The Nixon White House Redecoration and Acquisition Program Patrick Phillips-Schrock,2016-05-25 A positive legacy of the troubled Nixon administration and one virtually unknown to the American public is the extensive acquisition of valuable art and antiques for the White House and the redecoration of the executive mansion by Pat Nixon With the help of an aggressive curator Clement Conger and a talented interior designer Edward Vason Jones the First Lady quietly erased much of the historic decor of Jacqueline Kennedy s Camelot and introduced an academic look to the State Rooms which endures to this day Nixon marked his presidential territory with a complete renovation of the West Wing a harbinger of the First Lady s plans They implemented a massive fundraising campaign to bankroll the refurbishment which resulted in one of the foremost collections of art art objects furniture paintings and sculpture in America This book presents the never before told story of the Nixons remodeling of the White House motivated by the approaching American Bicentennial and a desire to restore respect to the presidency through the arts

Dining at the End of Antiquity Nicholas Hudson,2024 The history of dining is a story that cannot be told without archaeology Surviving texts tell of the opulent banquets of the wealthy elite but little attention is given to the simpler more intimate social gatherings of domestic invitation dinners This is especially true of the lower classes who are largely ignored by our sources We can however provide a voice for the underprivileged by turning to the material detritus of ancient cultures that reflects their social history Dining at the End of Antiquity brings together the material culture and literary traditions of Romans at the table to reimagine dining culture as an integral part of Roman social order Through a careful analysis of the tools and equipment of dining Nicholas Hudson uncovers significant changes to the way different classes came together to share food and wine between the fourth and sixth centuries Reconstructing the practices of Roman dining culture Hudson explores the depths of new social distances between the powerful and the dependent at the end of antiquity

BODY LANGUAGE & BEHAVIOR CUSTOMS East & West Arnaud van der Veere, 2021-03-12 Most communication is non verbal The way we walk move and look is an expression of who we are and what we think Our body is constantly signing the world who we are and what we want It is a constant interaction with our environment We are constantly reading other people and unconsciously try to understand their signs When confronted with another culture we face the translation problem We are not able to grasp the right meaning in the context of the moment There is no possibility to mirror the movements as they are different of our own There is a communication gap which can create problems When cultures are vastly different the gap is even larger How can we bridge this to create understanding and come to results This book is focused on informing the reader about the Chinese Western gaps the differences and similarities The reason why we focus on this population in Asia is that their influence stretches over thousands of years and through emigration they did influence many other countries in Asia In total worldwide it is considered there are over 2 3 billion Chinese at the moment and still growing Hereby we look at different generations Sometimes we show the past the current time and what is expected to happen in the future Through different levels of communications the world is slowly moving in a common public direction But the situation changes in a more private setting for business meetings personal contacts and in a relationship
