Colin MacMillan Coates,Cecilia Louise Morgan,2002-01-01 This is a fascinating comparison of the histories of Ontario and Quebec as seen through the handling of their best known heroines Most Canadians are familiar with stories of Madeleine de Vercheres defending Montreal against the Iroquois in 1692 and of Laura Secord and her cow bravely crossing the American lines to warn the British during the War of 1812 Religion and the Rise of History Leonard S. Smith,2009-04-01 As a historical inquiry and synthesis this intellectual history is the first study to apply the ideal type or model building methodology of Otto Hintze 1861 1940 to Western historical thought or to what R G Collingwood called The Idea of History for it contains succinct and useful models for seeing and teaching classical Christian and modern professional historiography Religion and the Rise of History is also the first work to suggest that in addition to his well known paradoxical simul and or at the same time way of thinking and viewing life Martin Luther also held to a way that was deeply incarnational dynamic and or in with and under This dual vision and a Lutheran ethos strongly influenced Leibniz Hamann and Herder and was therefore a matter of considerable significance for the rise of a distinctly modern form of historical consciousness commonly called historicism in Protestant Germany Smith s essay suggests a new time period for the formative age of modern German thought culture and education The Cultural Revolution in Germany This age began in the early 1760s and culminated in 1810 with the founding of the University of Berlin the first fully modern and modernizing university This university first became the recognized center for the study of history however through the work of Leopold von Ranke 1795 1886 Here the story shows how a young Ranke derived his individualizing way of thinking and viewing life mainly from Luther how his life work is the best example in Western literature of the rise of history from a calling to a profession and how the three way discussion between Troeltsch Meinecke and Hintze concerning the nature of modern historical thought was of central importance for the reorientation of Western social historical thought in the twentieth century In the Kingdom of Shoes Zachary Austin Doleshal,2021-10-01 One of the world s largest sellers of footwear the Bata Company of Zl n Moravia has a remarkable history that touches on crucial aspects of what made the world modern In the twilight of the Habsburg Empire the company

Americanized its production model while also trying to Americanize its workforce. It promised a technocratic form of governance in the chaos of postwar Czechoslovakia and during the Roaring Twenties it became synonymous with rationalization across Europe and thus a flashpoint for a continent wide debate. While other companies contracted in response to the Great Depression Bata did the opposite becoming the first shoe company to unlock the potential of globalization. As Bata expanded worldwide it became an example of corporate national indifference where company personnel were trained to be able to slip into and out of national identifications with ease. Such indifference however was seriously challenged by the geopolitical crisis of the 1930s and by the cusp of the Second World War. Bata management had turned nationalist even fascist. In the Kingdom of Shoes unravels the way the Bata project swept away tradition and enmeshed the lives of thousands of people around the world in the industrial production of shoes. Using a rich array of archival materials from two continents the book answers how Bata's rise to the world's largest producer of shoes challenged the nation state, democracy and Americanization.

Generational Key to History Michael A. Susko, 2025-01-17

Generational Key to History Tracing Phases From Ancient Egypt to America. This work reveals how generations form the hidden rhythm of history. By charting time in 15 year generational intervals, an approach first used by the medieval historian Bede and later championed by the twentieth century philosopher Jos Ortega y Gasset, the author uncovers distinct phases that recur across civilizations. Rather than relying solely on yearly dating which can fragment historical awareness, this generational lens exposes history's deeper coherence. The phases found are: 1. Beginnings and testing (0-15 generations), 2. Establishment and unifying image (beginning at 15-20 generations), 3. Consolidation and opening up (30 generations), 4. Crisis and creativity (40 generations), 5. Universalization and inclusion (50 generations), and 6. Renewal or rigidification (60 generations). Through detailed case studies (Egypt, Israel, Judah, Rome, the Medieval Modern era, and the United States) the author shows how each culture moves through these generational arcs, revealing a pattern that mirrors the human life cycle. The 30th generation, often neglected by historians, emerges as a pivotal phase of openness, justice, and illumination. In sum, A Rosetta Key for History does not merely present a new way to measure time; it reveals the living architecture of history itself. Across continents and centuries, generations become the Rosetta key for understanding time's unfolding design.
