cities shape and are shaped by globalization and provides lessons for the future Attachment Volume 2 Number 1

Curious about the images of the city that have been evolving in the different social sciences we did what academics often do in such a situation we set up a seminar on Images of the City in the Social Sciences From the start we counted on the help of specialists in other fields to pursue their interests Of the persons who agreed to participate all but two came from the United States and their analyses in the main reflect the experience of Western countries and the United States In our formal instructions to our collaborators we took for granted that a variety of images of the city could be found or inferred in their fields of expertise We asked them to identify these images and their functions to explain how and why they have changed over time and to relate these images to the distinct intellectual traditions and techniques analytical or otherwise in their respective fields The definition of image was left to the judgment of the participants State, Power, Crime Roy Coleman, Joe Sim, Steve Tombs, David

Obstacles to Fairness in Criminal Proceedings John D Jackson, Sarah J Summers, 2018-03-22

This volume considers the way in which the focus on individual rights may constitute an obstacle to ensuring fairness in criminal proceedings The increasingly cosmopolitan nature of criminal justice forcing legal systems with different institutional forms and practices to interact with each other as they attempt to combat crime beyond national borders has accentuated the need for systems to seek legitimacy beyond their domestic traditions Fairness expressed in terms of the right to a fair trial in provisions such as Article 6 of the European Convention on Human Rights has emerged across Europe as the principal means of guaranteeing the legitimacy of criminal proceedings The consequence of this is that criminal procedure doctrines are framed overwhelmingly in constitutional terms the protection of defence rights is necessary to restrict and legitimate the state s mandate to prosecute crime Yet there are various problems with relying solely or predominantly on defence rights as a means of ensuring that proceedings are fair or legitimate and these issues are rarely discussed in the academic literature In this volume scholars from the disciplines of law philosophy and sociology challenge various normative assumptions underpinning our understanding of fairness in criminal proceedings

Selling the Welfare State Ray Forrest, Alan Murie, 2014-06-03 Originally published in 1988 this book offers the first comprehensive and critical analysis of the privatisation of public housing in Britain It outlines the historical background to the growth of public housing and the developing political debate surrounding its disposal The main emphasis in the book however is on the ways in which privatisation in housing links to other key changes in British society The long trend for British social housing to become a welfare housing sector is related to evidence of growing social polarisation and segregation Within this overall context the book explores the uneven spatial and social consequences of the policy

Feminism and "race" Kum-Kum Bhavnani, 2001

The past two decades have seen the incursion of feminist thought into many academic areas. Within the academy, feminist approaches have gained some legitimacy, and yet simultaneous with these disciplinary advances there have been charges of racism directed at feminist scholarship and practice. These charges have resulted in feminist work continuously reshaping itself. This volume represents the strength as well as diversity of writings which discuss race and feminism, showing how these two areas usually considered to be distinct and therefore discrete from each other have developed. Feminism and Race includes articles spanning a number of disciplinary areas such as history, literary analysis, sociology, and psychology, and provides a history of how second wave feminisms have negotiated race as well as suggesting what future directions these debates may take.

Criminological Perspectives Eugene McLaughlin, John Muncie, Gordon Hughes, 2003-02-24 This book presents in accessible form the most relevant readings from the diverse criminology literature and provides students with direct access to the main theories and perspectives which underpin and shape the discipline of criminology.

Legacy of Empire Werner Glinga, 1986

Social Work and Social Perspectives Eileen Oak, 2008-11-24 Social Work and Social Perspectives introduces readers to a range of important sociological concepts showing how these can feed critical practice and illustrate social work's complex relationship with the welfare state. Adopting a unique social policy framework, this distinctive text is an illuminating reading.

No Justice, No Police? Matt Clement, 2023-05-26 Sparked by the brutal police murder of George Floyd, the second wave of the Black Lives Matter protest movement has surged across more than 100 US cities, spilling into Brazil, South Africa, Paris, and London, to name a few of the primary sites of active resistance. This is a new movement, international in scope, with a disproportionately large section of young people, black and white, using their own language and tactics to fundamentally challenge the whole range of racist institutions governing today's globalised world. Matt Clement's No Justice, No Police: The Politics of Protest and Social Change chronicles this movement as it continues to deepen and broaden.

Inside Babylon Winston James, Clive Harris, 1993 The varied experience of the Caribbean diaspora in Britain, with its difficult and fractured history, is reflected in this distinctive and lively collection. The contributors to Inside Babylon show how employers and police, psychiatrists and welfare services help to channel black people into residential and occupational ghettos. Clive Harris, Bob Carter, and Shirley Joshi analyse the economic destiny of Afro-Caribbeans in Britain. Going beyond the familiar prisms of race relations and reductionist class analysis, they illuminate the radicalizing dynamic of British capitalism in the postwar period. Errol Francis provides a shocking account of the experience of black people at the hands of psychiatrists in Britain. Cecil Gutzmore finds the Notting Hill carnival to be a litmus test of racist formations in both the media and the state, as well as evidence of the resilience of the black community. Amina Mama and Claudette Williams explore the position of women in black communities, while Gail Lewis focuses on their characteristic patterns of employment. In a powerful concluding essay, Winston James charts the unfolding of a new Afro-Caribbean identity in Britain and debunks the notion that racist structures by themselves create a homogeneous black community.
