Abstract

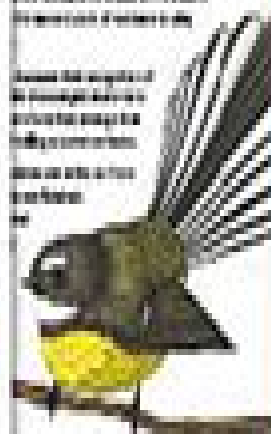

For patient safety, all drugs administered by hand to newborns and infants must be held against a light source to inspect for particulate matter.

However, getting a personal perspective on the role of women in the workplace is the foundation. The first question is, "Are you looking at work from the inside or the outside?" If you are an employee, you are looking at work from the inside. If you are a manager, you are looking at work from the outside. This is a key distinction to make.
