisation européenne. Dans un premier mouvement, nous étudierons l'éloge des valeurs fondamentales des Tahitiens et la manière dont les Européens les ont bouleversées. Ensuite, dans un deuxième mouvement, nous aborderons les réflexions de Diderot sur la propriété et la manière dont elle est utilisée pour justifier la colonisation. Enfin, dans la troisième partie, nous examinerons la construction d'une utopie présentée par le vieux tahitien, qui propose une alternative à la société européenne contemporaine.

I. Eloge des valeurs fondamentales des Tahitiens et de la façon dont les Européens les ont bouleversées.

- Apostrophe: ton agressif (dénonciation de la malhonnêteté des européens)
- Parallélisme: lien entre innocence et heureux, leur innocence (ignorant au point de vue des Européens) les mène à leur bonheur
- Personnification de la nature: lien avec leur bonheur simple et affiche une société idéal
- Tutoiement: démontrer qu'ils ont les mêmes valeurs
- Accumulation / Enumeration: met en valeur la quantité de crimes et dénonce la violence commise par les européens
- Lexique du partage: Absence de propriété privé = bonheur

II. Réflexions sur la propriété

- Question rhétorique: affirme que l'esclavage est un abus du pouvoir et rien ne le justifie (réfléchir)
- Lexique de la nature: mise en valeur de l'harmonie entre les Tahitiens et la nature
- Antithèse: dénonce l'hypocrisie et la cruauté des européens
- Champ lexical du vol: Dénonce les européens de s'avoir approprier par eux même la terre des Tahitiens
- Lexique: Exprime les valeurs → fraternité & égalité = liberté

III. Construction d'une utopie

- Oxymore: critique de la société européenne matérialiste
- Question rhétoriques: Accuse l'insolence des occidentaux + indique le rejet des T. de la société des européens.
- Antithèse: bonheur des européens, bonheur simple des tahitiens = rapport de besoin et de désir

Conclusion

En conclusion, en étudiant ce texte, nous pouvons observer une critique violente de la civilisation européenne à travers la création du mythe du bon sauvage, ainsi que la dénonciation de la discrimination et l'injustice envers les Tahitiens. Diderot dénonce

Diderot's Supplément Au Voyage de Bougainville Patricia L. Van Sickle, 1984 New Essays on Diderot James Fowler, 2011-03-24 The great eighteenth century French thinker Denis Diderot 1713-84 once compared himself to a weathervane by which he meant that his mind was in constant motion In an extraordinarily diverse career he produced novels plays art criticism works of philosophy and poetics and also reflected on music and opera Perhaps most famously he ensured the publication of the Encyclopédie which has often been credited with hastening the onset of the French Revolution Known as one of the three greatest philosophers of the Enlightenment Diderot rejected the Christian ideas in which he had been raised Instead he became an atheist and a determinist His radical questioning of received ideas and established religion led to a brief imprisonment and for that reason no doubt some of his subsequent works were written for posterity This collection of essays celebrates the life and work of this extraordinary figure as we approach the tercentenary of his birth

Revolutionary Love in Eighteenth- and Early Nineteenth-century France Allan H. Pasco, 2009 In this innovative study the author carves out a new field a sociology of literature in which he offers insightful commentary about the nexus of literature and society Calling on history sociology and psychology as well as literature as points of reference Allan Pasco examines the conceptual in eighteenth century France s ideal of love from familial duty to personal fulfilment The Enlightenment Anthony Pagden, 2013-05-23 This book tells nothing less than the story of how the modern Western view of the world was born Cultural and intellectual historian Anthony Pagden explains how and why the ideal of a universal global and cosmopolitan society became such a central part of the Western imagination in the ferment of the Enlightenment and how these ideas have done battle with an inward looking tradition oriented view of the world ever since Cosmopolitanism is an ancient creed but in its modern form it was a creature of the Enlightenment attempt to create a new science of man based upon a vision of humanity made up of autonomous individuals free from all the constraints imposed by custom prejudice and religion As Pagden shows this new science was based not simply on cold calculating reason as its critics claimed but on the argument that all humans are linked by what in the Enlightenment were called sympathetic attachments The conclusion was that despite the many tribes and nations into which humanity was divided there was only one human nature and that the final destiny of the species could only be the creation of one universal cosmopolitan society This new human science provided the philosophical grounding of the modern world It has been the inspiration behind the League of Nations the United Nations and the European Union Without it international law global justice and human rights legislation would be unthinkable As Anthony Pagden argues passionately and persuasively in this book it is a legacy well worth preserving and one that might yet come to inherit the earth Female Sexuality and Cultural Degradation in Enlightenment France Mary McAlpin, 2016-04-15 In her study of eighteenth century literature and medical treatises Mary McAlpin takes up the widespread belief among cultural philosophers of the French Enlightenment that society was gravely endangered by the effects of hyper civilization McAlpin s study explores a strong thread in this rhetoric of decline the belief that premature puberty in young urban girls supposedly brought on by their exposure to lascivious images titillating novels and lewd conversations was the source of an increasing moral and physical degeneration In how to hygiene books intended for parents the medical community declared that the only cure for this obviously involuntary departure from the natural path of sexual development was the increased surveillance of young girls As these treatises by vitalist and vitalist inspired physiologists became increasingly common in the 1760s McAlpin shows so too did the presence of young vulnerable and virginal heroines in the era s novels Analyzing novels by among others Jean Jacques Rousseau Denis Diderot and Choderlos de Laclos she offers physiologically based readings of many of the period s most famous heroines within the context of an eighteenth century discourse on women and heterosexual desire that broke with earlier periods in recasting female and male desire as qualitatively distinct Her study persuasively argues that the Western view of women s sexuality as a mysterious nebulous force Freud s dark continent has its secular
