This focus addresses a gap that currently exists in the quality of life and well being fields. The work of the authors answers the following broad questions: Does gender matter in the well being of working women? Do prejudices against and stereotypes of women still play a role in inter personal interactions in the workplace that could hinder women from flourishing professionally? Does the organizational context such as organizational culture reward systems and leadership contribute to the well being of working women? What impact does the national context have on the well being of working women? And finally how can public policies help enhance the well being of working women? These are important issues for academics researchers and graduate students interested in gender issues in the fields of management sociology psychology social psychology economics and quality of life studies. Policy makers and practitioners will also find this book beneficial. Equitable treatment and outcomes for all regardless of gender remains a challenging goal to achieve with various barriers in different contexts and different cultures and this book provides strong coverage of this important topic of well being of working women.

Management by Process John Jeston, Johan Nelis, 2008-09-10 Business Processes are one of the critical drivers for any organisation in realizing their organizational strategic objectives. This means that management must constantly review and realign organizational processes to reflect the massively unfixed nature of business demands such as changing market circumstances the changing demands of new customer and existing customers new products and pricing changes in strategy and linking processes to new partners and suppliers. Establishing and maintaining a process focused organization is critical as organizations are pressured to keep achieving further growth and profitability preferably in double digits whilst the avenues available for achieving this growth are getting more and more restricted due to legislation global competition and saturation in the market place This highly accessible book provides a clear and thorough exposition of the six key dimensions necessary for the creation of a process focused organization process governance strategic alignment methods execution implementation people culture technology Each of these critical Dimensions are given a systematic and revealing treatment examining each Dimension in terms of Importance Key trends in this area Elements that comprise the dimension Detailed description of the elements that comprise the ideal or visionary position Road map of how to get there from various starting positions The Hoosier Farmer ,1925
