

Chapter Three: Our story library

'A library is the delivery room for the birth of ideas, a place where history comes to life.'

– Norman Cousins

Library layout

Imagine our brain holds a multi-level library containing shelves packed with rich stories. Those we are aware of can be found on the ground level, while in the deepest, oldest basement level of the library, stories hidden from our conscious awareness jostle nervously for space. Tucked away in a dark recess at the very back of this level we find the disowned stories section. Here empty shelves hold place-markers for shadowy stories about our capacity to do terrible things. Too painful to acknowledge they belong to us, these stories are consigned on loan to the story libraries of other people. When, through their actions, they hold up a mirror which reflect these stories back to us, we over-react, denouncing and demonising them. In Chapter Sixteen we take a deep dive into this section, taking heed of Joseph Campbell's words: 'The cave you fear to enter contains the treasure you seek.'

Moving up through the library we come to the self-authored level.¹ This light and airy space houses chosen stories which support us to be who we want to be and achieve what we want in life.

Spread across all levels of our library are Purpose, Identity and Values stories which inform how we live our lives.

'Why do I exist, and what am I to do about it?'

These big, daunting questions are the birthplace of our Purpose stories. Some people have a clear sense of their life purpose from a very early age. For others, their purpose will change and evolve during their life journey. Either way, when written and lived in full these stories give rise to great satisfaction and joy. Left incomplete, unexpressed, gathering archival dust, or even worse when the stories driving us move us away from our true purpose, unnecessary pain and suffering follow as surely as night follows day. In the words of Victor Frankl: *'Life is never made unbearable by circumstances, but only by lack of meaning and purpose.'*²
