Fifty Years of Rhetoric Society Quarterly Joshua Gunn, Diane Davis, 2018-05-15

Fifty Years of Rhetoric Society Quarterly: Selected Readings 1968-2018 celebrates the semicentennial of Rhetoric Society Quarterly bringing together the most influential essays included in the journal over the past fifty years.

Assessed by members of the Rhetoric Society of America, this collection provides advanced undergraduate and graduate students with a balanced perspective on rhetorical theory and practice from scholars in both communication studies and rhetoric and writing studies.

The volume covers a range of themes from the history of rhetorical studies, writing and speaking pedagogy, and feminism to the work of Kenneth Burke, the rhetoric of science, and rhetorical agency.

Teaching Communication Anita L. Vangelisti, John A. Daly, Gustav W. Friedrich, 2013-11-05

The field of communication was founded in part because of a need to make people better communicators. That meant teaching them how to communicate more effectively, whether it be in public settings or in private. Most of that teaching has happened within the classroom, and many professionals have spent their lives instructing others on various aspects of communication.

Inside this second edition, the editors have assembled a fully comprehensive and contemporary discussion of topics and issues concerning the teaching of communication. The chapters contained herein, contributed by key voices throughout the communication discipline, address conceptual as well as practical issues related to communication instruction.

The contents of this new edition reflect the dramatic changes that have occurred in communication education since the publication of the first edition in 1990. This book focuses initially on the goals of communication education, then delves into the preparation of specific communication courses. It includes assistance for instructors in organizing instructional content and discusses the use of instructional strategies and tools, as well as offering ideas on evaluating the processes and products of instruction.

The volume also covers unique teaching assignments that may be encountered from the basic course to continuing education and addresses 2-year college teaching directing forensic programs distance education and consulting It concludes with important professional issues faced by both new and experienced communication instructors including ethics and political issues within classrooms and departments This volume is a necessity for anyone starting out a career as a communication instructor Veteran educators who know that learning to teach is a continual growth experience will find useful and invaluable information within the book's pages Whatever background and level of experience all communication educators will find this new edition to be an essential resource for their work

The SAGE Handbook of Rhetorical Studies Andrea A. Lunsford, Kirt H. Wilson, Rosa A. Eberly, 2008-10-29 The SAGE Handbook of Rhetorical Studies surveys the latest advances in rhetorical scholarship synthesizing theories and practices across major areas of study in the field and pointing the way for future studies Edited by Andrea A. Lunsford and Associate Editors Kirt H. Wilson and Rosa A. Eberly the Handbook aims to introduce a new generation of students to rhetorical study and provide a deeply informed and ready resource for scholars currently working in the field Key Features Brings together scholars from across the disciplines of Speech Communication English and Writing Studies While rhetoric is by definition interdisciplinary self-identified scholars in the field are most often institutionally separated from one another This Handbook bridges this divide by providing a refreshing range of transdisciplinary views on the nature status definition and scope of rhetoric today Offers a thorough going overview of rhetorical studies today Organized in four sections Historical Studies in Rhetoric Rhetoric Across the Disciplines Rhetoric and Pedagogy and Rhetoric and Public Discourse the volume provides a single resource for engaging rhetorical studies Underscores the importance of rhetoric to education across a wide range of disciplines as well as to effective participation in public arenas Thus the volume connects rhetoric's long teaching tradition to an activist agenda for informed civic engagement Addresses methodological and theoretical difficulties and offers means of negotiating them Provides one of the first introductions to rhetorical studies across cultures and to the related debates concerning comparative and contrastive rhetorics

An Integrated Approach to Communication Theory and Research Don W. Stacks, Michael B. Salwen, 2014-04-08 This volume provides an overview of communication study offering theoretical coverage of the broad scope of communication study as well as integrating theory with research To explicate the integration process the chapter contributors experts in their respective areas offer samples in the form of hypothetical studies published studies or unpublished research showing how theory and research are integrated in their particular fields The book will appeal to graduate students and faculty members who want a thorough overview of not only the field but also sample research stemming from its various component parts

Fundamentals of Argumentation Theory Frans H. van Eemeren, Rob Grootendorst, Ralph H. Johnson, Christian Plantin, Charles A. Willard, 2013-11-05 Argumentation theory is a distinctly multidisciplinary field of inquiry It draws its data assumptions and methods from disciplines as disparate as formal logic and discourse analysis linguistics and forensic science philosophy and psychology political science and education sociology and law and rhetoric and artificial intelligence This presents the growing group of interested scholars and students with a problem of access since it is even for those active in the field not common to have acquired a familiarity with relevant aspects of each discipline that enters into this multidisciplinary matrix. This book offers its readers a unique comprehensive survey of the various theoretical contributions which have been made to the study of argumentation. It discusses the historical works that provide the background to the field and all major approaches and trends in contemporary research. Argument has been the subject of systematic inquiry for twenty five hundred years. It has been graced with theories such as formal logic or the legal theory of evidence that have acquired a more or less settled provenance with regard to specific issues. But there has been nothing to date that qualifies as a unified general theory of argumentation in all its richness and complexity. This being so the argumentation theorist must have access to materials and methods that lie beyond his or her home subject. It is precisely on this account that this volume is offered to all the constituent research communities and their students. Apart from the historical sections each chapter provides an economical introduction to the problems and methods that characterize a given part of the contemporary research program. Because the chapters are self contained they can be consulted in the order of a reader's interests or research requirements. But there is value in reading the work in its entirety. Jointly authored by the very people whose research has done much to define the current state of argumentation theory and to point the way toward more general and unified future treatments this book is an impressively authoritative contribution to the field.
