Childbirth and the Display of Authority in Early Modern France Lianne McTavish, 2017-03-02 Throughout the early modern period in France surgeon men midwives were predominantly associated with sexual impropriety and physical danger yet over time they managed to change their image and by the eighteenth century were summoned to attend even the uncomplicated deliveries of wealthy urban clients In this study Lianne McTavish explores how surgeons strove to transform the perception of their midwifery practices claiming to be experts who embodied obstetrical authority instead of intruders in a traditionally feminine domain McTavish argues that early modern French obstetrical treatises were sites of display participating in both the production and contestation of authoritative knowledge of childbirth Though primarily written by surgeon men midwives the texts were also produced by female midwives and male physicians McTavish's careful examination of these and other sources reveals representations of male and female midwives as unstable and divergent undermining characterizations of the practice of childbirth in early modern Europe as a gender war which men ultimately won She discovers that male practitioners did not always disdain maternal values In fact the men regularly identified themselves with qualities traditionally respected in female midwives including a bodily experience of childbirth Her findings suggest that men's entry into the lying in chamber was a complex negotiation involving their adaptation to the demands of women One of the great strengths of this study is its investigation of the visual culture of childbirth McTavish emphasizes how authority in the birthing room was made visible to others in facial expressions gestures and bodily display For the first time here the vivid images in the treatises are analysed including author portraits and engravings of unborn figures McTavish reveals how these images contributed to arguments about obstetrical authority instead of merely illustrating the written content of the books At the same time her arguments move far beyond the lying in chamber shedding light on the exchange of visual information in early modern France a period when identity was largely determined by the precarious act of putting oneself on display people eating Uncle Wang smiled and replied When he saw You Jia walking behind Zhang Wenzhong he couldn't help but be slightly surprised thinking to himself I really didn't expect that little Zhang looks quiet but his fate with women is also very good The girls who appear by his side one is indeed more beautiful than the other It's funny that I wanted to introduce them to him before Of course Uncle Wang only thought about these words in his heart and would absolutely not say them out loud Zhang Wenzhong also didn't know what Uncle Wang was thinking he smiled and said Don't be in a hurry it will work out slowly As long as someone has tasted the taste of medicinal food tried its effects I guarantee that one will tell ten ten will tell a hundred By then I'm afraid the supply of the four medicinal foods will not be able to meet the demand Court of Appeals 1924 Vol.19 , Tainted Blood Sam C.
