

FAMILY (SOCIOLOGY)

DEFINITION

Family refers to a social group characterized by common residence, economic cooperation, and reproduction. It consists of individuals bound by kinship—either through blood, marriage, or adoption—who share a commitment to one another. The structure of a family unit can vary widely across cultures, time periods, and individual experiences.

COMMON TYPES

- Nuclear or conjugal (a wife, a husband, and their children)
- matrifocal (a mother and her children)
- patrifocal (a father and his children)
- extended families (parents, grandparents, children, aunts, uncles, and so on)

Sociology Of The Family:

Sociology of the Family Lee D. Millar Bidwell, Brenda J. Vander Mey, 2000 Sociology of the Family includes in every chapter an article relevant to the topic at hand These articles include excerpts from well known books and journal articles A brief summary and focus questions open the article stimulating thought then a set of discussion questions follows making the book interactive and promoting active learning The book will draw readers in with its easy to understand writing style and its catchy opening situations at the beginning of every chapter It then covers the important topics of race social class and gender in separate chapters and addresses these issues in all subsequent chapters This book is unlike others in which theory and research methods are briefly mentioned in an opening chapter never to be discussed again In Sociology of the Family the authors not only cover theory and methods in separate chapters but theoretical perspectives are continually applied and methodological issues are consistently discussed in consequent chapters throughout the book Readers will also appreciate the cross cultural focus that runs throughout the book With a strong emphasis on cross cultural family dynamics this text is excellent for courses that focus primarily on the U S or attempt to contextualize family patterns and trends and controversies in the U S by comparing them with other national or global trends For anyone interested in Sociology of Family Marriage and Family or Comparative Family Systems
