The Mucker Edgar Rice Burroughs, 2015-11-04 BILLY BYRNE was a product of the streets and alleys of Chicago s great West Side From Halsted to Robey and from Grand Avenue to Lake Street there was scarce a bartender whom Billy knew not by his first name And in proportion to their number which was considerably less he knew the patrolmen and plain clothes men equally as well but not so pleasantly His kindergarten education had commenced in an alley back of a feed store Here a gang of older boys and men were wont to congregate at such times as they had naught else to occupy their time and as the bridewell was the only place in which they ever held a job for more than a day or two they had considerable time to devote to congregating They were pickpockets and second story men made and in the making and all were muckers ready to insult the first woman who passed or pick a quarrel with any stranger who did not appear too burly By night they plied their real vocations By day they sat in the alley behind the feedstore and drank beer from a battered tin pail The question of labor involved in transporting the pail empty to the saloon across the street and returning it full to the alley back of the feed store was solved by the presence of admiring and envious little boys of the neighborhood who hung wide eyed and thrilled about these heroes of their childish lives Billy Byrne at six was rushing the can for this noble band and incidentally picking up his knowledge of life and the rudiments of his education He gloried in the fact that he was personally acquainted with Eddie Welch and that with his own ears he had heard Eddie tell the gang how he stuck up a guy on West Lake Street within fifty yards of the Twenty eighth Precinct Police Station The kindergarten period lasted until Billy was ten then he commenced swiping brass faucets from vacant buildings and selling them to a fence who ran a junkshop on Lincoln Street near Kinzie From this man he obtained the hint that graduated him to a higher grade so that at twelve he was robbing freight cars in the yards along Kinzie Street and it was about this same time that he commenced to find pleasure in the feel of his fist against the jaw of a fellow man
