Social Change, Conflict and Education Edsel L. Erickson, Clifford E. Bryan, Lewis Walker, 1972 Social Change, Conflict and Education Edsel L. Erickson, 1972 Education and Social Change John L. Rury, Sylvia L. Mendez, 2025-01-24

This concise interpretive history of American schooling focuses on the evolving relationship between education and social change. Like its predecessors, this fully updated new edition investigates the impact of social forces such as industrialization, urbanization, immigration, globalization, and cultural conflict on the development of schools and other educational institutions. It also examines the various ways that schools have contributed to social change, particularly in enhancing the status and accomplishments of certain social groups and not others. Detailed accounts of the experiences of women and minority groups in American history consider how their lives have been affected by education at key points in the past. Updates to the seventh edition include enhanced coverage for understanding the experiences of Native Americans, students in poverty settings, and the LGBTQ community in the midst of social change. New topics include settler colonialism, indigeneity, culturally diverse education, gay and transgender educational policies, charter schools, voucher programs, and the rise of testing in schools. It has been edited throughout to update information and sources regarding the history of American education and related processes of social transformation in the nation's past. This bestselling introductory text is essential reading for Educational Foundations, History of Education and Schools and Society, and similar courses for pre-service teachers, educational leaders, and others. New online material includes discussion questions and links to further reading and resources available at www.routledge.com/9781032745947.

Offering new theoretical, empirical, and methodological perspectives on adult literacy, lifelong learning, and social change, this book challenges traditional debates on adult literacy and development. The volume brings together debates and research from the Global South and Global North and is original in moving beyond descriptive accounts of adult literacy programmes, classrooms, and a focus on best practice. It provides both a historical perspective on this field as well as looking forward to future research and pedagogical directions. By broadening from an international development to a social change perspective, this book offers an alternative starting point. Unlike development, social transformation does not set a specific agenda nor assume a certain endpoint. The authors set out to investigate the why and how of the assumed connections between adult learning, literacy, and social change, contributing a deeper understanding. into the complex and often unpredictable processes involved As well as focusing on literacy learning in classrooms and educational programmes the book explores literacy practices and adult learning in everyday spaces including social movements religious poetry and community initiatives Case studies from different cultural contexts introduce alternative theoretical lenses like the concept of the enacted body to explore a woman s experience of learning and social change in Nepal or investigating how religious poetry shared between generations in Iran could be working against social change
